JURY 10-2 FOR WILKENS IS RUMORED

Chance of Agreement, Foreman Tells Judge When Venire Was Brought Into Court Just Before Noon

Copies of Transcript of Testimony and Instructions Furnished; Castor Status As to Evidence Defined

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—"There is a possibility of agreeing on a verdict." This was the statement of Howard C. Tibbetts, foreman of the jury which is debating the guilt or innocence of Henry Wilkens, charged with the murder of his wife Anna, slain on Decoration Day in a holdup.

The jurors were brought into Judge Ward's court just before noon and the information requested as to whether they thought they could reach a verdict. Foreman Tibbetts made the reply above quoted, and they were sent to lunch. On their return at 2 o'clock this afternoon they were furnished with copies of the transcript of testimony and the instructions of the court.

JUDGE GIVES FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS.

Judge Ward, when the jurors were called before him, said, "I realize that you have been out many hours and as it is about the hour to send you to lunch I thought I would bring you into court and explain to you that it is your duty to decide this matter solely on your own judgment and not to render a verdict against the defendant because of the coaxing or persuasion of any other juror but to decide the matter fairly on the evidence. It is the duty of every juror to disregard any and all opinions of the others, and decide the matter for himself alone."

Judge Ward said he would furnish the transcript and instructions as well as the exhibits to the jury if they so desire. One of the jurors indicated that the transcript and instructions were needed but not the exhibits. Judge Ward said in conclusion: "This case has taken six weeks and I feel it my duty to keep you together in order that you may make ample efforts to arrive at a verdict. It will save a good deal of expense to the city if this case can be settled by you."

The jury resumed its deliberations this morning after having been locked up all night in the Washington Hotel, where they were taken after five hours unsuccessful discussion of the evidence in the case yesterday afternoon.

Rumors were being circulated about the Hall of Justice early this morning that the jury stood ten to two for Wilkens' acquittal on the murder charge when they retired last night.

JUDGE TELLS JURORS STATUS OF CASTOR.

The actual trial of Wilkens ended shortly after noon yesterday, with the closing argument of Assistant District Attorney I. M. Golden.

This was followed by Superior Judge Louis Ward's instructions to the jury. Judge Ward laid strong emphasis on the seriousness of the task imposed upon the twelve men and women of the venire, inasmuch as the death penalty was involved, and had been demanded by the attorneys for the prosecution.

In addition to the usual routine instructions for juries in murder cases, Judge Ward read to the veniremen the law governing the admission into evidence of accomplice testimony, which applies to that given by Arthur Castor during the Wilkens trial.

With the reading of the court's instructions to the jury at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At that hour the jurors left the courtroom and began their deliberations in the locked jury chamber. An hour later, at 6:30, they were temporarily released and taken out to dinner, returning at 8:30.

JURORS LOCKED UP DURING NIGHT.

At 11 o'clock Judge Ward ordered the jury back to the courtroom and gave instructions that they should be taken to a hotel and locked up for the night. The courtroom was half filled with spectators, who had lingered in the hope of hearing a verdict.

No indication was given at the time as to how the veniremen stood on the question of Wilkens' guilt or innocence, although it was evident that there was little hope entertained by the members themselves of reaching a verdict in a short time.

Herman Schroeder, one of the alternate jurors, however, expressed little doubt as to how he would have voted if he had been called to "fill in."

"I'd have been lenient," he declared after the jury had left the courtroom yesterday. "I don't believe those Castors. They look like a bad lot. I wouldn't convict anybody on their testimony without a good deal of strong evidence to support it."

Waifs Tortured By Hot Irons, Whips, Charge

Alleged atrocities, inhuman in their barbarity, and involving the beating and burning of two children, were brought to light today in an investigation which is being made by the district attorney's office here. Nine-year-old Elizabeth Hood and her five-year-old brother Richard, children of Thomas Hood, 3059 Georgia street, are the victims of the alleged crime.

The children's mother is said to be in the insane asylum at Napa, and the children were recently sent by their father to the home of Mrs. J. Baumbal, 160 Lincoln street, Coalinga, according to a report to the Alameda county authorities. Mrs. Baumbal is the children's aunt. The children were brought back from Coalinga yesterday.

Dr. E. F. Jones of Oakland examined the children yesterday and found that Elizabeth's body was covered with welts and bruises. The child's breast and abdomen were a mass of bruises and there was hardly a spot on her body that was not black and blue.

The boy's hands were severely burned. His palms and fingers had evidently been seared with a hot iron.

Dr. Jones reported the condition of the children to the authorities. Assistant District Attorney James Walsh, in charge of juvenile cases, feeling that conditions of the children warranted an investigation, sent Ollie Snediger, assistant probation officer in charge of juvenile cases, to question the children.

According to the children's story, Elizabeth was beaten every day while she was at the home of her aunt. They also said on one occasion when the little boy got his clothes soiled while playing, his aunt heated a curling iron red hot and forced the child to seize and hold it in his hands.

When Dr. Jones went to examine the children yesterday he summoned Mrs. Sheehan, a neighbor, who told him that the children's mother was in the insane asylum at Napa. She said that their father had sent them to Coalinga on September 8.

Deputy District Attorney Walsh announced today that he would make a thorough investigation here, and would communicate all the facts to District Attorney Dorsey of Kern county, in order that the case may be prosecuted in that county.

Snediger is being assisted in his investigation by officials in the detention home.

Milk Thief Slays Policeman in L. A.

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—Policeman V. C. Dinsmore was shot and killed early today by a man he sought to arrest for the theft of two bottles of milk from a grocery store.

A man, believed identified as the slayer, was captured shortly afterward near the yards of the Santa Fe depot, and gave the name of Fred Edwards. H. A. Rudd, a night watchman, declared he witnessed the shooting which occurred in Edwards' room, he reported to police.

According to Rudd, he pursued the man into the arms of Officer Dinsmore, who, after the capture, agreed to let the fellow go to his room for some money and personal effects before going to jail.

BREMOND, Tex., Nov. 4.—C. W. Willit, New York City, was killed, W. H. Dobbin, Los Angeles, seriously injured, and a score bruised and cut by flying glass when the San Antonio-Dallas express of the Central railroad crashed into the rear end of the Bremond local at 4:35 this morning. The express hit an open switch, it was stated, and crashed into the rear sleeper of the other train, telescoping it. Traffic was tied up for five hours, but all trains are moving now.

Ten Days in Jail For Beating Sister

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—A sentence of ten days in the county jail was yesterday meted out to William Norbert Bullene, who appeared before Police Judge O'Brien charged with having beaten his 9 year-old sister, Margaret. The Bullene home is at 161 Chenery street. Bullene was convicted of having beaten the child with a strap when she came home late to dinner. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children conducted the prosecution.

OAKLANDER KILLED BY L. A. THUGS

Mrs. Nicholas F. Dabelich Identifies Bullet-Riddled Body Found Under Bridge As Her Missing Husband

Diamond Ring Taken Creates Theory That Victim Was Slain By Bandits; Was Formerly Restaurant Man

Suspicion that the dead man found under the Mesa bridge in Los Angeles may be Nicholas F. Dabelich, of Oakland, missing since October 17, received further confirmation today when Captain of Inspectors Richard McSorley received a telegram from the Los Angeles police, stating that the description furnished yesterday by Mrs. Dabelich in Oakland, tallies exactly with that of the body found under the bridge. According to the telegram, all the clothing as well as the shoes had been bought in Oakland. Mrs. Dabelich will leave for Los Angeles tonight, accompanied by Pete Dabelich, her brother-in-law, to positively identify the body.

It is believed that Dabelich was killed by highwaymen. The Los Angeles police announce, in this connection, the finding of a hat, bearing the name of an Oakland hattery, with a bullet hole through the crown. The hat, however, was found in another part of the city, wrapped in an automobile robe, which was smeared with blood. The police theory is that Dabelich may have been murdered for possession of a diamond ring, which was missing.

Mrs. Dabelich read the first account of the discovery of the body, stating that the initials "N. F. D." were found on the clothing, in the the news columns of The TRIBUNE. She immediately communicated with the police.

Mrs. Dabelich said that when her husband left Oakland, he informed her that he was going to Portland on business. She subsequently received a postcard from him from San Jose. Dabelich was formerly interested in the restaurant business in Oakland.

Broken Promise Wins $1500 for Cincinnati Man

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 4.—A verdict for $1500 damages in favor of George Carter, 45, who charged Miss Alice Peel, 44, with breach of promise to wed him, was returned by a jury in Superior court here yesterday.

Carter declared that he and Miss Peel became engaged to marry in November, 1919, and he gave her a $400 diamond ring. Later she jilted him and refused to wed him, he declared.

Miss Peel did not defend the suit, which was for $10,000 damages.

Mrs. Bluebeard Hunt Bares More Bodies

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Police today exhumed two more bodies in their search for a second Mrs. Bluebeard, as a result of the confession of Mrs. Tillie Klimek, who admitted she poisoned her last husband.

Klimek is in a serious condition at a local hospital.

Arsenic enough to kill four men was found in the body of Frank Kupsczy, second husband of Mrs. Klimek, whose body was exhumed.

The two bodies dug up today are those of Joseph Mitkey, first husband, of Mrs. Klimek, and Wojcik Sturmer, husband of Mrs. Nellie Sturmer, who told police she gave Mrs. Klimek the poison which she gave her third husband.

MARY M'SWINEY CAPTURED IN RAID

De Valera Escapes, But 'General' O'Malley Is Wounded, Arrested.

DUBLIN, Nov. 4 (By the Associated Press).—Miss Mary MacSwiney was among several persons arrested in the home of Mrs. Humphries in Aylesbury road here after a fight between the opponents and national army troops, who were presumably seeking to arrest Eamonn de Valera, reported to be hiding in this city. The search failed to reveal the republican leader.

Commandant - General Ernest O'Malley, one of the most active of the Republican leaders, was dangerously wounded and arrested.

Madame O'Rahilly, whose husband was killed in the 1916 insurrection, was wounded.

Shiela Humphries, daughter of the owner of the house, and niece of O'Rahilly, was slightly wounded. She was arrested.

DUBLIN, Nov. 4.—Eamonn de Valera, leader of the Irish republican irregulars, narrowly escaped capture today when Free State troops stormed and raided a house, wounding and capturing "General" O'Malley, chief of staff of the irregular army.

Presence of De Valera in this city was revealed by the raid.

It was reported that De Valera had been injured by jumping from a window.

'Rum-Running Trust' Exposure Expected

By W. H. ATKINS,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The ramifications of the "whisky smugglers' trust" are expected soon to be uncovered by a series of grand jury actions now engaging the attention of federal courts from Florida to Maine. Big American bootleggers are alleged to be the financial backers of practically all of the smuggling of liquors from the Bahamas and Cuba the past year.

The ... base of operations and a large center for distribution of the smuggled liquors after safe landings were made on the Jersey or Long Island coasts.

Not less than 150 raids upon bootleggers have been in progress for the past week in scores of cities in the middle Atlantic and eastern states.

Three Excursion Steamers Burn

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 4 (By International News Service).—The Island Queen river steamer whose deck collapsed and injured five persons during the river pageant to Point Pleasant last spring when President Harding visited this city, was destroyed by fire today as she lay at her wharf at the river front.

Her sister steamer, the Morning Star, and the Tackaw, another excursion boat, were also destroyed, together with two wharf boats owned by the Coney Island company and the Green Line company at which the boats were docked.

BRIDE DENIES SHE 'VAMPED' WILHELM II

Princess Hermine Bitterly Assails Enemies on Eve of Wedding to Ex-Kaiser; Vengeance Stirs in Heart

Malice of Former Ruler's Family Blamed By Woman As Cause of "Lies;" Emotions Roused By Reports

By S. D. WEYER,

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 4.—Princess Hermine of Reuss, who will be married tomorrow to the former German kaiser, comes to Doorn today, not as a happy bride, but with bitterness in her soul.

Her lips will smile as she greets her new lord and master and receives the congratulations of the entourage of the former war lord's castle, but there will be blackness in her heart.

The intensity of the Princess' bitterness is equalled only by her determination to get even with those who made this day of "joy" one in which she feels that the whole world is against her.

PRINCESS BITTER AGAINST ENEMIES.

Hermine, to put it bluntly, came to Doorn with the defiant will to win and punish. In a two-hour interview in the drawing room of her castle at Saabar, Silesia, she had poured out her heart to the correspondent, but begged that her revelations and her declarations "to get even" not be printed until she left Germany and arrived in Holland. Consequently, her interview can be given to the public today.

The correspondent asked the princess:

"What about that mysterious trunk which is said to have arrived in Doorn the other day? It was said to contain the crown which the former kaiser is personally to place upon your head."

A bitter, jerky laugh was the first reaction from this question.

For a moment the princess struggled with herself, then, no longer able to master the emotion which repeatedly throughout the interview threatened to overwhelm her, she arose and joined her hands high above her head. Gazing upward at the ceiling with an air of despair she burst into tears.

"CROWN OF THORNS" COMPARED TO FATE.

Then amidst convulsive sobs she exclaimed:

"So that is the latest lie? I suppose they want to make me out a vain, ambitious creature. What is it you call it in the United States? Oh, yes, 'vamped the kaiser.' A crown? A crown of thorns, perhaps! They have already poisoned my wedding. They have given me a foretaste of hell upon earth."

Asked what she meant by "they," the princess gradually calmed down and explained.

"I mean those who, for selfish and sickly sentimental reasons, are opposed to our marriage. They have tried to prevent it by every conceivable means, but most notably by foul slander and diabolic intrigues. And, mind you—such cowards are they that they did not dare to utter a peep in the presence of the kaiser, but took out all their wrath and venom upon me.

"Yes, among those who fought and humiliated me are some of the kaiser's own relatives, but they are not the worst. They are fighting and have been doing more or less in the open. Change of opinion has come, for they would be 'cheated of their spoils' or fear for their jobs.

CHIEF OPPONENTS CALLED SCHEMERS.

"Chief opposition has come from schemers who felt that they would be 'cheated of their spoils' or fear for the jobs.'"

Princess Hermine's lips tightened, doubled up her jeweled hands into two small but angry little fists.

"The worst of all—the meanest of all—are the Camarilla," she snapped between clenched teeth. "Listen," she leaned forward tensely, her eyes hard and penetrating, "the kaiser today is just as much isolated as he was throughout his reign in Germany. He is isolated by a cordon of courtiers who fawn upon him and play their own game all the time. They are parasites. They lived upon him (the kaiser). They do not really serve him. They never tell their real opinion, except behind his back."

The princess explained the "mystery trunk" by saying: "It contained nothing but some of my books."

Special precautions have been taken by the Dutch gendarmerie for the protection of the ex-kaiser's castle and all the principals and guests until the wedding celebration is over.

A large number of curious persons have come to Doorn in hope of getting a glimpse of the one-time emperor and his new wife.

Held Not Guilty For Mine Massacre

Friends Alarmed Marital Bark of Millionaire, Diva May Crash on Rocks of Ambition, Social Prestige

Lack of Common Language Held Cause of Situation; Bridegroom Absent When Wife Begins Concerts

(Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.)

PARIS, Nov. 4.—There is unconfirmed gossip in fashionable and musical circles in Paris today that the honeymoon of Harold F. McCormick, Chicago millionaire, and Mrs. McCormick, who was Mme. Ganna Walska, grand opera prima donna, has been disturbed by differences of ambition and social preference.

There are rumors that friends of the couple are alarmed lest their married life be wrecked upon the uncharted seas of incompatibility.

Reports that McCormick is disappointed that his bride should plunge into concert work so soon after their wedding are incredible to those who have followed the romance. On his wedding day, McMormick permitted an "inspired interview" to appear frankly avowing his desire that Mme. Walska's fame as a singer should be promoted by her alliance with him rather than be even temporarily disturbed.

Whether McCormick has changed his mind is not known, but the fact is pointed out that two months and two days after the marriage, Ganna Walska began a singing tour in the smaller French cities, while McCormick left for Switzerland to visit his daughter, Mathilde, aged 17, who is engaged to marry Major Max Oser, a Swiss riding master. McCormick was represented at his bride's debut in Tours only by a bunch of red roses.

Friends of the couple today attempted to explain certain evidence of seeming incongeniality by the fact that McCormick and his wife often appear in awkward positions owing to his inability to speak French, and her imperfect use of English. She has repeatedly been seen surrounded by admiring friends who speak to her in French and Russian, languages which are unintelligible to her husband, who appears to be uncomfortable in such a situation. If there has been any rift in the lute, friends of the couple credit the difficulty more to McCormick's disapproval of his wife's foreign-speaking associates than to any change of view on the part of the husband regarding his wife's musical ambitions.

Neither McCormick nor Mme. Ganna Walska has dignified the gossip concerning them by either affirmation or denial.

Mme. Walska married Alexander Smith Cochran, formerly known as the "richest bachelor in the United States," late in 1920. A year later she obtained a divorce in Paris. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, divorced Harold F. McCormick in December, 1921. McCormick was married to Mme. Walska in this city August 11 last.

Fascisti Striking Snags in Italy

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The "go-getter" tactics of Fascisti, which heretofore have overcome all obstacles with amazing swiftness, are now reported to be striking a few snags.

Conflict with the Soviet government at Moscow is feared as a ... to Paris say was made yesterday upon the Rome bureau of the Russian commercial delegation by seven Fascisti from Imola. Rushing into the offices, the band of provincial Fascisti dragged out an alien employe, posted him against a wall and shot him.

A despatch from Chiasso, near the Italian frontier, to La Matin, says that the Socialists in Italy have issued a manifesto to the country, declaring they have nothing to fear from the Fascisti. This manifesto maintains that the new government will be unable to solve financial problems with the same ease that it enjoyed smoothing out political tangles.

Duel Slaying Probe Draws to Deadlock

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 4.—Investigation of the murder of Dr. Edward W. Hall, wealthy rector of the fashionable Protestant-Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and the beautiful choir singer, Mrs. James Mills, was virtually at a standstill today.

Mrs. Hall said in an interview with the press that she had not been on the Phillips farm (where the murders were committed) since her childhood. It was reported today, however, that detectives had found witnesses who said they saw Mrs. Hall, bareheaded, driving near the Phillips farm in her runabout upon one or more occasions before the murder.

The supposition was that Mrs. Hall knew that her husband was meeting Mrs. Mills there and was "reconnoitering."

It had been reported that Reid was at Mayo Brothers' sanitorium.

ARMY FLIGHT OVER NATION SETS RECORD

Aviators, Forced to Halt Non-Stop Dash From San Diego to New York, Still Achieve New Mark For Distance

Leak in Water System Brings Plane Down Undamaged Near Indianapolis; 2060 Miles Covered in 25 Hours

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—All long-distance airplane flight records were shattered by Lieutenants John A. MacReady and Oakley Kelley in their dash of 2060 miles from San Diego, Cal., to Indianapolis, officials of the army air service stated this afternoon. The longest previous record was that made on June 14, 1919, from St. Johns, N. F., to Clifden, Ireland, by Captain John Alcock and Sir A. W. Brown. They made 1936 miles in 16 hours.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—The attempted non-stop transcontinental flight from San Diego to New York ended here today when engine trouble forced Lieutenants John MacReady and Oakley Kelley of the United States Army to land at Fort Benjamin Harrison, outside the city, after covering 2060 miles.

This establishes a new world record for long distance non-stop flying in a monoplane.

They left San Diego at 5:59, Pacific time, yesterday morning and were forced down at Fort Benjamin Harrison at 9:15, central time, this morning, being in the air 25 hours and 16 minutes.

The two flyers previously had established an endurance flying record on October 5 and 6 by staying in the air 35 hours and 13½ minutes.

On being forced down here, the cross-continental trip was abandoned.

MacReady and Kelley borrowed a plane from the fort and proceeded to McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio, their headquarters, leaving at 10:50.

In giving to Major Bain at Dayton their first official report of the flight, the airmen revealed that they were in the midst of a storm and rain for 11 hours and 30 minutes.

WATER TANK LEAK CAUSE OF TROUBLE.

A water leak which developed 400 miles out of San Diego caused the landing of the T-2 shortly after repairs proved futile.

"We covered 2060 miles," Lieutenant Oakley Kelley said this morning. "Our trouble developed after we had covered about four hundred miles.

"It became apparent that we would have to land about 100 miles before we reached Fort Harrison."

Neither Lieutenant Kelley nor Lieutenant MacReady had a moment's relaxation since the beginning of the trip.

With the hardest part of the trip successfully negotiated as far as atmospheric conditions were concerned, the airmen appeared greatly chagrined because of the apparent defeat of their epoch-making flight with victory seemingly within their grasp.

"We only wasted about one hour's time," Lieutenant Kelley said.

Despite the water leak the T-2 kept pluckily at it in its effort to make the first non-stop flight from San Diego to Long Island. Every effort was being made to repair the damage, but when it became apparent that a forced landing was necessary, Lieutenants Kelley and MacReady, with one regard, that of staying in the ... kept their engines to their credit, made for Fort Harrison landing field. The last 100 miles were the hardest, the aviators said.

They intended following the national highway, which parallels the Pennsylvania railroad to Richmond and Dayton, but deviated from the course about 15 miles west of Indianapolis and flew over the north edge of the city and to the army post. A message dropped near Greencastle, Ind., told of the trouble that was being experienced. The 49 miles from Greencastle to Indianapolis was negotiated in the slowest time of any distance on the entire route. The time from Terre Haute to Indianapolis was 1 hour and 20 minutes, which showed plainly the difficulty that was being experienced.

The aviators, worn by their long vigil, were taciturn. Gratification was expressed, however, that a new

GIRL IS KILLED, SIX HURT WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Six Persons Injured in Bay District As Result of Traffic Wrecks.

One young woman is dead and six persons were injured in automobile accidents in the bay district last night.

The dead:

Seriously injured:

John Leonardo, 1125 Eighty-sixth avenue.

L. C. HARMON, 2151 Vicksburg avenue.

Blanche Auga, 9, 5892 Vallejo street, Emeryville, fractured leg.

Frank Gray, 834 Eighty-ninth avenue.

Mrs. Louise Dickinson, 1151 Oak street, Oakland, cuts and bruises.

Miss Gruening was killed when the automobile in which she was riding with Atly was struck by a Southern Pacific electric at Ninety-eighth avenue and Almond street early last evening.

MOTORMAN SOUNDED WARNING WHISTLE.

According to the police the car driven by Atly was proceeding at a moderate rate of speed when it started across the tracks. Motorman Charles Reed of 705 Forty-third street, said that he sounded the whistle and thought the motorists saw the train.

Immediately after the crash which demolished the motor car, Policeman Leland Trowbridge of the Eastern police station, arrived on the scene driving his own automobile. He took Miss Gruening and Atly to the emergency hospital, but she was dead on arrival there. Little hope is held for the recovery of Atly.

The dead girl is the daughter of F. E. Gruening, of King City, and has been residing with her sister, Mrs. J. P. Joseph, in this city. Atly is the son of Mrs. Florence Atly of Vallejo.

Rodgers was struck by an automobile driven by F. D. Ruiz of Castro Valley and Redwood road i. Hayward as the boy was crossing the street at Fifteenth avenue and East Fifteenth street. He was taken to the emergency hospital and later removed to Providence hospital.

MOTORCYCLIST FLEES AFTER ACCIDENT.

The accident in which little Blanche Auga was injured occurred when a motorcyclist decided to cut across a vacant lot at Sixty-first and Doyle streets in Emeryville and, according to the police, deliberately ran into five little girls who were crossing on the path. Blanche was the only one injured, but the motorcycle rider went off without giving assistance. The police have a clew to his identity.

Mrs. Louise Dickinson, a sales woman at Powell's department store, suffered concussion of the brain when she was struck by an automobile driven by Kenneth Armstrong, a resident of the St. Marks hotel at Twelfth and Jackson streets. She is now at Providence hospital.

Meanwhile Jack Lenahan, six-year-old Alameda school boy, who was run down and seriously injured on Wednesday is at the Alameda sanitarium in a serious condition. The boy sustained internal injuries and was operated upon last night in an effort to save his life.

INJURED AUTOIST IS UNDER ARREST.

Suffering from possibly fatal injuries, John Leonardo, stevedore living at 1125 Eighty-sixth avenue, is under arrest at the emergency hospital today, as the result of an accident last night in which Leonardo is alleged to have been driving an automobile while intoxicated.

L. C. Harmon, 2151 Vicksburg avenue, whose car, it is claimed, was struck by the Leonardo machine, is suffering from minor cuts and bruises as a result of the accident.

Two companions of Leonardo—Frank Gray, stevedore, 834 Eighty-ninth avenue, and Gill Cachardo, whose address is unknown, are also under arrest. Gray is under treatment at the emergency hospital for minor injuries.

Following the collision between the two automobiles, which occurred at Seventh avenue and East Twelfth street, the car occupied by Leonardo and his companions swerved into a public park and crashed against a tree, shattering the windshield.

Army Aviator Holder of Three World Records

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—Lieutenant John A. Macready, chief pilot of the T-2, which broke the world's distance flight record in its attempted transcontinental flight now stands out as the army's premier aviator.

Macready holds three world's aviation records, excelling all other aviators in altitude, duration and distance flights.

Macready broke the official world's record for altitude when, equipped with electrical heaters and a special oxygen tank, he climbed more than six and a half miles into the air to an altitude of 34,563 feet.

He set the new record for duration flight on October 5 and 6, when he and Lieutenant Kelley remained in the air over San Diego for 35 hours, 18½ minutes.

Truck, Auto Smash On San Ramon Road

DUBLIN, Nov. 4.—A light delivery car driven by W. Wichisaki collided with a tour car driven by Mrs. N. S. Boone, wife of a prominent rancher of this district, Thursday evening. The light car, loaded with vegetables and fish, was overturned, and Wichasaki was pinned underneath. The accident happened on the San Ramon road at the Koopmann ranch.

Mrs. Boone, who was slightly cut from flying glass, summoned help from the Koopman ranch, and John and William Koopman responded and lifted the car off the man.

Dr. J. Hal Cope was summoned from Pleasanton. Mrs. Boone proceeded to her home, and the injured man was taken, apparetnly only slightly bruised, to San Ramon.

ARMY AVIATORS SET RECORD IN TRANS U. S. DASH

Fliers Travel 2060 Miles in 25 Hours in Flight to East.

non-stop record had been made, although they had not accomplished their purpose of making the entire trip. Their flight of 2060 miles in 25 hours represents a new mark in the history of aviation. The longest previous non-stop flight on record was said to have been 1915 miles.

The last stage of the distance would have been made easily had not the leak in a water jacket developed.

The T-2 was especially equipped for its cross-country flight. It has a standard V-type army Liberty motor, with twelve cylinders. It is a comparatively old motor, which had been overhauled at McCook field, Dayton, O., before being shipped to Rockwell field to be installed in the T-2.

The T-2 was said by army officers to be the largest standard monoplane in the world. It measures 74 feet 10 inches across the wings, and 49 feet from propeller to rudder.

Originally the T-2 was built as a compartment monoplane for ten passengers. For the non-stop flight it was rebuilt to carry vast stores of gasoline and oil.

The aggregate weight of the T-2 when it left San Diego at 5:59 a. m. yesterday was 10,500 pounds.

The plane carried 525 gallons of gasoline, 30 gallons of oil and 20½ gallons of water, which alone weighed 4600 pounds.

Mother Thankful Aviator Is Safe

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—"They did their very best and they landed safely. We're thankful for that," declared Mrs. Benjamin Macready, mother of Lieutenant John Macready, today.

Mrs. Macready said she was confident the aviators would have made the flight were it not for the mechanical difficulties.

"Well, they have lots of records, anyway," she said, when informed that the pilots had set a new mark for distance. "We're very proud of them."

PLAN RETURN FLIGHT.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 4.—Lieutenants Kelly and Macready plan to continue to New York in their monoplane, install a new engine and try a non-stop flight to San Diego from New York, according to advices received here today.

KU KLUX SCORED AS UN-AMERICAN BY RABBI COFFEE

Patriotism and Franchise Test Urged in Address on "The Price of Liberty."

Denouncing the injection of theology into politics as un-American and labeling the Ku Klux Klan as "one of the most sinister forces in America today," Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee in his sermon last night at Temple Sinai, on "The Price of Liberty," urged all his hearers "honestly and honorably to discharge their duties at the polls" on the coming election day.

The speaker pointed out that the "price of liberty demanded that all good citizens vote." He deplored the fact that the vote was so easily obtained, and that the voice of the feeble-minded counted for as much as the highly intelligent and educated person.

POLITICAL TEST URGED.

"I would, instead of letting every native-born citizen at the age of 21 receive the privilege of voting, have them pass a mental test and examination in the ideals of American patriotism prior to handing him the ballot. Many unthinking people believe that liberty is a priceless heritage which has been won for all time. They forget that what has been gained can also be lost."

In speaking of religion and politics, Rabbi Coffee declared:

"Any candidate for office who injects his theology into this or any other campaign is no true son of America. Any religious body which seeks to elevate one religion above the other is an enemy of the republic. This is the avowed purpose of the Ku Klux Klan, which both covers its face and its moves in a secret way to uphold the Constitution by force. The Ku Klux Klan is a dangerous and un-American society. It forgets that many of our foreign-born immigrants have become most valuable citizens."

KU KLUX DENOUNCED.

"Let us call to mind Carl Schurz, leader for civil service reform. Who can forget California's illustrious statesman, Franklin K. Lane, and our present secretary of labor, Jas. J. Davis, all born on distant shores?

"The price of liberty demands that we keep religion out of politics. Our country was founded on no one religion, but respect for all. America was discovered by Catholics, but the voyage of Columbus was made possible by Jewish money and Jewish sailors. The founding of America in Massachusetts was due to Puritans, who lived according to the Hebrew Bible. Thus, America grew through the three great religious bodies, and its wonderful development can only be traced to that blending of the ideals of all three.

"The K. K. K. is a sinister force in America today. Happily its star is declining in California. The Democratic candidate for Governor has denounced this fanatic society in plain language, and the Republican candidate for Governor has told me he is opposed to this secret clan.

CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES

THE Morosco Holding Company is setting a fast production pace in New York with three shows in the rehearsal stages for early presentation on Broadway.

Oliver Morosco is preparing to depart for the east to remain until after the openings and make arrangements for bringing new productions to the coast. Franklyn Underwood is already on the ground and will remain in New York in charge of affairs.

On the new Morosco schedule, Leo Carrillo will be the first to step forward to take his Broadway curtain calls. Since "Mike Angelo" produced on the coast and seen in Oakland earlier in the season was sent east, it has been strengthened materially in its dramatic situations and will have an entirely new cast.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

"Way Up East," a burlesque by Richard Carle on "Way Down East," is holding forth at Fischer's in San Francisco with the principal roles in the able hands of Holb and Dill and Barney Bernard.

The second production will be of unusual interest because it brings back to the stage James T. Powers, a splendid comedian, who has been in retirement since "Havana" days. His vehicle will be a farce comedy with music based on "Somebody's Luggage." Ned Wayburn will stage it and Werner Janssen will provide the score.

The third presentation will be Emily Stevens, former star of "The Unchastened Woman," and other successes in "A Sporting Thing to Do," the play in which Enid Bennett was featured in the coast premier. Thomas Buchanan wrote the offering which is a problem comedy.

Both "Mike Angelo" and "A Sporting Thing to Do" will be staged by Clifford Brooke.

So He Must Be a Good Actor

Frank Darien, director at the Fulton Theater, would like it understood once and for all that he is not an Englishman. He hopes by making this bold stand on his nationality that he will put to rout a rumor which started way back in 1913 when he was a dashing young juvenile at Ye Liberty Playhouse, and Earl Ennis, the columnist and radio expert, was a rising young dramatic critic.

Darien opened his engagement at Ye Liberty in "The Fortune Hunter," and played a small part which went unnoticed. The next week, however, he did the Englishman in "The Butterfly on the Wheel" and created more or less of a furore. At any rate his dialect and manner impressed the reviewers that he was either a dyed-in-the-wool Britisher or a good actor.

In a few weeks the company offered "Barbara Freitchie," and by this time Ennis had made up his mind on a few things. He saw the show and wrote:

"The intermittent southern accent seemed to be an epidemic and with the exception of Frank Darien no one was able to accomplish the soft modulations of the southern tongue. Perhaps this is because [illegible] is English too, be it confessed, it is as hard for the average American to accomplish the soft pedalled voice as for the soft coal magnate to get into the waiting list for harps and halos."

All of which is very lovely but why, pray, should Mr. Darien not have been able to soft-pedal his voice? He was born in New Orleans.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

Blanche Yurka is the wife of Ian Keith. They were married on September 6, but have kept the matter a secret until now. Miss Yurka is now rehearsing the queen for John Barrymore's "Hamlet," and Keith is to appear this season under the management of A. H. Woods.

The Duncan Sisters have returned from abroad and are rehearsing a new musical show for Sam H. Harris.

"Nice People," the Francine Larrimore hit which ran for forty-five weeks in Chicago is to be presented at the Fulton with Isabelle Lowe featured.

The special company presenting "The Bat" in Boston since its opening on Labor Day has played to more than a quarter of a million dollars and is making new theatrical history for that city.

Cyril Maude is coming over to be starred in Charles Dillingham's production of the Hutchinson best seller, "If Winter Comes." Maude will be Mark Sabre. In England Owen Hares has made a tremendous hit in the part.

Helen Shipman conspicuous in "The Lady in Ermine," at the Ambassador Theater, is to be featured by the Shuberts in a musical show next year.

Tomorrow will mark the opening at the local Pantages of Alexander, the psychologist. Alexander will tell the patrons all about themselves and undoubtedly play to packed houses as usual. His was one of the greatest runs ever experienced at the old Macdonough Theater.

Harry Harrigan, formerly of the Columbia is working for Keating & Flood at the Lyric Theater in Portland. Other local favorites in the company are Marie Rich, Geo. Banta and Lou Davis.

BERKELEY COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

LAST POW-WOW

Centuries ago the Indians congregated on this high knoll to have their pow-wows, there they would build a great beacon fire where all in the Bay District could see it.

Next Saturday evening will mark the passing of this great tract of land for the following morning the sun will shine on the East Bay's newest subdivision, the second and last unit of BERKELEY COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE, where there will soon be hundreds of new homes.

As a fitting celebration there will be a huge bonfire and three aerial bombs will be exploded announcing the opening. This marks the last great bonfire and pow-wow ever to be held on this land. Watch for it next Saturday evening.

Early Sunday morning, rain or shine, this property will go on sale. There are unsurpassed marine view ¼ acres; ¼ acres of fine level garden soil; ¼ acres of rolling land for chickens; ¼ acres near the car line and ¼ acres on the hillside; in fact, any kind of a ¼ acre you may be looking for. Every ¼ acre will be staked with a price card and map showing the exact size. All must and will be sold.

Bring Your Lunch—Look Them Over at Your Leisure

¼ acres will be sold as low as $275
½ acres will be sold as low as $475

(A ¼ Acre is Equal to 4 Ordinary City Lots)

Sold on terms like rent—$25 down—Free interest, free taxes until July 1, 1923. As a special opening feature, we will give with each ¼ acre $150 worth of free lumber, free hardware, free nails, free cement, free sand and gravel and free plans and specifications for a neat 12x16 bungalow on a concrete foundation. All material will be delivered free.

Act Now—This is positively the last close-in acreage north of Oakland. The saddest Words a Realtor Hears are, "I Could Have Bought."

If you believe the continental side of San Francisco Bay is to grow, BUY NOW. Don't let the other fellow make all the profit. A small deposit will secure any ¼ acre.

DIRECTIONS

Take the Richmond car on San Pablo Ave., off at Main St. From San Francisco take the S. P. ferry, 9th St. Loop, off at Albany Station. Tract office ½ block north. Free auto will drive you over the property.

Vote NO on Number 24 The Lawyers Bill

The Lawyers Bill is an attempt to create by statute an air-tight monopoly for lawyers.

This law would muzzle every business man, banker, realtor, notary and labor union officer in the state. It would put an end to free legal advice. It would pitchfork YOU into a lawyer's office to pay for small services now rendered at no cost.

The chief argument for the bill has been an absurd attack on banks. Lawyers say you need THEIR BILL to PROTECT you from your BANK. Do you believe it?

Every vote for the Lawyers Bill is a vote to DIG for Lawyers' FEES

What is your prize cake?

A famous domestic scientist recently asked a class of housewives, "What is your prize cake—the cake you like best to make and that is best liked by your family?" Two-thirds of the women voted "Chocolate cake!" This is the best way to make it—the famous Ghirardelli Brown Stone Front Cake recipe that is looked on as an heirloom in many families

Ghirardelli's Brown Stone Front Cake

First Part: ¾ cup Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate; ½ cup milk; ½ cup brown sugar; 1 beaten egg yolk. Second Part: ½ cup butter or substitute; 1 cup brown sugar; 2 eggs; ½ cup milk; 2 cups sifted flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; ¼ teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cook First Part very slowly until thick, then cool. Sift flour, baking powder and soda. Cream butter, gradually add sugar, beat until creamy. Add the beaten eggs, sifted dry ingredients, and milk alternately; beat well. Add cold chocolate mixture and vanilla. Pour into 3 greased layer cake pans; bake in a moderate oven about 15 minutes. Cool; put together with Ghirardelli's Chocolate boiled icing made of left over egg white.

Youth Fleeing From Latest Blaze Clears Mystery of S. F. Perils.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Grinning cheerfully, 13-year-old Ignatius Grenera, a schoolboy, living at 131 Bernard street, confessed to the police last night that he is the firebug who was responsible for 29 mysterious conflagrations within the past few months, which caused property damage of more than $18,000.

"I guess they've all been talking about me," he remarked to the police, as he led them to one place after another where he had set fires.

"I did it for fun," he explained. "I got a kick out of it."

The boy is described by the police as undersized, precocious and of a highly nervous temperament.

Two of the fires set by Ignatius threatened the lives of tenants in large apartment houses on Hyde street, near California. The boy started these fires, the two most dangerous of his career, while the International Association of Fire Chiefs was holding its convention here.

The activities of the mysterious pyromaniac were made the subject of an address delivered by Fire Chief Murphy before the convention delegates, and also of another talk before the Lions club, in which he asked the support of all citizens in running down the incendiary.

Grenera was captured as he was running away from his 29th fire, which occurred last night at 1416 Broadway. Flames were first discovered in a narrow passageway underneath the building, which is a combined store and residence structure. An alarm was turned in within a few moments after the fire had started. The sound of the alarm drew the attention of the police to the boy, who was running rapidly away from the spot. He was caught after a short chase.

Tia Juana Reminds Of Days of Gold

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 4. — After a brief visit in the southern part of the state with friends, J. C. Peralta, one of this city's oldest original settlers, returned home today. Peralta, 73 years old, visited at Los Angeles, San Diego, Tia Juana and other points. Tia Juana in particular, interested the old-timer. "Just like California used to be," he said. "Saloons and gambling and a feel of electricity in the air all the time, making you wish that you could keep one hand on a gun. It certainly reminded me of conditions here years ago."

NAMED FOR STAR, GIRL WINS ROLES

Here's a romance from life.

Garber, Oklahoma, is an oil town. In the main theater, the first ever named after General Pershing, L. A. Moran found that parlor-bedroom-and-bath screen plays hit the audience like stale near-beer. He found in two years' time that the only woman star who could "get across" in his theater was Priscilla Dean.

Moran faced the happy prospect of being a father. That was four years ago. He wrote Priscilla Dean at Universal City:

"Miss Dean, we will soon have a new Moran in the family. If it should be a girl, we would like to name her after you. Will you send us a special photograph of you and your permission?"

A girl came. Priscilla Dean Moran, with eyes big enough to behold the whole world and all the "makings" of a screen beauty. Moran, out of ten years' experience as an exhibitor, and his enthusiasm as a father, believed his baby girl would some day be famous. During the "shooting" of "Under Two Flags," which is playing at the T. and D. for the week starting today, he brought her to Los Angeles.

She was immediately grabbed up by Joseph Schenck at a salary to making leading women envious and no one is more interested in Priscilla Dean Moran than Priscilla Dean.

San Leandro City Hall Retouched

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 4.—Final decorative touches to the interior and approaches to the San Leandro city hall were announced as completed today. For the first time in nearly twelve years, the inside of the public building has undergone thorough renovating. Woodwork, walls and ceilings have been painted, tinted and re-varnished. Furniture has undergone similar procedure. The stairs and hallway leading into the hall have received attention. The city hall is used principally for semi-monthly meetings of the city board of trustees and local fraternal orders.

Native Daughters To Dance Tonight

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 4.—Everything is in readiness for the Native Daughters' carnival dance to be held at St. Joseph's hall tonight. Neither expense nor labor have been spared in preparations, the interior of the hall having undergone an elaborate decorative program that will transform it into a scene resembling a Mardi Gras celebration. In addition to gay colored streamers and banners, serpentine, confetti and lanterns, a large number of brightly hued toy balloons will be loosened within the hall.

CONGREGATION OF SISTERS BEGINS GOLDEN JUBILEE

Celebration Opens at Cathedral With High Church Dignitaries Assisting.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—The golden jubilee celebration of the Congregation of the Sisters of the Holy Name was opened this morning at the St. Mary's Cathedral, with representatives of the congregation in attendance from Oakland, Los Angeles and San Jose, and high church dignitaries from all parts of the West taking part in the ceremonies.

Right Rev. Joseph S. Glass, bishop of Salt Lake, officiated at solemn high mass this morning, and Rev. Denis J. Kavanagh of San Jose preached the sermon. Hundreds of children were in attendance. The Cathedral choir presented a special musical program.

Archbishop Edward J. Hanna occupied his throne in the sanctuary. Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock another jubilee mass will be celebrated, with Right Rev. John J. Cantwell, bishop of of Los Angeles, pontificating, and Rev. Peter C. Yorke delivering the sermon.

Archbishop Hanna will pontificate at the final mass of the triduum, which is to be sung Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. John W. Sullivan will preach the sermon.

Receptions will be held by the Sisters at the mother house on Sunday and Monday afternoons.

A civic testimonial to the congregation is to be held in the Exposition Auditorium on the afternoon of November 18. Mayor James Rolph Jr. and Richard Tobin are honorary chairmen of the citizen's committee arranging for this tribute.

VOTE STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN

The potential questions in which Alameda County is virtually in partnership with the National Government---the Naval Base, Harbor Appropriations, Tube or Bridge Across Inner Harbor, Public Buildings including Oakland Postoffice, Protection to our industries and agricultural pursuits---make it imperative that we elect a United States Senator, a Congressman and a Governor who will work in harmony with the Republican National Administration at Washington.

The Platform of the Republican Party Adopted in Convention at Sacramento, Sept. 19, 1922, Declares Unequivocally in Favor of:

"Such protection by a national tariff law as will equalize the cost of production at home and abroad." This has been given California through the work of our Republican Representatives.

"The adoption, if necessary, of a Constitutional Amendment giving to Congress power to regulate or prohibit the employment of children."

"The protection of our agricultural lands, an adequate exclusion law, and legislation which will deny citizenship from descendants of races ineligible to citizenship."

"The immediate enactment of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill."

"The Veterans' Validating Act, and the Veterans' Welfare Bond Act, as it is the duty of the State to assist the men who stood ready to make any sacrifice for our common country."

"The right of organization of men engaged in toil, and for the principle of collective bargaining."

"The maintenance of law and order in the widest sense."

"Such an administration that for each dollar spent there shall be received a dollar's worth in return."

"The direct primary, the initiative, referendum and recall, weapons which have been placed in the hands of the people for their protection."

FIRST PRIZE — $200

MRS. SADIE SCHAFFER—513 2nd Ave.

GENUINE OLD FASHIONED CHEESE CAKE

¾ cup Libby, McNeill & Libby Evaporated Milk
¾ cup water
3 eggs
¾ cup sugar
1½ cups cottage cheese
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon lemon
Pinch salt

Beat the eggs with a rotary egg beater until light and lemon colored.

Add sugar gradually, beating with the egg beater until all of the sugar is used.

To the egg and sugar mixture pour in the scalded milk, add the cottage cheese, lemon, vanilla, and pinch of salt.

Have ready a round cake pan, the depth of which is not less than 3 inches, lined with a flaky pie crust.

When the cheese mixture is ready pour into the pastry lined pan and set in a hot oven (400 degrees).

Reduce the heat immediately to a medium heated oven (325 degrees) and finish baking.

This cake must be baked very slowly, or it will curdle, and it will take from 50 to 60 minutes.

Another test for its being finished is when a straw may be stuck through the center and come out clean.

This cake should be served cold with Libby, McNeill & Libby Evaporated Milk whipped, or it may be served plain.

To whip the Evaporated Milk, thoroughly chill a can on ice, pour into a chilled bowl, and beat with an egg beater until firm; sweeten to taste and add a few drops of vanilla.

SECOND PRIZE — $100

MRS. F. N. SCHENCKE, 445 Sutter St.

LIBBY'S BURNT ALMOND SPONGE
MARASCHINO CHERRY SAUCE

Sponge

Libby's Milk .....2 cups
Cold water .....1 cup
Sugar .....1 cup
Gelatine.....½ package (making 1 quart)
¼ pound burnt almonds
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 unbeaten egg whites
2 tablespoons cold water, in which soak gelatine

Place milk, water and sugar in double boiler, and when very hot add gelatine, and when dissolved remove from fire and cool.

When cool add unbeaten egg whites, flavoring and whip until very thick and spongy.

Roll burnt almonds with rolling pin until well crushed; take out one-quarter for top of dessert; beat balance into the sponge, then mold in two round layer cake tins which have been rinsed with cold water.

Maraschino Sauce

1 teaspoon cornstarch, mixed with 1 tablespoon cold water
1 small bottle maraschino cherries
½ cup sugar
1 cup water

Bring sugar and water to the boil, add cornstarch slowly and cook until clear and smooth; remove from fire and add cherries, chopped into small bits, and the juice. Mix well and set in cold place until serving time.

Cut into segments like cake to serve, and cover with the sauce.

This will serve eight people.

THIRD PRIZE — $50

MRS. JOSEPHINE MacFADYEN, 3854 Sacramento St.

CREAMED ASPARAGUS OMELET

First make the Creamed Asparagus as follows:

2 tablespoons of butter
1½ tablespoons of flour
1 cup Libby's Evaporated Milk
¼ tsp. salt
Dash pepper and paprika
1 sm. can asparagus tips

Put butter in upper part of double boiler under which water is boiling. When melted add flour mixed with pepper, salt and paprika and stir until well blended. Now gradually pour on 1 cup of Libby's Evaporated Milk while stirring constantly. Let cook for several minutes, after which add contents of 1 small can asparagus tips, which have been drained. While this is being thoroughly heated, prepare omelet as follows:

4 eggs
½ tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
2 tablespoons Libby's Evaporated Milk mixed with 2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon butter

Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately. To yolks add salt, pepper and diluted Libby's Evaporated Milk. Fold whites into yolk mixture and turn into well buttered, heated skillet. Cook slowly so that omelet may brown evenly. When omelet is firm to the touch fold and turn on a hot platter and pour around the creamed asparagus. Serve at once.

FOURTH PRIZE — $25

MRS. GEORGIANA WARNER 3850 Jackson St.

FRIED CHICKEN A LA LIBBY

1 can (pt.) Libby's Evaporated Milk
2 young roasting chickens
2-inch square of salt pork

Prepare chickens by singeing, washing and unjointing. Lay pieces on a cloth or towel, patting dry. Then put chickens in large bowl, dusting them over with plenty of salt and pepper and dredging with flour. Put iron frypan on stove; in it put diced salt pork and cook slowly to draw out all the fat and leave brown little crackles of pork; remove these to use later. Into very hot fat left in pan fry pieces of chicken light brown, being careful not to burn while chicken is frying.

Put one pint of Libby's Milk in large saucepan. When milk is scalding hot remove pan to one side, where it will just simmer. Into this drop pieces of chicken as they become browned and cover tightly, lastly rinsing out frypan with a little water and adding to milk and chicken in saucepan. Simmer two hours, or longer will not matter.

When ready to serve, if gravy looks too thick or curdled, add ½ cup hot water and let boil up once.

Potato balls previously boiled, make a nice addition, dropped in 10 minutes before serving. Serve with little diamond shaped pieces of shortcake, or little biscuit, around edge of platter and sprinkle with little pieces of hot pork crackles over chicken. Garnish with parsley.

FIFTH PRIZE — $10

E. DOLORES STEWART, 2539 Durant Ave., Berkeley

LIBBY LUNCHEON DISH

1 cup Libby's Milk
1 cup hot water
1 tablespoon of butter
1 can (2 oz.) Libby's Chipped Beef
2 medium sized potatoes (cooked)
1 cup of cooked peas
1 scant teaspoon salt
Sufficient breadcrumbs to cover top

Put a layer of chipped beef in bottom of baking dish, cover with thinly sliced potatoes, then a layer of peas. Alternate the beef, potatoes and peas until all are used. To the milk add the butter, salt and hot water; pour over all and cover with breadcrumbs, and bake in a medium hot oven until the breadcrumbs are brown, put in casserole and serve with hot baking powder biscuits, which have been made with Libby's Milk diluted one-half.

SIXTH PRIZE — $5

MRS. F. KAHN, 5838 California Street

LIBBY'S YUM-YUM CHEESE

1 large can Libby's Evaporated Milk
Paprika and celery salt to taste
2 packages nippy cheese
1 tablespoon butter

Place milk in pan over a very small flame or in double boiler. Add cheese broken in bits and heat just hot enough to melt cheese. DO NOT BOIL. When melted take from stove and stir in butter. Add paprika and celery salt if desired. Set aside until until almost cold, then beat with Dover beater until fluffy. Pile on cheese plate, sprinkle with paprika and garnish with parsley.

This is delicious and will keep in a cool place for weeks. Fine for cheese toast, sandwiches and salads.

BIG VICTORY FOR SENATOR JOHNSON SEEN IN COUNTY

Leaders in Many Localities Say Welded Sentiment Means G.O.P. Success.

Members of the advisory committee of the Johnson primary campaign, having in mind the Stephens' experience, have been trying-out the voters as to the strength of Senator Johnson in Alameda county. Their information has been reported to the Republican headquarters, and show that after the strenuous contest for the nomination there has been a welding of the Johnson and Moore supporters which assures a majority for Johnson somewhere near the proportion of party strength as shown by the Great Register. The official figures of the registration for next Tuesday's election are: Republican 120,267, against 45,879 of all other parties and non-parties.

Especially optimistic are the reports from the large agricultural districts in the eastern section of the county. Here, where the farmers and fruit men know how the stability of their income depends on protective tariff measures, there is almost undivided support for the Senator who succeeded in protecting California interests as never before.

PREDICT BIG VICTORY.

Judge J. G. Mattos of Centerville says that the majority for Senator Johnson in that section of the country will be so large that it will be practically a clean sweep. "One would almost need a microscope," said he, "to find the opposition to the senator."

William T. Knightly, banker of Hayward, who knows every inch of Eden Township, believes Johnson will carry that territory by at least three to one. "And I believe that is a conservative estimate," he added.

Thomas W. Norris of Livermore has heard of nothing but Johnson since the primaries. "Livermore Valley will give Senator Johnson the biggest majority he has ever received. Until the sample ballots were received there were hundreds of farmers who had never heard the name of his opponent," says Norris.

Frank H. Marshall, merchant of Hayward, said: "I shall be surprised if Johnson carries this town by less than six to one. I would be almost justified in saying that his election will be unanimous both in Hayward and in the rest of Eden Township. There were a few Moore folk here, but after the primary they declared they were for the party first. You would not scrimp your bank account if you offered a premium for every Pearson vote in this neighborhood."

J. G. Saylor, business partner of Judge Gannon of San Leandro, expects his district to go for Johnson by three to one. "I am not speaking for San Leandro only," said Saylor, "but for the entire township. I form my opin. from the hundreds of people I meet daily who come into town from the country."

PEARSON VOTES SCARCE.

F. V. Jones of Niles says he does not personally know of a single Pearson vote in his district. "That sounds noisy I know," said Jones, "but it is a fact. The only thing I fear is that our people will not think it necessary to go to the polls and give Johnson the majority to which he is entitled, and which is his."

E. K. Strobridge of Castro Valley says the unified strength of Senator Johnson is not merely political, but is based on actual knowledge and appreciation of the senator's work. "The ranchers in this part of the county realize the worth of a man like Johnson in the Senate, and I do not believe his opponent will get ten per cent of the votes cast next Tuesday," he added.

Peter C. Crosby says he is doing what every Republican should do, giving his active support to Senator Johnson. "There cannot be two opinions as to the result," said Crosby. "Johnson should poll one hundred per cent of the Republican registration of California. The whole state needs the prestige that would accrue from an overwhelming majority for the Republican senator."

SEE BIG MAJORITY.

Senator A. H. Breed believes that from all reports he has heard the majority of Senator Johnson in Alameda county will be the greatest ever given a Republican candidate in the county's history. Senator Johnson is an asset of incalculable value to this state," said Breed, "and to send him back with a tremendous backing is automatically adding to the prestige nation is watching what this state will do next Tuesday."

L. J. Toffelmeir of San Leandro says that the "scrap" of last August but added to the strength of the Republican cause in that section. "The family row at the primaries was a good thing for us all," said Toffelmeir. "We are getting mossy and taking it for granted that because we were Republicans we could take all kinds of chances. The primary fight woke us up and when it was over there was the liveliest Republican camp out here that we have known for years. It's a unit for Johnson.

C. E. Martenstein of Niles and a prominent business man in his township, summed up the situation, from his viewpoint, in a quartet of words—"It's all for Johnson."

ALL JOHNSON IN TOWNSHIP.

Peter C. Madsen, one of the business leaders of Pleasanton said: "I'll be conservative and say that this town will go at least two to one for Johnson. There are a few Pearson votes here, but they're hard to find. In the rest of this township you hear nothing but Johnson."

R. A. Leet, Oakland merchant, says: "I am an ardent supporter for Senator Johnson for re-election because I believe California needs him at Washington. It is inconceivable that we should repudiate a man who in his first term made himself a national character and brought California before the world as she had never been known before."

Mrs. Mary F. Merrill, prominent club woman of San Leandro, says the women of that territory are working hard to give Senator Johnson "the biggest majority in his career because of his grand work for the women and children of California and for what he will yet accomplish for the women and children of the country."

Mrs. C. E. Wilson, president of the Civic Center, San Leandro, has been an active worker in the Republican ranks for years, and reports that she has never seen more solidarity in the party than is being shown today in behalf of Senator Johnson.

Nebraska Fight Is Warmest Ever Held

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 4. — The closing days of Nebraska's political campaign, one of the most warmly finds chief interest centered in the outcome of the fight for United States senator between Senator G. M. Hitchcock, Democrat, and R. B. Howell, Republicaan national committeeman, and in the gubernatorial race between Charles Bryan of Lincoln, brother of W. J. Bryan, and his Republican opponent, Charles Randall of Randolph.

In the senatorial campaign Hitchcock has assailed the Republican administration for its tariff and other legislation, while Howell has given considerable of his time to attacking the Esch-Cummins railroad act, which he said prevents competition in rates. One of the chief issues of the state campaign has been the state's code law providing six secretaries for as many departments of state, which has been attacked by the Democrats and defended by the Republicans.

IRON CAUSES FIRE.

BERKELEY, Nov. 4.—An electric iron left turned on last night in the laundry of the home of J. H. Mallett, 45 Oak Ridge Road, caused a fire in the residence. Firemen were summoned to find the back of the house in flames. Damage was estimated at $150.

N. Y. Governorship Race Is the Hottest Ever Held

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The keen race between Governor Nathan L. Miller, who is seeking re-election on the Republican ticket, and former Governor Alfred E. Smith his Democratic opponent, overshadows all other contests in the November elections in the Empire State from the point of popular interest.

The contest between William M. Calder, for re-election to the United States Senate on the Republican ticket, and Health Commissioner Royal S. Copeland of New York, the Democratic nominee, is slow in comparsion to the pace set in the Miller-Smith encounter.

The struggle between Governor Miller and Smith is a continuation of the contest two years ago, when the Governor was swept into office on the Republican Presidential landslide over Smith.

In the last two years the Governor has made, in the eyes of his friends and the Republican press, the best chief executive the state has ever had. He is being put forward by his friends as a possible candidate for President two years hence.

Smith went into political retirement, after almost a life time in public life, and entered business. Some said he was through with politics, but when it came time for the party conventions in September the lure of the game overpowered him and he became a candidate.

SMITH DEFEATS HEARST.

At the state convention in Syracuse William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, was a potential candidate for the Governorship. Smith, who did not conceal his dislike for Hearst, fought him tooth and nail. But the battle never reached the floor of the convention, for Hearst announced that he was not a candidate, and Smith was nominated unanimously.

Governor Miller started a campaign tour up-state and trained his big guns on Smith's record as Governor, meanwhile claiming himself economics in administration, through the reorganization of many departments. Smith picked up the trail soon afterwards and fired back broadsides at the Governor, asserting that his figures claiming economics were juggled and that the reorganization of departments was made at the expense of starving the human element in the administration.

Personalities soon entered the campaign arguments. The Governor was accused of being a "Czar," and Smith's campaign was characterized as one of "lung power." Both being seasoned campaigners and able speakers, the state resounded with claims and counterclaims.

RESULT TO BE CLOSE.

Notwithstanding the usual claims of victory by both sides, it is held by unbiased observers that the result for the Governorship probably will be very close, with much splitting of both tickets.

Smith, who was born on the lower east side of New York, under the shadow of Brooklyn Bridge, is affectionately know to almost every one as "Al." He rose from newsboy and a worker in the old Fulton fish market to the Governor's chair. He still lives in his old home, in a district now populated by many of the foreign born.

Politics attracted him early in life, and he became an active worker in Tammany Hall. His rise in the field of politics came when he was elected to the Assembly at Albany, after holding a clerkship in the office of Commissioner of Jurors. Then he became Democratic leader and finally Speaker in the Assembly, later being elected President of the Board of Aldermen in New York City, in addition to other municipal and county offices.

State Government is his hobby, and few men in this state are considered better informed. At the State Constitutional convention to which he was a delegate, along with Elihu Root, George W. Wickersham and other distinguished men, a question concerning certain legislation came up, and Smith volunteered to give an outline history of all public service legislation in the state for sixteen years. His offer was accepted, and without a moment's preparation, he spoke for more than two hours, reeling off statistics and dates without an error, to the amazement of the delegates.

SURPRISES WISEACRES.

He received the votes of the New York state delegation at the Democratic convention in San Francisco that nominated James M. Cox for President. When he defeated former Governor Charles S Whitman for governor in 1918 he surprised all the political wiseacres.

In the election two years ago he defeated Governor Miller in the five boroughs constituting New York city by a plurality of more than 300,000, notwithstanding the fact that President Harding carried these same boroughs by more than 400,000. The upstate Republican counties, however rolled up a big vote and offset Smith's majority in Greater New York, Governor Miller winning by about 74,000.

MILLER NOTED JURIST.

Governor Miller, whose home is in Syracuse, was, like his opponent, born in humble surroundings on a farm in Solon, Corland county. He is a lawyer, and a good deal of his life was spent on the bench. He was a Justice of the State Supreme Court for ten years; an associate Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court for eight years, and an associate Judge of the Court of Appeals.

He was State Comptroller in 1902-03. He was a delegate at large to the Republican national convention that nominated President Harding.

As Governor he especially devoted himself to a study of finances, and claimed to have stopped the "alarming increase in the cost of government." He cut off budget requests amounting to millions of dollars.

He stirred up the antagonism of Mayor Hylan of New York by appointing a commission to inquire into the transit situation in New York city. Mayor Hylan made this one of his issues in his successful mayoralty campaign a year ago, asserting among other things that the state was usurping the "home rule" right of municipalities.

Defections Seen in Missouri's Struggle

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4. (By the Associated Press).—As the Missouri campaign draws to a close astute political observers declare the senatorial race between United States Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, and R. M. Brewster, Republican, will be marked by defections on both tickets.

A goodly number of "wet" Republicans they say, will swing to Reed, while Brewster will receive the support of a large number of "dry" Democrats and Democrats who are dissatisfied with Reed because of his opposition to former President Wilson.

The prohibition question seems to have overshadowed all other issues. Reed has declared himself in favor of modifying the Volstead law while Brewster has declared he would never vote to modify it.

Mayfield's Name Not Put on Ballot

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 4.—Application to file mandamus proceedings to set aside the mandate of District Judge R. E. L. Roy of Fort Worth directing the name of Earle B. Mayfield be placed on Tarrant county election ballots as democratic nominee for the senate, was overruled by the state supreme court an hour after it was filed today. The overrueld petition also was directed against attorneys and agents of Mayfield, asking the court to enjoin them from bringing further action looking toward getting Mayfield's name on the ballot.

Richmond Pastor Given Reception

RICHMOND, Nov. 4.—Rev. W. P. Grant, new pastor of the First Methodist church, was given a reception last night by the congregation of the church. Ministers of Richmond and Point Richmond churches were honorary guests, all taking an active part in the program. The reception was in charge of Mrs. H. G. Stidham, who was assisted by Mesdames J. P. Smith, C. E. Adams and W. T. Gibbons. The program included an invocation by Rev. Thomas Boyer; vocal solo by Miss Irene Conn; addresses by Rev. Thomas Boyer, Rev. C. R. Poole, Rev. F. K. Baker, Rev. H. K. Sanborne and Rev. W. P. Grant; piano solos, Miss Margaret Peterson and Claude Gibbons; vocal solo by Mrs. Earl Scofield.

PARTY FOR HALLOWE'EN.

RICHMOND, Nov. 4.—A number of young friends of Master Earl Power were entertained at a Hallowe'en party at the Power home, 1818 Clinton avenue, on Tuesday evening. The evening was spent playing games. Refreshments were served. Those attending the affair were Miss Vera Smith, Betty Steward, Eleanor Pace, Muriel Pace, Eleanor Soder, Genevieve Steffa, Hilda Smersfelt, Laura Audibert, Robert Snellin, Myron Wallace, Carol Smersfelt, Basil Thompson, Mary Olson, Dominic Brocco, Earl Power, Anna Power, Fred Audibert and Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Power.

ENDORSEMENT OF RICHARDSON BY ORGANIZATIONS

Railroad Men and Emeryville Industrial Committee For G. O. P. Nominee.

An unanimous endorsement of the candidacy of Friend W. Richardson for governor and Hiram Johnson for United States senator has been given by the Emeryville Industrial Committee. This endorsement was given at a meeting last night, which was attended by the representative men of the committeee. E. J. Carey, president of the committeee, presided at the meeting. Al La Costa is secretary of the body.

The Richardson campaign directors in Alameda county are making their final plans for the election today. During the week every community in the county has been visited by Richardson campaigners, and reports to the county headquarters indicate that Richardson will sweep the county. Several meetings are scheduled Monday for various centers in the county, in addition to the big noonday meeting at the Oakland plant of the Union Construction Company.

Tommy Simpson has joined the ranks of the Richardson workers, and will be in charge of the work election day in West Oakland.

RAIL MEN FOR RICHARDSON.

Believing that the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Friend W. Richardson, will forge right ahead with his program of economy, and that from his friendly attitude toward organized labor, he is the logical man to represent them at Sacramento, the railroad men of Alameda county announce that they have united to urge the elevation of Friend W. Richardson to the office of governor.

The Alameda County Railroad Men's Richardson Republican League, with its large membership of railroad men, they declare, "was a big factor in sweeping Alameda county into line for Richardson at the primary, and as the general election approaches, the expressed opinion that Alameda county will go strong for Richardson is merely a reflection upon the untiring efforts of the railroad men to elect a man who will rightly serve California."

The organization is led by the following officers:

Executive committee—D. W. Nutting, chairman, Order of Railway Conductors; F. A. Davis, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks; F. A. Lemery, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; C. Grigsby, Order of Railway Telegraphers; Frank P. Kane, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; S. T. Clifford, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; Frank J. Douglas, Order of Railway Conductors; A. Wiedemann, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; T. J. Grogan, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; M. F. Grealey, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; John D. Pangher, Order of Railway Conductors.

GREETED BY VOTERS.

Friend W. Richardson, Republican nominee for Governor, has been capturing community after community in his triumphant campaign in Southern California and on up through the San Joaquin valley, according to a telegram received from the nominee last night at Richardson headquarters.

At Bakersfield yesterday Richardson was greeted by the largest crowd that ever gathered for gubernatorial nominee, Republican leaders said. Richardson completely captivated the mass meeting he addressed with his straightforward talk and quaint humor.

Richardson spoke yesterday afternoon in Hanford and last night in Visalia. At both places the halls were crowded and the nominee was repeatedly cheered on his specific statements on economy with efficiency in state government.

McCarthy Opposes Water, Power Plan

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—P. H. McCarthy, former labor mayor of San Francisco and for twenty years president of the State Building Trades Council, came out with a statement yesterday urging labor to vote against the water power act. He charges that the proposed new commission "would have sufficient power to destroy every labor organization in California and make subservient to its wishes the plain people of every rural district."

"A two-thirds vote of the Legislature," says McCarthy, is necessary to alter any course mapped out by this board. It is quite easy to understand how they could control one-third of the Legislature, or if a referendum were attempted becloud the issues and nullify any effort on the part of the people to again come into possession of what they now hove by right through popular government by majority."

GUILD PLANS BAZAAR.

RICHMOND, Nov. 4.—St. Edmund's Guild will hold its annual bazaar for two days, November 9 and 10. Light lunches will be served at noon and dancing will be on the program both evenings. The committees in charge of the affair include: Mrs. Lauritzen, general manager; candy booth, Mrs. Mickey; fancy work, Miss Rogerson, Mrs. Crosby and Mrs. Bonham; tea and lunch, Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Stickle; home cooking, Mrs. Miller; preserves and pickles, Mrs. Shanks; "parcel post" and 25-cent packages, Mrs. Sturm; grab bags, Mrs. Spring; handkerchiefs, Mrs. Rosier and Mrs. Schafer; dolls and baby clothes, Mrs. Fenix and Mrs. Gerlach; Junior Guild articles, Mrs. Hiskey.

SUPPORTERS OF WOOLWINE SAY TIDE IS FOR HIM

Demonstration Credited to Klan Halts Candidate's Speech in South

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4. — Supporters of Thomas Lee Woolwine, Democratic candidate for governor last night declared that the tide of battle is turning in Woolwine's favor in Los Angeles county. "It has been realized throughout the campaign," declares a statement from Woolwine headquarters, "that Los Angeles county will cut a large figure in the Gubernatorial election. With a registration of more than four hundred thousand, and this being four to one Republican, Woolwine's opponents have staunchly maintained that Friend W. Richardson would receive enough votes in this county to overcome Woolwine's conceded lead in the northern part of the state. Today it is predicted that the results of Woolwine's intensive campaign in this county will assure Los Angeles county for the Woolwine column."

Woolwine, it is pointed out, has spoken in practically every city and hamlet of the county and he has been assisted by a corps of speakers who have thoroughly gone over every nook and cranny of this vicinity. Woolwine yesterday afternoon addressed the largest audience composed entirely of women that has assembled anywhere in the state during this campaign to hear a political speech. The address was made at the Ambassador theater before the members of the women's Woolwine-for-Governor Nonpartisan organization.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Nov. 4. — A demonstration credited by the police to the Ku Klux Klan halted an address by Thomas Lee Woolwine, Democratic candidate for governor, in the Municipal Auditorium here last night. One man was arrested.

Before the meeting, Woolwine was said to have received from Ben W. McLendon chief of police, a copy of what purported to be a notice to klansmen to attend the meeting, to escort women friends and relatives, if possible, and to applaud at a signal from "Kleagle" Mitchell.

Opening his address, Woolwine read the notice, and continued:

"Is Kleagle Mitchell in the audience? If so, I'd like to have him stand up, and all the rest of the hooded cowards. I came here to address good American citizens and not these others."

There was no answer except silence.

Then Woolwine proceeded to attack the Klan, terming it a "traitorous organization."

Then a man rose and shortly afterward a number of others followed, about half being women, and all started to leave the building.

A large number of Woolwine's followers threw themselves into a cordon about him and for several minutes hisses and boos mingled with cheers and the clapping of hands.

Later those remaining in the audience gave three cheers for Woolwine.

It was announced that Chief McLendon had obtained from a justice of the peace a complaint charging F. M. Mitchell with "conspiring to break up a public meeting," and had arrested Mitchell and placed him in the city jail in default of $500 bail.

Chief McLendon stated he and his officers were seeking to identify all who participated in the demonstration.

Sample Bill Urged By R. M. Fitzgerald

In a talk before the Glenview Improvement club at the clubhouse on Park Boulevard yesterday Robert M. Fitzgerald, well-known Oakland attorney, explained the provisions of the Sample Bill, Proposition 24, and urged its adoption at the election in November as a safeguard to the public in general.

Mrs. H. T. Davis, president of the Glenview Club, presided at the meeting and in introducing Fitzgerald, pointed out to the club members that he was peculiarly well fitted to discuss this measure as he has been an attorney for many years and also is vice-president of the Central National bank and therefore qualified to understand both sides of the situation.

"Proposition 24," Fitzgerald said, "is truly a measure designed to protect the people against frauds and misrepresentations of persons authorized to engage in the practice of law, have been doing so in open defiance of the law. This they have been able to do because there never has been a statute in California forbidding persons who are not licensed from representing themselves to be lawyers and thus imposing upon the public.

"Lawyers are now required to meet fixed standards of education in order to obtain licenses to practice and are subject to disbarment by the Supreme Court in case of misconduct, but these safeguards are worthless if persons unqualified and unauthorized may with impunity engage in the profession. The only opposition to Proposition 24 comes from a few grasping corporations which hide behind the fictitious name of "The Public Rights League" and which desire that the measure be defeated that they may continue their selfish practice."

In concluding, Fitzgerald urged that his hearers sustan the action of the Legislature and the governor in the adoption of this measure, which is similar to laws now in force in twenty-four states of the union, by voting "yes" on proposition 24 at the election Tuesday.

Construction Resumed on Big Muscle Shoals Plant

FLORENCE, Ala., Nov. 4—The roar of construction work on the great Wilson Dam at Muscle Shoals is again sounding. The Federal Government has stepped in to rescue from possible decay the spectacular war-time nitrate and power projects, which sprang up almost overnight, involved in the building of what will be the world's largest water-power dam.

United States army engineers, who have just been furnished with $8,100,000 in Congressional appropriations, are once more proceeding with the work of harnessing the mighty waters of the Tennessee river under a government program which provides for the completion of the Wilson Dam, the installation of machinery and the furnishing of electrical "juice" by the winter of 1925 or the early spring of 1926.

The army appropriation bill to be introduced in Congress December 4, is to contain an item making available $7,500,000 additional for the work for the fiscal year 1923-24. That will require but $7,400,000 more after that, before they have a finished job.

These army dam builders have been halted in their work since April 15, 1921, by lack of money, when the dam was one-third completed. The armistice had come. Appropriations had dribbled for a while, then completely stopped.

But now an awakening has come. About 1,200 men are actually at work on the dam today, and on 2,000 to be swarming over the works, and the call is going out for a small group of able assistant civilian engineers.

The men at work today are being paid at the base rate of $2.50 per day, but, as this is a government pay-roll, and Congress has granted a bonus to government workers, they actually receive about $3.20 per man per day average. This means an expenditure of about $4,000 per day for labor. But cement, lumber, coal, reinforcing steel and other materials are being purchased, eating into the appropriations.

All the big machinery for the electrical power installations was bought long ago. This big machinery, technically described as four units, each consisting of 30,000 horse-power turbines, capable of generating all together 120,000 horsepower, is on the ground, ready to be installed. So far as construction machinery is concerned, there is equipment of that character on the dam works which has been inventoried at $5,000,000, and therefore nothing in that line with the one exception of a tow-boat has been needed, and that has just been bought.

The work will go on all through the winter, under the program, because there usually is no ice worth speaking of in the Tennessee.

The construction plant, cofferdams, and temporary structures were depreciating at the rate of approximately $400,000 a year, until $8,100,000 became available at the hands of Congress in September and on October 1. All that deterioration has been stopped, new work has begun, and the army engineer dam builders are singing the song of peace. If they were naval officers they would probably describe themselves as being "equipped with chart and sailing directions and proceeding full speed ahead."

"He Just Carried Me Away," Says Contract Bride, 16

(Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.)

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 4.—Mary Alice Morehouse, 16 and pretty, one of the principals in the Lafayette "puppy love" trial marriage circle which already has involved six school children in elopements and which is declared to involve others, told her own story of the affair.

Mary Alice has returned home to the farm; her "ideal romance" is shattered; "her man" has been sent away.

Mary Alice, back home, her hair down and wearing a gingham apron, told the story of the triple romance in these words:

"Mary Frances Zuffall, my cousin, and I, go to school together. We chummed with Glen and Jerral Cunningham, Levan Levan, Mary Frances with Glenn. We had decided to get married and so we started to Kansas City, where the boys had jobs waiting as clerks in a hotel. All four of us were to go but Glen and Mary Frances backed out at the last minute. Levan and I left for Bloomington. We thought we'd get married there and then go on to Kansas City."

Mary's mother interrupted:

"It must have been that Cunningham boy's impetuosity. It was, wasn't it, Mary Alice?"

"He just carried me away. I have only known him about a month," Mary replied. "That's all there's to it. We signed the marriage contract that we'd live together for s... months and then get a divorce if we wanted to, and registered at the hotel in Bloomington. And now I'm back. Levan went to Kansas City."

Five Lodges of Rebekahs Attend

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 4. — Delegates from branch lodges of Alameda, Melrose, Elmhurst, Fruitvale and Hayward, approximately 150 in all, attended the district meeting of the Rebekahs held at I. O. O. F. hall last night. The evening was devoted to a series of entertainment acts, including vocal and instrumental selections, fancy, folk and interpretative dancing, and refreshments.

Mrs. Maude Cline, district deputy of the Rebekahs, presided. A dance ended the program.

Plans were discussed by a committee for the joint whist party to be held here with the local Odd Fellows, November 14. The committee consists of the Mesdames Anna Burnett, B. Eber and Maude Cline.

RICHARDSON NOW CONFIDENT OF VICTORY AT POLLS

Tells Contra Costa Republicans He Seeks Governorship to Give Service.

RICHMOND, Nov. 4.—Predicting that he would win the gubernatorial contest by from 150,000 to 200,000 majority over Woolwine, Friend W. Richardson addressed a hundred Contra Costa county Republicans last night at Richmond club house. Sharing the honors of the evening with Richardson, former Governor James N. Gillett occupied a seat at the banquet table, and delivered an address in which he expressed his approval of the Republican nominee and urged all Republicans to vote the straight ticket.

Preceding the addresses the Women's Club served dinner. John F. Galvin, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, had charge of the affair. State Senator Will Sharkey of Martinez acted as chairman of the evening.

LEADERS ARE HEARD.

Brief talks were made by Mayor F. J. Garrard, W. A. Rugg, editor of the Martinez Gazette; Guy E. Milnes, editor of the Record-Herald; W. J. Buchanan, chairman of the board of supervisors; Rev. Frank Baker, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church, and Joseph F. Brooks, general manager of the Standard Oil refinery.

Speaking in a straight-from-the-shoulder manner, Richardson told of his political life so far. He said that he had no further political ambition than to sit in the governor's chair, which office he sought not as an honor, but as a means of serving the people.

"I propose to put the state government on a business basis," he reiterated, adding "efficiency and economy are my watchwords."

EXPECTS TO BE ELECTED.

Of the chances of defeat, the Republican nominee said: "I expect to be elected by an overwhelming majority. But if defeated I will live happily ever afterwards. I know something of the trials of the gubernatorial office, and I assure you that the job is no sinecure. I am not worried about the outcome either way. All the Republican newspapers are for me, and four-fifths of the Democratic papers are favoring me."

Richardson explained that the cost of state government had increased 154 per cent in the past six years, or six times as fast as the increase in population. The state payroll, he claimed, had jumped from 4000 to 11,000 employees in that period.

Stamping with approval the two soldier measures on the ballot, he explained that the measures if carried would not add a penny to the cost of the state administration.

"Flivver boobs" was selected as the name for careless auto drivers by the American Automobile Association.

Measures to Be Discussed By Minister

First Unitarian Church Pastor to Give Views On Propositions.

The text of the sermon by Rev. Clarence Reed, pastor of the First Unitarian church, tomorrow morning on "Religion and Politics," will be a discussion of the amendments, initiatives and referendum measures on which the voters of California will cast their ballots on Tuesday.

According to Rev. Reed, the theme to be followed out in the sermon will point out that there are three measures of supreme importance before the people. One of these measures, he says, involves the preservation of representative government in California. One of the referendum measures, he states, is designed to nullify the enforcement of a portion of the Constitution of the United States. One of the initiatives, he contends, proposes to conduct the financial affairs of California on a business basis.

The subject of the evening sermon by Rev. Reed, will be "Jesus, the Jew." At the close of the Sunday evening lectures the pastor answers questions in regard to the Bible. He will speak tomorrow evening on the question raised by the decision of the appellate court of California declaring that the King James version of the Bible is a sectarian book and therefore its use in the public schools is in violation of the constitution of California.

Unity club of the church has announced a lecture by Dr. McGillycuddy, on Wednesday evening in Wendte hall of the church on "The American Indian."

Dr. McGillycuddy has had an interesting career in connection with the American Indian. After graduation from the University of Michigan, he entered the United States army as a surgeon and in that capacity was associated with General Custer. He was also connected with the survey of the boundary line between the United States and Canada. He was for some time the agent of the Sioux Nation and originated the idea of Indian police. He spent more than twenty years among the Indians and speaks several of their languages with fluency.

PASTOR WILL TELL OF VARIOUS BLINDNESSES

The first of a series of expository sermons taken from the Book of Deuteronomy is to be presented tomorrow morning at the Centennial Presbyterian church, when Rev. Edward C. Phillieo, the pastor, will speak on "Obedience."

In connection with the morning service there will be an installation ceremony for the officers and teachers of the Sunday school.

"Sight for the Blind," is to be the theme of the evening talk by Rev. Phillieo. It will be pointed out by the speaker in this sermon that one of the most pitiful sights is that of a person who has lost his eyesight, but that there is a moral and spiritual blindness that is even more serious.

Lecture Series Is New Plan of Local Pastors

Entertainments to Be Given On Six Successive Monday Evenings.

The Oakland Ministerial Union has planned for a series of six entertainments to be given on six successive Monday nights at the First Congregational church, Twelfth and Clay streets, commencing November 13.

Dr. John Stephens, president of the union, in speaking of the series stated: "Ministers and religious workers have felt the need for some time past of helpful and entertaining gatherings, where educational and musical programs might be rendered by good talent and, at the same time, bring the members of the churches together in a social way."

Special music and other attractions are to be in evidence in conjunction with the course of lectures. The talks to be given are:

Nov. 13—"The Bolshevism of the Beehive." Rev. George W. Phillips, pastor Tenth Avenue Baptist church.

Nov. 20—"European Impressions, With Side Lights on the Passion Play." Dr. Charles L. Kloss, pastor Plymouth Congregational church.

Nov. 27—"How to Find Yourself." Dr. John Snape, pastor First Baptist church, Oakland.

Dec. 4—"An Evening With Two Dialect Poets: Field, Dunbar, Riley." Dr. H. O. Breeden, pastor First Christian church.

Dec. 11—"Wits Allenby at Armageddon." Rev. Edward A. Wicher of the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Dec. 18—"The Basis of American Patriotism." Dr. Tully C. Knowles, president of the College of the Pacific, San Jose.

Spiritual Temple Services Planned

Services are being conducted Sunday evenings at Athens Hall by the Angelus Spiritual Temple. Rev. Helen C. King is the pastor. Rev. Francis F. Fleming of New York City will deliver a sermon tomorrow evening. Other speakers will also be present, including Rev. Baker Jackson of Chicago.

Dr. Silsley Will Preach On Husbands

Modern Mate Meal Ticket? One of Pastor's Questions For Discussion.

Continuing his series of sermons on "Home Life in the Bay District," Dr. Frank M. Silsley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church has for his sermon topic tomorrow evening, "What are 100 per cent Husbands?" In this talk the speaker states he proposes to discuss the following questions:

Is the modern husband a meal ticket or a soul? Is the quality of husbands improving or deteriorating? What are some of the forces today that are making better husbands? What are some of the temptations drawing men away from their marriage covenant vows? Is domestic infidelity on the increase or decrease? Is the temper of the modern husband better than it was during the war?

Speaking of this sermon, Dr. Silsley said: "Modern husbands occupy one of the most important places in modern life. He is the real strong man of Society. How important then that he has the right psychology and the right religion. There is only room for one more order and that is the Order of 100 per cent Husbands."

Preceding the sermon Dr. Silsley will give a "Town Talk on Whom and What to Vote for Tuesday."

The Temple choir of 50 voices will give a program of music. The bass soloist, Richard Lundgren, will sing "Nearer My God, to Thee." At the organ recital, Kennedy will give Nevin's "Sketches of the City," in which he will interpret sounds and characters on the streets of a great city. Miss Margaret M. Madge will sing a soprano solo, "Like as the Hart."

At the morning service Dr. Silsley has for his sermon topic, "The Peculiar People." Special interest is being shown in the Mid-Week Prayer service where a study of the gospel of John is being given by the pastor.

SERVICES AT SWEDISH CHURCH WILL BE VARIED

Evening services at the Emmanuel Swedish church will be conducted in English tomorrow by Rev. Antony E. Lind, the pastor, who will speak on "The Power of the Little Church on Main Street." This is to be an election address.

At the Swedish morning service the topic of the sermon will be "The Peril of the Under the Bushel Christians."

A meeting of special interest will be held by the Epworh League in the evening. Refreshments will be served.

At the mid-week service on Wednesday evening a Unit Rally will be held. The Unit leaders, M. Blomstad, Reynol Charlson, Harold Larson and Mrs. Green, will have charge.

Church Building Activities.

It is said that during the last seventy years the church building boards and societies of twenty-two different denominations in the United States have helped in the building of 62,841 church edifices and 4835 parsonages.—Watchman Examiner.

Prize Offered for Pageant.

The Presbyterian General Board of Education announced recently from its offices in the Presbyterian building, 155 Fifth avenue, New York, that a prize of $100 would be paid for the best pageant to be written concerning Vocation Day, which will be celebrated throughout the Presbyterian church Sunday, May 6, 1923. On that day the 10,000 churches of the denomination are to emphasize the Christian principles of life investment and are to present definitely to parents and young people a special call to the ministry, missions and other forms of distinctly Christian service.

The terms of the prize offer state that the pageant, in typewritten form, must be in the hands of the Presbyterian Board of Education by January 1, 1923. The pageant should occupy about 50 minutes of any service, weekday or Sunday, and should be capable of production without elaborate costuming. It must not require congregational singing, and the words of any hymn to be used by participants must be typewritten with references to accessible music in the proper meter. The pageant must be designed to convey a true and adequate impression of the world's need for Christian service, particularly in those forms directly fostered or employed by the church.

A committee of pastors will determine which of the pageants submitted would be best for use throughout the Presbyterian churches.

New Teacher for Bible Class.

J. W. Henderson has been unanimously chosen teacher for the Maddrill Bible Class of First M. E. church to succeed its teacher and leader for many years, Mr. Maddrill, after whom the Sunday school class was named, and who is now retiring from active duty in that capacity. This action is the result of a recent business meeting of the class, and is a confirmation of the approval of the members of Henderson's able substitution and an expression of their desire for his permanency in the office.—Methodist Dawn

Work of Women Praised.

When the great-hearted Christian women laid their splendid Thank Offering upon the altar in the General Convention of the Episcopal church at Portland, lately, the world recognized the climax of the zeal and generosity that have risen higher and higher with each successive occasion during the last twenty years. Their gifts throughout these years have been always on the ascending scale. The climax was reached when the recent offering of $659,126 was announced, which drew from the Presiding Bishop, Daniel S. Tuttle, this well-deserved tribute, which is of interest to all the women in all the Christian churches throughout America:

The United Thank Offering of the Women's Auxiliary for The General Convention of 1922!

It visualizes Comradeship,
It embodies Faith,
It changes Hope from a Whisper to a Clarion Call,
It adds Love to be the abiding Crown of Everlasting life.

This age of the world is summoning woman even more than heretofore to the responsibilities and anxieties of human Life.

She will respond, thank God. Never fear for her.

The discipline of the Home and the discipline of the Church have trained her natural intuitions for wholesome service in the discipline of the State.

DANIEL S. TUTTLE.
Presiding Bishop.

With a spirit even finer than that of the Roman matrons and maidens who flung their gifts into the treasury to save the city in a crisis, these golden-hearted women have practiced a noble self-denial all these years to strengthen the spiritual forces of the Church, and their courage and generosity deserved every word of Bishop Tuttle's glowing acknowledgment. His eulogy of Christian womanhood can be justly applied to the women of all denominations alike.—Christian Herald.

Methodists Plan for Annual Fair

An Old-Fashioned, Home-Cooked Dinner To Be Served Opening Day.

The Young Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Methodist Episcopal church, are completing preparations for a bazaar to be held in the Sunday school auditorium of the church, November 23 and 24.

Various booths will be in operation and will include fancy work, aprons, baby clothes, handkerchiefs dolls, mystery candy, hand-made reed articles and many other things worth buying. Special emphasis has been laid on the preparation of holiday gifts for all of the booths.

An old-fashioned home cooked chicken dinner is to be served on the opening day, at 7 o'clock.

Plans and preparations for the bazaar have occupied the time of many of the women for the entire year. Those who will take an active part in the conduct of the bazaar include: Mrs. William Moon, president of the organization; Mrs. E. G. Fessler, chairman of the bazaar; Mrs. E. D. Cornelison, fancy work; Mrs. Clyde Chamblin, handkerchiefs; Mrs. D. B. Schertle, aprons; Mrs. A. Anderson, dolls; Mrs. H. Hoolidge, food; Mrs. C. G. White, candy; Mrs. Horrice Dunne, reed; Mrs. C. Colgett, mystery; Mrs. William Gow, scones; Mrs. A. B. Staples, cook-books; Mrs. Frank Clevenger, dining room; Mrs. L. B. Cramer, kitchen; Mrs. F. N. Kornhaus, treasurer; Mrs. H. W. Metcalf, hostess; Mrs. Homer Saylor, entertainmene; Mrs. Charles Malm, baby booth.

'Mothers' Night' Is Celebrated By Corner Club

THE first of a series of Mothers' Nights was held at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Oakland Corner Club, No. 4, with Mrs. E. J. Clinton, club mother, as speaker. Her talk, "The Sacredness of Motherhood," was followed by a solo, "My Mother," by Miss Clarice Melvin, president of the club.

After the supper, served by the women of the Pioneer Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Miss Lily Harris spoke for a few minutes on the Wright Act.

It was announced that Tuesday evening will be Visitors' Night, when men are permitted to attend the meeting.

COMMUNION TO BE OBSERVED AT DANISH SERVICE

Communion will be held at the Danish services of the Danish-Norwegian Baptist church tomorrow morning. Rev. P. Petersen, the pastor, will speak at his service on "The Only Sin-Offering." The Junior B.Y.P.U. society will hold a meeting at the same time.

"Walking in the Spirit," is the topic of the address to be delivered in the evening at the English service by Rev. Petersen. There is to be special music at both services.

A number of the members of the church are planning to attend the annual conference of the church, which meets in Modesto next week, November 9 to 12.

Esteem Is Preferred to Criticism

Dr. Garst Says People Should be Less Critical and More Charitable.

"Everybody likes to be highly esteemed, but cringe before criticism. Many folks deeply dislike to be criticized, but without mercy criticize others. We need to be less critical and more charitable. There is abroad a false belief that they who go to church are adversely critical. Whereas it is the man and woman who do not go to church who are critical often without reason. They magnify microscopic faults in Christion people, or they emphasize a weakness against which the Christian has waged hard battle and is slowly strengthening, but they are unconscious of grevious errors and faults in their own lives."

This is the contention of Dr. J. N. Garst, pastor of the Twenty-third avenue Baptist church, where a "Every Member Attendance Campaign" is being carried on.

A picture will be shown at the session of the Sunday school tomorrow. At the morning church service Dr. Garst will speak on "Empty Pews." New members will be welcomed at this service and the Lord's Supper observed.

The three B. Y. P. unions will meet in the evening, after which all will meet in the church auditorium for a special program on the close of the day, which is to be observed as "Church Day." John Watson, Jr., of Seattle, will give two saxaphone solos, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Gillespie of Oakland. Miss Hazel Cardwell and Dane Bryan will sing a duet and J. H. Jevons of Berkeley will speak on "The Church in the Community."

Sea Voyage Of Jonah To Be Text

Lutheran Church Council Is to Arrange For New Constitution.

In the course of Biblical instruction marked out for the winter, at the First Lutheran church, the evening sermons for the month of November will be on the Book of Jonah. "Jonah's Sea Voyage," will be given tomorrow evening and the remainder of the topics being, consecutively, "Jonah's Thanksgiving," "Jonah's Preaching Hour," "Jonah's Hard Lesson." The morning sermons are to conclude the study of the Book on Malachi, the one for tomorrow taking up the question "Wherein Shall We Return to God?—or—Kept From God by the Sin of Formalism."

The church council meets Monday night to prepare a new constitution for presentation to the congregation, a step made necessary by the merger of the Lutheran bodies into the United Lutheran church.

Wednesday night the Bible study hour is to draw out the distinction between the matter of salvation and that of rewards. The discussion is to be illustrated with a chart.

Thursday evening the Mary and Martha Circle, a band of young women interested in securing the establishment of an Old Folk's Home in California, will meet for business and a social hour.

EVENING SERVICE HOURS CHANGED AT ST. PETER'S

Beginning with tomorrow the evening services of St. Peter's Episcopal church, of which the Rev. W. F. Gee is the rector, which heretofore has been held at 4:30 p. m., will be changed to 7:30 p. m.

The Young People's Fellowship meeting, heretofore at 6 p. m., will me held at 6:30.

The vestry has purchased a residence now being erected at Lawton and Broadway as a rectory, and plans are being drawn for the enlarging of the chapel and parish house. The improvement work is to begin immediately.

The nation-wide campaign of the church is being actively carried on, committees have been formed with G. T. Campau as the chairman.

Rev. W. G. Trower Is Here on Visit

Rev. William G. Trower, his wife, Mrs. Annie Munro Trower, and their son, Lieut. Wendell P. Trower, from St. Paul, Minn., formerly of Oakland, are visiting here before Lieut. Wendell Trower and his mother sail for Honolulu where Lieut. Trower is stationed. Frank Trower recently entertained for the visitors.

Cornet Will Be Feature At Services

One of the special musical features at the First Baptist Church tomorrow night will be two cornet selections by Grace Adams East. Miss Amy Stockton, the "Girl Evangelist," now conducting meetings with the Tenth Avenue Baptist Church in East Oakland, will give a brief talk at the opening of the evening's program. In the absence of Dr. Snape, Rev. E. A. Fridell, assistant pastor of the church, will preach on "Two Lives in One." At the morning service, Kathleen Norris, novelist and lecturer now in San Francisco, will give an address regarding some important issues arising at Tuesday's election. This will be followed by the observance of the Ordinance of Communion.

Tuesday is "Auxiliary Day" for all women of the church and congregation. Following the brief business session at 2:00 p. m., a devotional lesson on "Review of Books in Bible Reading Course" will be led by Mrs. G. M. Thomas of Alameda. Mrs. J. E. Wasson will direct the missionary program and will conduct the good ship "Others" from India to Burma and take the passengers on a tour of that interesting country. The hostesses for the afternoon will be members of Circle No. 4. The ladies of Circle No. 8 will hold a food sale before and after the meeting and will have a large variety of dishes for disposal.

Another "Ship of Fellowship" is being prepared by the Baptist Foreign Mission Societies and will sail for Russia the latter part of November. The women of this church are cooperating in this movement to aid the destitute of that country and are asking for donations of clean clothing, such as suits, overcoats, socks, sweaters, stockings, shawls, blankets, dresses, etc.; also unbleached cotton cloth, needles, thread and buttons. All contributions must be at the church by Wednesday, November 8.

Citizens' League Hears Prohibition Speech by Rabbi

The Christian Citizens' League was addressed by Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee of Temple Sinai at its meeting in the Brooklyn Presbyterian church on Thursday evening. In discussing the attitude of the orthodox Jewish people toward the question of prohibition, Rabbi Coffee stated:

"We agreed in our general assembly to use unfermented grape juice in our religious ceremonials, because unscrupulous persons are opening synagogues and causing illiterate Jews to pretend to be rabbis and to sell bootleg wine. They pad the membership list of these so-called synagogues, even going so far as to use the names of prominent men."

Ellmer Shirrell, chief of the twelfth district of the Veterans' Welfare Bureau, addressed the league, telling of the work being done by the government to re-establish the disabled ex-soldiers, giving them "new skill, new jobs, new health and new hope."

Frank W. Hooper gave a resume of the legal rights of the citizen as a watcher at the polls. Mrs. Howard Bacon sang a group of songs.

Dr. Dudley Smith, past president of the California Medical Association, told of the objection of medic men to the initiative measure on the ballot known as the osteopathic bill. Dr. Ernest Sission responded for the affirmative. W. T. Mills, author and socialist leader, spoke in favor of the chiropractic bill.

Y. M. C. A. Students Arrange Meeting

Students of the United Y.M.C.A. schools will hold a meeting at the local Y.M.C.A. on Monday evening at 6:30 p. m. Some of the Y.W. C.A. women are planning to serve a dinner on that evening and to present a number of musical numbers.

William Gillanders, general secretary of the Oakland Y.M.C.A., will give a talk on "Developing a Personality."

Germany Subject Of Talk

At the Plymouth Congregational church tomorrow, Dr. Charles L. Kloss, the pastor, will speak in the morning on "Human Radios." In the evening, Dr. Kloss will give the sixth of the series of European impressions, a consideration of the "Religious and Economic Conditions in Germany—What Has Caused the Rapid Decline of the Mark? Is the German Republic Secure?"

There will be special music to supplement the Plymouth quartet at this service, a trio, for organ, violin and cello, "Serenade" by Drdla. Miss Dorothy Dukes plays the cello, Ralph Brandt the violin and Gerard Taillander the organ.

The concluding address of the series by Dr. Kloss will be given Sunday evening, November 12, when Dr. Kloss will give his impressions of the Passion Play. His address will be illustrated by stereopticon slides made from photos, autographed by Anton Lang, Martha Veit and others in the cast. Views of Oberammergau will also be shown.

Plymouth Sunday school is making arrangements to enter six teams in the S. S. Basketball association.

DEFIANT SPIRIT PREVALENT SAYS OAKLAND PASTOR

Rev. Edgar P. Smith, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, in his morning sermon tomorrow on "Seeking and Not Forsake," intends to refer to what he describes as the irreverent and defiant spirit relative to spiritual things which he contends is prevalent today. In speaking of this topic, Rev. Smith stated:

"This spirit is one of the signs of the times. Professed Christian people largely have closed their eyes to the necessity of the devotional reading of God's word; of quiet meditation of the things of God, and of prayer."

The evening subject of Rev. Smith will be "The Divine Method of Saving a Soul."

Jewish History Lectures Arranged

Prof. Max Radin, of the University of California, will continue his course on Jewish history on the first and third Thursdays of the month at 3:15 p. m., instead of the second and fourth Thursdays, at Temple Sinai, Twenty-eighth and Webster streets. Members and friends of the Temple Sisterhood have been invited to attend.

Wells Head Of Southern Adventists

Rev. G. W. Wells, who has been president of the California Conference of the Seventh Day Adventist church, recently was elected president of the Southern Union Conference of the church. He will be stationed at Nashville, Tenn., where the headquarters of the denomination for the Southland are maintained.

Rev. Wells, his wife and their three daughters have been making their home in Oakland during the past four years while Rev. Wells was at the head of the conference here. Accompanied by his family, he left here a few days ago for Ohio, where they will visit relatives before going to Nashville.

Under the leadership of Rev. Wells, the California Conference enjoyed a successful experience. There has been constant advancement in every department of the church work. Last year, the tithe receipts in this conference totaled $150,000, and the indications are that the same amount will be received this year. The offerings to foreign missionary activities this year will total $100,000.

Rev. Wells is not a stranger to the Southland, as he was president of the Georgia Conference, and later president of the North Carolina Conference before going to Minnesota, where he was president six years. He came to California from Minnesota.

As president of the Southern Union Conference, Rev. Wells will be the presiding elder of all the Seventh-Day Adventist churches in Kentucky, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and western Tennessee, and also chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Publishing association. He goes to Nashville as successor to Rev. Charles Thompson, who goes to South America as president of the denomination in that continent.

Minister Begins Fifth Year With Oakland Church

REV. F. ENGEBRETSEN, pastor of the First Norwegian Danish church, who begins his fifth year as pastor of the church tomorrow.

Rev. F. Engebretsen of Norwegian-Danish Congregation to Celebrate.

Rev. F. Engebretsen begins his fifth year as pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish church at the services tomorrow. There has been a marked increase in the activities of the church during the five years that Rev. Engebretsen has been the pastor, especially in the missionary field. Formerly the church supported one missionary in the field, while at the present time they are caring for five workers in mission work.

There will be an anniversary at the morning hour of worship when Rev. Engebretsen will speak on the text "Hitherto Hath the Lord Helped Us."

At 3 p. m. a reception will be given in the church to A. A. Thompason, the oldest member of the church, in honor of his 84th birthday.

Rev. C. N. Hange of San Francisco, will deliver the address at the evening service.

SPEAKS ON HEALTH AND LOVE

Tomorrow night Bishop Mazzinlananda lectures at the Church of Universal Truth on "Modern Applied Psychology of Health, Youth, Beauty and Love."

Evangelist to Speak at Swedish Church Service

Rev. David Nygren, the evangelist who conducted a campaign at the Swedish Baptist church, will speak at the Sunday school, and the morning service of that church tomorrow. Communion and reception of new members will be held at the morning service.

At the Young People's meeting in the evening, a former missionary of New York and Finland, Sandra Erikson, will speak on "Better Thinking."

At the evening church hour the choir will have charge of the musical program and the pastor will discuss the topic, "The Hour of Decision." All of the services are to be conducted in English.

Catholics To Honor Jubilee

Golden Festival of Sisters of Holy Family Will Be Celebrated in S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—The heirarchy of the Catholic church in California, headed by Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, has completed plans for a religious festival to open in San Francisco today in observance of the Golden Jubilee anniversary of the founding here of the Society of the Sisters of the Holy Family. The mother house of the Society was established here November 6, 1872, by the Very Rev. J. J. Prendergast, late vicar general of the archdiocese.

In addition to a civic tribute to the Sisters, arranged by citizens of San Francisco regardless of religious affiliations, the jubilee will include a triduum of pontifical masses in St. Mary's cathedral. Right Rev. Joseph S. Glass, bishop of Salt Lake City, will pontificate a the first of the masses on Saturday. Rev. D. J. Kavanagh, S. J., preaching the sermon. On Sunday, Bishop J. J. Cantwell of Los Angeles will pontificate and Rev. P. C. Yorke, D. D., will preach. The third mass Monday will have Archbishop Edward J. Hanna as pontificant, and Rev. J. W. Sullivan, S. T. D., will preach. Well known priests from all parts of the state will assist in the ceremonies, which are expected to be the most impressive ever conducted by the Catholic church in California.

The citizens' tribute will take the form of a public gathering at the Exposition Auditorium on the afternoon of November 18.

Girl Cornetist, Home From Europe, Plays in Boy's Band

Auction Sale To Swell Club Charity Fund

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Theater tickets, coal, automobiles, pies, gowns, jewels, cakes, pickles, canaries, stools, cats, furniture, china, puppies, photographs, merchandise orders, chickens—these are a few things which will be auctioned off by the Glenview Women's Club at what promises to be the most unique benefit of the pre-holiday season.

Max Horwinski has been recruited to the assistance of the clubwomen and will play the role of auctioneer. Tuesday evening, November 21, is designated as the time for the carnival of fun and finance. Formality and convention will be lost in the friendly spirit which is being born in the upper Park Boulevard district as the year runs close to the Christmas tide.

Men, women and children are swinging into line behind the philanthropic section in boosting for the auction. They are collecting all manner of practical, desirable and laughable merchandise which the entire community will be invited to purchase at the competitive sale.

In the meantime the clubwomen are planning how the profits shall be expended. Santa Claus will be introduced by them to a big party of youngsters who otherwise would be strangers to the kindly old man. A regular feast will first be provided the guests in the Trestle Glen Clubhouse. To make a proper appearance at the party, some of the youngsters will be outfitted in attractive garments and shoes. Every girl and boy for whom Glenview women will care, whose dreams are reaching toward some wonderful gift, will find its realization if it is within the financial power of the hostesses. A system of discovering these wishes was devised by the volunteer philanthropists last year and will be used again this season. In some humble homes the Yuletide feast will be owed to these same club women.

A large treasury will be needed to cover such elaborate planning. Hence the November auction with its merriment. Hence, also, the Turkey whist party which is announced for Thursday evening, November 16. For while Christmas looms large on the horizon out Glenview way, the women have not forgotten that the Thanksgiving brings its special claim. The evening at cards is scheduled to aid in paying the costs of those basket-larders which will be so happily distributed where the greatest need is discovered to help over the harvest-home week.

Mrs. H. J. Platts is president of the Glenview Club. Mrs. L. L. Farrel is chairman of the philanthropic section which will direct the holiday giving and entertaining.

Women are being urged to the polls on Tuesday by the executive board of Alameda district, California Federation of Women's Clubs. Pledged to non-partisan participation in elections, the club leaders are basing their petition to their fellows to exercise the right of franchise on the responsibility which they owe as citizens.

Looms large on the horizon out to use their machines for a part of the day in taking to the election tents women in their neighborhoods who otherwise will be obliged to forfeit their vote. Mrs. George A. Rigg is district president.

Five hundred dollars was added to the scholarship fund maintained by the Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, through the Charity Fete which was held last month in San Francisco. The latest contribution to the fund makes a total of $4000 which is appropriated to the use of students in the University of California.

"Southern Readings" and "The Pioneers, of Virginia" were presented before the chapter members, meeting this week at the Fairmont, by Miss Millicent V. Elston of Norfolk, Va. Southern songs were rendered by Miss V. Darthelds. Mrs. George H. Stovall, historian, read a paper on J. E. B. Stuart.

Mrs. Fred A. Swanberg, president, presided.

Invitations Sent For Bridge Luncheons

Invitations have been issued the past week for a number of bridge luncheons which will be important dates on the social calendar for this month. Mrs. Arthur James McHenry has bidden more than a score of friends to her home on Calmar avenue, in Crocker Highlands, Friday afternoon, November 10. The affair is the first of a series of similar parties planned for the hostess during the pre-holiday period. Mrs. J. Walter Scott will preside as hostess the same date at a smart luncheon at her home in East Oakland, assembling forty guests from both sides of the bay to greet Mrs. Frank Deering, who has just returned from an extended visit abroad. Mrs. Deering was accompanied on her journey by her daughter, Miss Francesca, who will be formally presented to society a few seasons hence.

Mrs. Edward de Lavega will also be a luncheon hostess November 10, her guests to be an intimate group of friends. The de Lavegas have taken the J. J. Valentine home on Perry street for the winter. Mrs. Wickham Havens will give another of a series of luncheons at her home in Clarendon Crescent the afternoon of the 10th. Bridge will be the diversion of the afternoon.

WELCOMED HOME FROM THE EAST.

Mrs. W. R. Van Brunt of Alameda is being welcomed home from a visit in the east, where she went last June to attend the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Constance Van Brunt Lynch, and Thomas Page Smith, which was solemnized in Boston. Mrs. Smith was delightfully feted by her many friends in the bay region preceding her departure in the early summer for her future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stringham have issued invitations for an evening bridge party November 9, when they will entertain at their home in Tanglewood road, Berkeley, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. John D. Fletcher of New York, former residents of Berkeley. Half a hundred guests will be present, many of them members of the Holly branch of the Baby Hospital Association, of which Mrs. Fletcher

Samuel Alswang and Charles Wissing.

Miss Curtaz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar H. Curtaz and Dr. Heacock is the son of the F. T. Heacocks. Miss Dorothy Jordan, daughter of Colonel E. R. Smith, U. S. A., recently entertained for Miss Curtaz at the Presidio. Among the guests were the Mesdames Granville Abbott, Jr., Herbert Schoning, Morris Meyers, Thomas Boyle, Jr., James Cunha, Misses Sue McDonald, Lorene Kinney, Lucille Bruns and Loretta Callaghan.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Borton of Boulevard way were recent hosts at their home to celebrate their thirty-eighth wedding anniversary. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. George Roeth, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Osgood and others. The Bortons entertained as their house guests last month Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Astinal of London, England, and Frederick E. Borton of Cleveland, Ohio. Borton came west to attend the recent bankers' convention at Del Monte.

Farewells will be said next Tuesday to Miss Beatrice Ellsworth, daughter of the Oliver Ellsworths of Piedmont, who is leaving for a visit of eight months abroad. Accompanying Miss Ellsworth will be F. L. Wolfe of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Robertson of Chicago, Ill. The party will join Mrs. F. L. Wolfe and children and Mrs. W. S. Gannon and daughters, the Misses Geraldine and Kathleen, who have been abroad since the early autumn. They plan to tour the continent leisurely and continue around the world to India, China and Japan before returning home.

"Survivor" of Girls' Band Returns Home

By FRANCES MONTGOMERY.

Several years ago, when the boys' band at Lockwood school was organized, there was also started a girls' band. The boys' band is today a prize winning institution. The girls' interest leaned toward other things than trombones and piccolas and their band was short lived.

But there was one girl who held fast. When Sara Vance decided to join the girls' band and learn to play a cornet she meant business and even though the other girls gave up their instruments and study, Sarah persevered and soon discovered that she not only liked the cornet but could play well enough to join the boys' baand.

So now the Lockwood band is not altogether a boys' band for one of the leading cornetists is a girl, and Sarah Vance hold that distinction.

Miss Vance is not yet 18. Besides having had musical instruction for nine years in her own home country she has had the added advantage of study in Germany for the past year and a half. From Coblenz, Germany, where she studied cornet, and Brussels, Belgium, where she attended a finishing school, Miss Vance only recently returned to her home in Oakland to finish her high school course.

"Musical advantages in this country are great and I hope to continue my studies here soon, but living in Germany and Belgium for a time, I could not let the opportunity go by to study with the professors there. My instructor was a member of the symphony orchestra at Coblenz and because he had given up his teaching for the most part when he became a member of the orchestra he charged the same fee as had been his custom before the war. Of course the German mark has lessened so in value that my lessons cost me something like 15 cents for a half hour."

"I did enjoy playing for the soldiers while I was in Germany," smiled Miss Sarah. "Every Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. huts I played for them and twice I played solos with the regimental

TWO-PIANO EVENT PROVES SUCCESS

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.

A most exhilarating piano performance was given on two instruments last evening at the Auditorium Theater by Guy Maier and Lee Pattison. Even your dyed-in-the-wool admirer of the ancients in music, who dotes on Bach and fathoms Brahms, cannot resist the lure of the novel. The promise of a two-piano recital was, therefore, large reason for the theater's being practically filled to capacity by the audience. The conclusion was almost riotous. Their hearers would permit of no interruption. Encore after encore was given at the end. The applause was still roaring behind me as I left.

Be assured there is no vaudeville clap-trap about this two-piano combination. Both men are players of authority, taste and ability. Every number they played was performed with seriousness, with beauty and in interpretation and execution, with a fine devotion to the highest planistic art.

There was not a disappointed pair of ears. The performance was not freakish, but musical in the highest sense. While one marveled at the perfection of the ensemble, it was rather the spirit, the technique, the tone and the musical understanding evidenced throughout a long program that made the chief mark.

The ensemble was, to tell the truth, incomparable. The two instruments were fused into a unit impossible of division. Down to the very pedaling itself—so adriotly arranged as to leave no slightest break in the continuity of tone—it was a marvelous concordance. One's fingers ached at the thought of the countless hours of practice behind this perfection.

The program was widely derived. There was a fantasia and fugue of Bach's to begin; it was classically played, the rhythm as steady and unyielding as a drum-beat, but powerful withal and with the most perfect tone. A Saint-Saen's scherzo was a tour de force in technique. Its speed was positively dazzling. The same composer's variations on a Beethoven theme was given in graceful style.

The modern groups, including compositions by Rachmaninoff, Cascila, two pieces by Arensky (Heavenly stuff!) and Ijinsky were productive of the greatest enthusiasm

"Yes," she added in reply to my question, "there are many Americans in Germany, and a great number of them studying music. I did not meet any girls studying cornet, however. Musical people still hold to the idea that the greatest musical advantages are to be obtained in Germany and undoubtedly the German professors are very fine, and you know, to be able to say one has studied abroad does help."

Although Miss Vance has been graduated from the Lockwood school, she still remains a member of the Lockwood band and looks very chic in her grey and gold uniform.

Tribune Is Thanked For Navy Day Aid

Editor TRIBUNE: As chairman of the California committee on Navy Day, I wish to express to you my appreciation of the very kind publicity which you gave to the efforts of the Navy League.

It is with pleasure that I am able to report the great success of the day, and to assure you that it was partly due to your kind co-operation. Faithfully yours,

Extreme Apathy Mock Trial Charge

What is the extreme penalty for extreme apathy? The question is to be settled once and for all next Monday evening by the members of the Fathers' Club of Fruitvale school.

The alleged apathetic defendant will be Prof. W. E. Gibson, and the mock trial will take place at the Fruitvale School auditorium.

Announcement of the mock trial was made today by Dr. C. A. Wherry, president of the Fathers' club. The presiding judge will be Judge Harry W. Pulcifer. The prosecuting attorney's office will be represented by Attorney Ben B. Jones. A staff of local attorneys will defend the "prisoner," who is, according to the announcement, more or less in the custody of William H. Parker, constable-to-be.

The school auditorium was designated by Judge Pulcifer as the place for holding the trial.

The public is invited.

A musical program will be represented as an additional entertainment feature, and Jay B. Nash, playground director, will speak. Nash's subject will be "The Value

Activities of Eastbay Churches

Drawing Power Of Hospitality, Theme of Talk

"The Unknown Guest," is the subject to be discussed by Rev. Harold Govette, pastor of the Olivet Congregational church in his sermon tomorrow morning.

In discussing this subject, Rev. Govette will speak of the drawing power of hospitality, showing, he says, that it is not only the delightful climate, beautiful scenery or splendid soil that draws thousands of people annually to California, but the hospitality of its people. He states he will also show that there are many unknown people to whom our city, especially our churches, should extend hospitality.

At the evening hour of worship the subject to be discussed by Rev. Govette is: "In Connection With heaven is not so far away, but wishes to show in this talk that Heaven is not so far away, but what their can be found by the man of faith, love and service, a connection through which he may commune with God.

TRUTH CENTER LEADER BRINGS NEW ACTIVITY

Increased activities have marked the return to the Oakland Truth Center of Letitia A. Andrews as leader, who recently returned from a lecture tour of the Eastern states.

A business men's club has been organized. The club meets every Wednesday evening at 1450B Alice street and is conducted by Charles H. Seecomb, a local attorney.

Many social events are being planned for the classes of young people, for the coming holidays.

Mrs. Louise C. Newman of the Unity Center, Kansas City, is at present conducting a class at the library, 1450B Alice street. The regular Sunday morning services, conducted by Mrs. Andrews, are held at the Ebell Auditorium.

A series of four lectures commencing tomorrow evening at Ebell Auditorium will be presented by Robert M. Mills, F. A., of New York City.

COMMUNION FOR BRETHREN WILL START SUNDAY

The quarterly communion services of the First United Brethren Church will be held tomorrow morning in connection with the regular morning worship and sermon. In the evening Rev. Milton Lutz, the pastor, will preach, using as his subject, "Heroes and Cowards Face to Face," in which he states he will answer the question: "Who are the heroes? Who are the cowards? Is it a moral quality or a physical quality?" Three services will be held during the week. Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a meeting of the Echo Park prayer band in charge of Mrs. Kellogg. Wednesday evening at 7:30 prayer services will be held in charge of the pastor, and Friday afternoon at 1:30 there will be a service with Mrs. Keis and Mrs. Weitzas workers.

MISSION BOARD HOLDS MONTHLY MEET MONDAY

The monthly meeting of the Occidental District, Woman's Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, will be held Monday at Calvary Presbyterian Church, Fillmore and Jackson Streets, San Francisco, from 10:30 to 3 o'clock. The speaker of the morning will be Dr. Nathaniel Bercovitz of Kachek, China.

Dr. Bercovitz, who has been spending his furlough in this country, is returning to China in a few weeks, where he is in charge of a hospital which has as its field 375,000 people, it being the one hospital for that number. Miss Florence G. Tyler, executive secretary of the student department of the National Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, will be the luncheon speaker.

The address of the afternoon will be given by Kenneth Saunders, formerly a Y. M. C. A. worker in India, on "The Christian Approach to the Faiths of Asia."

New Program for Christian Church

The new program introduced by the First Christian church last

Pacific School of Religion Head Will Be Speaker

DR. HERMAN F. SWARTZ, president of the Pacific School of Religion, who will deliver morning sermons at the First Congregational Church for the coming three months.

Dr. Herman F. Swartz Will Preach on "The Realities of Religion."

"The Realities in Religion," will be the theme of Dr. Herman F. Swartz at the First Congregational church tomorrow morning. Dr. Swartz was recently installed as president of the Pacific School of Religion. Following the departure of Dr. J. Francis Van Horn to Tacoma, Dr. Swartz has been engaged by the church as morning preacher for the months of November, December and January.

At the evening service, Basil King's photo-drama, "Earthbound," will be shown. This picture deals with the shadowy world beyond the grave, and treats one of the most discussed and debated questions of modern times. Rev. Ralph C. Woddell, the assistant pastor of the church, who is at present acting pastor, will be in charge of the service.

On Monday evening, November 13, Rev. George Phillips will give a lecture at the church on "The Bolshevists of the Bees." This is the first of a series of six entertainments and lectures to be given under the auspices of the Oakland Ministerial Union.

'The World's Bible' To Be Sermon Text

The Lord's Supper and a reception of new members is to be held at the morning services of the First Baptist church of Berkeley tomorrow. "The World's Bible" will be the theme of the sermon to be delivered at this service by Dr. E. A. Hanley, the pastor.

"Conscience," what it is for and how it should be regarded, will be the subject of the alk at the evening service by Dr. Hanley.

Dr. Hanley's class for men will discuss "How Shall We Think of God?" at the meeting in the morning.

Amy L. Stockton Speaks Nightly Before Baptists

Miss Amy Lee Stockton is speaking nightly to large audiences at Tenth Avenue Baptist church. At 7:15 sharp a preliminary service for the training of personal workers is held. At the regular evening service at 7:45, Rev. Walter Fowler of the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School, leads the song service. Monday night he was assisted by the Baraca Glee club and on Tuesday by Tenth Avenue's regular church choir. Tuesday evening the members of Bethany church, with their pastor, Rev. Henderson, were visitors, and Thursday and Friday were Danish-Norwegian and Golden Gate nights.

Children will have a Bible reading and story hour at 3:45 on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons and it is hoped to train the children to sing in a Rainbow chorus for one of the later evening meetings. Friday evening is "Young People's Night," and the churches of the Eastbay region are invited to send their young people to hear Miss Stockton on that night.

"Prayer for Election Day" Is One Subject

Tomorrow evening, at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Dr. John Stephens, the pastor, will preach on the subject, "A Prayer for Election Day."

The sermon subject in the morning will be "The Will to Be Worthy." Following the sermon the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. Special music at both services by the vested choir, under the direction of Bessie Beatty Roland, organist, will be given.

The church night program on Wednesday evening is meeting with success. Mrs. T. H. Hageman conducts a teacher-training class, Rev. L. J. B. Taber a class for the study of the dramatic elements of the Old Testament, while Dr. Stephens is giving a course on "Heart Messages From the Psalms." A special feature of interest will be presented next Wednesday evening.

Episcopals Will Hold Annual Bazaar

St. Augustine's Episcopal church will hold its annual bazaar, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the Parish Hall, Twenty-seventh and West streets.

Lunch will be served each day from 12 to 2 o'clock, and dinner from 5 to 8. A special program will be rendered each night. Booths will consist of Fancy and Apron. Delicatessen, Mystery, Candy and Refreshments.

Election to Be Taken Up At St. Mary's

Apropos of the coming election the subject of the sermons at St. Mary's Catholic church tomorrow will be "Why We Should Vote?" The sermon is to be on the statement: "One of the greatest dangers tha confronts our country is the apathy shown by the average voter on election day."

There will be six services at St. Mary's tomorrow morning, consisting of masses at 6:30, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12:14 o'clock. The 11 o'clock service will be a High Mass with special music by St. Mary's Conservatory choir, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Gregory and Miss Regina Wilkie.

The Sunday evening service will consist of rosary devotions, a sermon by Rev. James J. O'Reilly and benediction.

Hereafter the Sunday evening services will be made a special devotional feature of St. Mary's church. The first Sunday of the month will be given to the rosary and sermon; the second Sunday of the month will be observed in honor of St. Rita. The services on that evening will consist of St. Rita devotions, the reading of intentions and benediction. The sermon time on the second and fourth Sunday evenings will be devoted to the answering of questions of a religious character that may have been placed in the query box during the interim. The third Sunday of each month will be conducted in honor of St. Anthony and will consist of St. Anthony devotions, sermon and benediction. The fourth Sunday will commemorate St. Anne, the mother of Mary. The evening services on the fourth Sunday will consist of special devotions to St. Anne, the answering of questions from the query box and benediction. When a fifth Sunday falls to a month, which does occur four or five times a year, a special lecture on some topic of Christianity will be the leading features of the evening services.

Officers Chosen by Red Triangle Club

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Red Triangle club of the Y. M. C. A. was held at the Association building in Oakland Monday evening. Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: R. H. Mouser, president; William H. Groat, first vice-president; Harold Morris, second vice-president; Mrs. I. N. Henderson, secretary; J. B. Marks, treasurer. The club is composed of those who went overseas, or served in the work under the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A.

HAWAIIAN TUNES TO FORM CONCERT PROGRAM TONIGHT

Trio of Well-Known Players Engaged to Entertain Radio Fans

The program of entertainment to be broadcast tonight from The TRIBUNE'S radio station, KLX, between 7 and 7:30 o'clock will be by the Hawaiian Knights, probably the best known Hawaiian instrumentalists on the Pacific coast. Radio fans will remember the Hawaiian Knights from concerts broadcast several months ago by them from the old Rockridge station.

The trio, which has played many theater circuits over the entire west, is composed of Jack Perry, Louis Margie and Joseph Peacock. They are best known on the Bert Levy circuits, which includes many Pacific coast theaters.

The Hawaiian Knights will leave tomorrow for the south. They were scheduled to broadcast from KLX next week, but due to their pending departure, the schedule was changed to give the radio audience an opportunity to hear some old favorites.

Their program for this evening will be found on this page.

LESSON NO. 203.
Impedance Coupling in Multi-Stage Amplifiers.

(All Rights Reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction Prohibited.)

In multi-stage amplifiers employing the vacuum tube and its associated apparatus, as a means of magnifying the incoming radio signal, there are several methods of coupling in general use. Coupling between the various stages of amplification may be secured through the use of voltage amplifying transformers, condensers, resistances or "choke coils." Of these methods, "transformer coupling" is more commonly used, one reason being that the transformer windings may be so designed as to permit a considerable increase in the voltage variations of the received signal. Any of the other methods employing condensers, high resistances and impedance of "choke coils" may also be used as intervalve couplings for the purpose of transferring the amplified energy between stages.

The accompanying diagram shows the connections of a receiving circuit employing a detector and two stages of impedance coupled audio-frequency amplification. The radio signal after being impressed upon the antenna circuit, containing the variable elements (L) and (C-4), is inductively transferred to the tuned secondary circuit (L-1 (C-3), and rectified by the detector tube (D) into waves of audio-frequency. The voltage variations of the grid cause variations of greater magnitude in the plate circuit which includes the plate, the impedance coil (L-1) and a portion of the plate of "B" battery. The rapid voltage variations in the plate circuit pass through the condenser (C-1) and are impressed in turn upon the grid of the amplifier tube (A-1). The condenser (C-1 although permitting the passage of the comparatively high frequency voltages variations of the plate circuit, effectually prevents the steady voltage of the plate circuit from affecting the grid of the amplifier tube (A-1). The increased voltage variations on the grid of this tube cause still greater variations in the voltage of the plate circuit, this circuit including the plate, the choke coil (L-12) and a larger portion of the "B" battery. In a similar manner to the preceding stage the high frequency voltage variations pass through the condensers (C-2) and produce amplified voltage variations on the grid of amplifier tube (A-2). In the plate circuit of (A-2) is inserted the receiving telephones and the voltage variations resulting from the two stages of amplification act upon the telephones and produce greatly magnified sounds of music or the human voice.

The impedance coils (L-1) and (L-2) each consist of a great number of turns of wire wound upon an iron core. Although a coil of this type offers only a small resistance to the flow of plate current, the choking effect which it presents to the rapid voltage variations prevents their passage through the coil and consequently causes them to be transferred to the grid of the succeeding tube.

Unlike the resistance method of interstage coupling this impedance method does not require other than a normal plate battery, due to the low resistance offered by the coils. With resistance coupling the loss in voltage through the high resistance in the plate circuit necessitates the use of a plate battery having a voltage from two to four times in excess of the normal value.

It will be noted that in the two stages of amplification a grid bias or "C" battery of low voltage is used with the negative terminal connected to the grid. By impressing a small negative voltage on the grid amplification is accomplished without distortion by operating the tube at a desirable point on the characteristic curve. This biasing potential may also be obtained by connecting a resistance of 200 to 300 ohms across the filament circuit and connecting the grid to the resistance by means of an adjustable contact, thus providing a variable means of obtaining the proper negative grid potential.

REPORT UPON WAR ON RATS ORDERED

In reply to a request from Dr. Harry Foster, Oakland city health officer, the California State Board of Health has promised to send an expert to Oakland shortly to make a survey of the old buildings in the downtown district, especially in the market district, to ascertain the cost of rat-proofing each of the many old structures in the neighborhood.

Just what will be done with the final survey is unknown, according to Dr. Foster. It is admitted that if it costs $1000 to ratproof a $300 shanty, the proposition is impossible from a business standpoint; and yet all health authorities agree that old buildings are breeding-places for rats, and rats spread disease.

"The recent ordinance which sounds the death-knell of old shacks in the downtown district helps somewhat to solve the problem," says Dr. Foster, "but as the ordinance is merely intended to eliminate the structures in 15 or 20 years, it does not vitally affect the rat question.

"The final report will be watched with interest by all health authorities here, for it will give us an index as to what improvements are possible and what are not."

Social Worker Wins Secretarial Post

Miss Anita Eldridge has received appointment as executive secretary of the California Conference of Social Work. Miss Eldridge has been connected with the state board of charities and corrections as chief agent and acting secretary. During the war period she organized home service sections for the American Red Cross. More recently she was organizer and director of publicity for the Monmouth County (New Jersey) Organization for Social Service.

The California Conference of Social Work has established headquarters at 136 O'Farrell street, San Francisco. Preliminary plans for the fifteenth annual meeting, which will be held in Yosemite Valley May 22-25, are being made. Miss Lucy Ward Stebbins, dean of women in the University of California, is chairman of the general program committee.

I. Irving Lipsitch, San Francisco, is the conference president.

Extensive Building Boom Hits Tokyo

TOKYO, Nov. 4.—Although Japan is suffering from economic and trade depression, Tokyo is now undergoing an era of extensive building construction. Several large business buildings are under way in Marunouchi, the big business center situated between the Imperial Theater and the Tokyo station, facing the Imperial Palace. Scores of residences in foreign style also are being built all over the city and suburbs. The new Imperial Hotel is almost completed and another handsome building, the Palace Hotel, is a four-story structure in native white stone trimmed in marble and quartz.

DEATH CALLS OLD PIONEER

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—E. P. Brady, who arrived here when San Francisco consisted of a small collection of wooden shacks in the midst of the sand dunes, is dead at his home, 745 Arguello boulevard. Death occurred yesterday after an illness of several months. Brady was 81 years old.

Brady, who was well known in coast shipping and railroad circles, was born in Melbourne, Australia, and came to San Francisco in 1849, when he was seven years old. He worked on Sacramento river boats during the gold rush of '49, and later became a sea captain. In 1890 he joined the Southern Pacific company and retired on a pension fifteen years ago.

WILHELM'S BRIDE BELIEVED MORE SUITABLE MATE

Characters of Princess Hermine and First Wife Contrast; Pomp Attracts.

(By Associated Press)

THE HAGUE, No. 4.—Gossip in Germany has it that the marriage tomorrow of former Emperor William of Germany and Princess Hermine of Reuss augurs a far more wise and workable union than that between William and his first wife, Princess Augusta Victoria, which took place in February, 1881, and terminated just forty years and two months later, when she died an exile from her beloved Potsdam.

There are many who are able to see much in common between the ex-emperor and his bride-to-be, despite the difference in their ages, while back in 1881, when the whole German empire was in festive attire to celebrate the marriage of its heir apparent, even the most optimistic were compelled to admit that the two royal scions could not have been farther apart had they been of different worlds.

Princess Augusta was shy, trustful, essentially feminine, a lover of her home, and with no sympathy for pomp and ceremony. For more than twelve years of her married life she was a semi-invalid.

COUPLE CONTRASTED.

The bridegroom, on the other hand, was already feverishly active and possessed of insatiable ambition. He loved display, never tired of arraying himself in gaudy uniforms, and was happy only when he could play a leading part before the whole world. These were the differences that the world at large saw. Those who were intimate with either or both of the principals, however, knew that the private order of their lives was even farther from agreement.

In matters pertaining to love and marriage, Prince William had his own ideas, which he lived up to with almost noisy scrupulousness. He believed, first and always, that a man, whether he be exalted or not, should choose his wife as she would her gown—for qualities that would wear well. Intellectual strength or brilliancy, emotional rigor, and pronounced character were not among the qualities he looked for in a wife.

Fortunately, it was many years after her married life began before Princess Augusta had any important roles to perform, thus she managed to continue with her simple habits without provoking unfriendly comment. She had no experience with court life and knew little if anything about cities, therefore it was years before she mastered the details of her royal status.

FIRST WIFE PRAISED.

Yet with all their disparity of temperaments, those who had predicted an unhappy union for the Crown Prince were forced, as the years wore on, to admit that their judgment had played them false. Never were there any well founded rumors of a separation, or even of disagreement. The political wiseacres, who usually are able to assign a reason for all royal utterances or actions, were hopelessly at sea when one day William issued a statement characterizing Empress Augusta as "a precious pearl, the type of all the virtues of a Germanic princess. To her I owe it that I am able to tackle and perform in a cheerful spirit the difficult duties of my position."

Docile and uninterested in affairs of state, Empress Augusta nevertheless was supreme within the palace walls. The accounts, the orders, the supplies, the arrangement of the bill of fare, and the management of her seven children were under her immediate supervision. Once the Emperor told one of his officers that he wanted the young princes to learn how to paddle a canoe. When the officer mentioned this to the Empress, she refused to hear of them taking such risks.

ORDERS IGNORED.

"But the Kaiser has already given the order," said the officer.

"That may be as you say," she replied, smiling, "he is the Kaiser of Germany, but I am the Kaiser of the nursery."

Princess Hermine, on the other hand, is understood to enjoy and respect all the royal traditions which Princess Augusta abhorred. While she is hardly known beyond the German borders, and seldom if ever was mentioned, even in the newspapers of Germany, before her engagement to the ex-Emperor was announced, still there are many households in Central Europe which profess to have an intimate knowledge of her character, and in these the preponderance of opinion is that she has all the qualities to make her a valuable helpmeet to the Imperial Exile a Doorn.

Tragedy of Ancient House Behind Princess Hermine

(By Associated Press)

THE HAGUE, Nov. 4.—Princess Hermine of Reuss, almost unknown even in her native Germany two months ago, today is one of the most conspicuous women in Europe, for tomorrow she will repeat the words that are to unite her life to that of the former German emperor, William Hohenzollern, and which also will make her "Queen of Prussia"—empty though the title be.

The new chapter in Princess Hermine's life constitutes her second matrimonial venture, and comes after she has struggled for more than twenty years through the vale of sadness and misfortune that has persued her unhappy family. But as most of this ill luck began when political differences arose between the House of Reuss and the government of ex-Emperor William, there are many in Germany today who, perhaps governed a mite by superstition in their reasoning, believ that the marriage will break the long spell of misfortune, and that hereafter the Reuss household will be in the ascendency.

Political troubles, however, have not been the only clouds hovering above the ancient Reuss manor. Financial reverses, deception, blasted romances and insanity have been familiar shadows to the five daughters and one son that graced the hearth of Prince Henry of Reuss—an eccentric autocrat who died when Princess Hermine was still in her cradle.

ALL NAMED HENRY.

The house of Reuss is composed of two branches—the elder and the younger line, and all the princes have been named Henry for the past 860 years. In the elder line this has gone on unbroken to the present heir, Prince Henry XXIV; but in the younger branch the sons have been so numerous that a special rule was made to begin a new series of numbers every hundred years. Even this has had its drawbacks, for the eighteenth century produced exactly seventy-four Henrys, and the following hundred years gave fifty more of them to the world.

The father of Princess Hermine carried his autocracy to such an extreme that he would not allow a house to be erected in his capital or a tree to be cut down without his official sanction. When any of the little school children were to be spanked, he insisted upon doing it himself, holding that as he was the father of his country, he alone was qualified for the task.

His gloomy palace at Greiz was devoid of every modern comfort, for the old prince believed it would be a sacrilege to change anything that had been good enough for his ancestors. There was no running water, no bathtubs, and no sanitary equipment of any kind, while the cooking was done in kitchens so far away from the dining room that the dishes arrived on the table stone cold, with their contents uneatable.

While the old prince was usually so busy with what he believed to be "affairs of state" that he had little if any time left for his daughters, he was, nevertheless, deeply affected by the tragedy of his infant son, brother of Princess Hermine.

SON'S TRAGIC FATE.

The child, despite the fact that he was deaf and dumb, was idolized by his mother, Princess Ida of Schaumburg-Lippe, and when it was decided that he should undergo an operation to correct some defect of the eyes, she insisted upon holding him on her knees while the surgeons worked. At the most critical moment of the operation, however, she suddenly recoiled in terror and thrust the boy's head forward in such a manner that the surgeon's lancet was driven deep into the eye and on into the brain. He has been completely blind and an imbecile from that moment.

Princess Ida, overcome with remorse, died soon afterward, while the father was so sensitive regarding the affliction of his only son that he decreed against any mention being made of it, and even prohibited the churches from offering special prayers for his recovery. The Prince and later his daughters traveled over Europe seeking specialists who could restore the boy's mind, but none ever was found who would undertake the delicate operation.

He is still alive and still insane. His one amusement is the theater, where he has a special box to screen him from the public gaze. He sees nothing and it is said that he understands nothing of what is taking place upon the stage, yet he insists upon being taken to the theater every day, whether there is a play running or not.

DAUGHTERS MARRIED.

The five daughters of Prince Henry married in quick succession following the death of their father, two of them becoming the wives of Austrian counts. Princess Hermine received her first proposal of marriage when she was 18. It seems that she had volunteered to act as peacemaker in the ruffled domestic affairs of her sister, Princess Carolina, who had married the Grand Duke William Ernest of Saxe-Weimer, but hardly had a reconciliation been effected when Carolina died and the Grand Duke found that he was in love with the intercessor. Hermine consente dto marry him on condition that he dismiss a certain majordomo from his staff—a man whom she disliked intensely—but the Duke refused her request at the match fell through.

Two years later she married Prince von Schoenaich-Carolath, an officer of the Uhlan Guards, who died a few years later. The Princess had five children by that marriage, the eldest of whom is 15. She had intended taking them to Doorn to reside with her in her new home, but arrangements have since been made to have them live in a specially built house outside the ex-Emperor's estate. This step was taken in deference to the wishes of William's own children.

The meeting between ex-Emperor William and the Princess occurred more than a year ago, and came about through ratehr unusual circumstances. It seems that her young son wrote a letter of condolence to Doorn following the death of the former Empress. The reply was written by William and addressed to the boy's mother, and thus their correspondence began. Some months later they were asked to visit the former monarch, and it is said that three days after Princess Hermine arrived at Doorn she had consented to become the wife of the famous exile.

She is 35 years of age, tall, and of truly regal bearing. Many there are who declare that she still possesses much of that beauty for which, as a girl, she was noted throughout southern Germany.

HARRY HAMMOND CANVASS SHOWS VEALE IN LEAD

By HARRY HAMMOND

BYRON, Nov. 4.—In the hottest contest ever waged in Contra Costa county, the fight for sheriff between the incumbent, R. R. Veale, and Tony Reggiardo, is practically closed. The battle has been bitterly fought by both sides.

So intense is the interest taken that the Byron Times sent out more than 100 special letters to prominent residents throughout the county is an effort to arrive at a fairly accurate forecast of the result next Tuesday.

In each case the inquiry requested that an under-estimate rather than an over-estimate was desired, and that the facts as thy existed were the only ones wanted. It was explained that the information would be kept secret as to names, and that the result would be given regardless of whom the figures favored.

Here is the tabulation by towns, with the exception of Richmond, where all reports agree Veale will have a majority of from 400 to 500.

If the final count in the districts mentioned is anywhere near the figures given here, Sheriff Veale will be re-elected.

Starting with the extreme eastern end of the county, Byron will give Veale a majority in the two precincts of 75. The registered vote here is 441. In the primary Veale carried Byron by 57 majority over Reggiardo, Nixon receiving 62 votes. The primary vote was 325. In the calculation the Nixon vote is split 50-50.

Knightsen will probably prove the banner Veale precinct. Here a majority for Veale is confidently counted at 100. The registration is 195. At the primary Veale received 101 against Reggiardo 25 and Nixon 13.

Oakley will remain loyal to the sheriff and will give him a majority of approximately 25.

Antioch will come to the aid of Veale by a majority of at least 200. One estimate is 250. There are few Reggiardo voters there.

Pittsburg will continue in the Veale column, despite reports to the contrary, and he will carry the town by a majority close to 100.

This completes Eastern Contra Costa and the t tal majority for Veale is thus placed at 525.

Martinez and Alhambra will give a majority for Reggiardo of at least 150, and Pacheco is also in the Reggiardo column.

Concord may proves to be closer than some figure. The town is for Reggiardo, but by not more than 75 majority. One estimate is 100, others 50 to 65.

Alamo and Danville are also for Veale, as is Moraga. In the latter precinct Veale is given 50 out of 75 votes to be cast. L fayette is for Veale.

Clayton will cast a majority for Reggiardo.

Crockett and Valona are strong for Reggiardo, estimates running as high as 200 majority.

Pinole estimates varyied, but the result will be very close, with Veale leading.

Rodeo is for Veale, despite contrary claims. San Pablo is for Reggiardo. Hercules is about 50-50.

It is thus shown that Eastern Contra Costa will give Veale 525 majority and the other poi s mentioned something like 600 majority for Reggiardo.

Thus each candidate will enter Richmond and El Cerrito neck and neck.

The candidate that carries Richmond will be elected, and every estimate furnished this newspaper is that Sheriff Veale will win the city, some figures running as high as 1000. A conservative estimate would be 500.

A recapitulation shows that Veale will be returned to office by a majority of 500, out of a possible vote of 15,000. This forcibly demonstrates the closeness of the contest.

In all the reckoning Reggiardo has been given a 50-50 split on the Nixon vote, in order t be absolutely fair, but it is well known that in some of the precincts the Nixon vote will go to Veale by 90 per cent.

While the estimate of the Byron Times poll is that Veale will be victor by a majority of 500, it would not surprise his friends if the count showed an triumphant by 1000 majority.

ALIENISTS WILL TAKE STAND IN HAMMER MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4. — Attorneys for Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with the murder of Mrs. Alberta Tremaine Meadows, beaten to death with a hammer, were busy today preparing for the introduction Monday of testimony of alienists in support of the insanity defense. No session of the trial was held today.

Bertram Herrington, chief defense attorney, announced that with the exception of the alienists' testimony, his case was completed and that he expected to rest some time Monday.

Mrs. Phillips, under cross-examination, stuck to her story told under direct examination, that Mrs. Meadows had admitted an intimacy with the defendant's husband, Armour L. Phillips, and that it was Mrs. Peggy Caffee, former chorus girl chum of Mrs. Phillips, and not the defendant, who attacked Mrs. Meadows with a hammer.

Mrs. Caffee is the state's star witness. She testified she saw Mrs. Phillips strike Mrs. Meadows repeatedly with a hammer.

Two Injared in Bike, Motorcycle Crash

NAPA, Nov. 4.—Traffic Officer Ramon Asedo and Louis Kneif of this city are confined at the Napa general hospital, suffering from painful injuries as a result of a motorcycle and bicycle crash at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Spencer street shortly after dusk Wednesday.

Kneif is the more seriously hurt. His left knee is fractured and he received a gash in the top of his head which required four stitches to close. Asedo's nose was broken and his face bruised. When reached by Newton Clarkson, night watchman at the new high school, Asedo was unconscious and barely breathing and Clarkson worked over him frantically for several minutes before he succeeded in restoring respiration.

Company Sued by Former Employee

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 4.—Santa Cruz Portland cement dust figured yesterday in a hearing before W. W. Britton, sitting as referee of the state railroad commission.

The hearing was held at the city hall and was over the application for industrial compensation for John Forasi against the Santa Cruz Portland Cement company.

Forasi alleges that he contracted bronchial pneumonia in April, 1921, by reason of inhaling cement dust while employed at Davenport, and was ill with it for over a year, and later it developed into chronic empyemo.

If it is found that the disease was caused by special exposure to the conditions that could produce it, the man will be entitled to compensation for industrial injuries.

Tax Collector Visits Livermore District

LIVERMORE, Nov. 4.—Edward T. Planer, tax collector of Alameda county, was in Livermore yesterday, making tax collections at the First National Bank.

Centerville Packing House Closes Run

CENTERVILLE, Nov. 4.—The newly erected packing house here has closed its first season's run. Operations closed on tomatoes because it was feared that the recent frosts would endanger the quality of the product, according to Superintendent Fuel of the plant.

That the tomatoes inthis locality have been injured very little is the common belief among local growers. Shipments are still being made to local retailers.

Plans have been suggested to enlarge the packing house by next summer, according to J. A. Coney, sponsor for the project.

It is believed by members of the local Chamber of Commerce that an additional amount of space could be easily rented next season. On extra fifty feet of space adjoining the plant is ready for the extension.

ANDRADE TRIAL RESUMES MONDAY

The tria lof Jesse Andrade, former paying and vault teller of the Oakland branch of the Bank of Italy, will be resumed Monday morning before a jury in Superior Judge L. S. Church's court.

Cross examination of A. P. Schlichter, former chief clerk of the Oakland branch of the Bank of Italy, was begun yesterday afternoon just prior to the adjournment of the trial.

RECORDS IDENTIFIED.

Schlichter previously had identified several sheets of bank records, many of them made in the handwriting of the defendant, he testified. The sheets had to do with the bank business on the day on which it is claimed by the prosecution that Andrade showed in his accounts shipments of cash to the parent bank and the Federal Reserve Bank, which he did not make. Schlichter's direct examination was conducted by Chief Deputy District Attorney Earl Warren and Deputy District Attorney Ralph Hoyt.

Under the questions of Attorneys Peter Crosby and George Naus, of defense counsel, Schlichter admitted that he had been summoned to the head office of the bank on a day during last July, following the Andrade expose, and that he had left the employ of the bank on that day. He testified that since that time he had been engaged in mining in Nevada and stated, over the objections of the prosecution, that he was interested in these mines during the time that he was employed in the bank.

GRAPE CROP HIT BY PROHIBITION AND CAR FAMINE

TURLOCK, Nov. 4.—Advices received here by shipping concerns state that grapes arriving on the eastern seaboard are leaky, mouldy and in a general bad condition. This state of affairs is attributed to the bad transportation. The roads are now hurrying belated consignments on to the eastern markets and there is said to be extreme congestion, with a resultant dead market.

Another factor contributing to the dullness of the eastern sales is said to be a decided apathy on the part of wine loving home brewers of the larger centers to undertake the transference of the grape into juice on account of the activities of the revenue officers. Many jobbers therefore are finding that their orders are being left on their hands, or else they are selling at a loss, according to advices received here from the east.

The confiscations and arrests for illicit possession of liquor have received wide publicity through the dialect press and the usual customers for the California wine grapes are found to be wanting when the shipments arrive in the east.

The greatest loss to the growers of this portion of the San Joaquin valley will be through the inability of the railroads to transport the grapes, hundreds of tons of which are still on the vines, and the frosty season right here. Already there have been two frosts, not too severe, but nevertheless harmful, and a warning of others to come with greater severity. Most of the grapes remaining here are Malagas, and the growers of that species will be heavy losers this year. Many of the growers have been attempting to dry the fruit by natural means, but the last waning sun has lost its force, and artificial heat now is necessary for the drying process. As there are no cars to transport the grapes to the drying points the growers will necessarily suffer a very heavy loss, running into thousands of dollars collectively.

EMPLOYEE TRANSFERRED

IRVINGTON, Nov. 4.—C. W. Arnold, connected with the Irvington station of the Southern Pacific recently, has been transfered to the Sixteenth street station in Oakland.

STATE SCHOOLS NEED $6,256,000 MORE, IS PLEA

Increase in Funds to Meet Growth to Be Sought in Next Budget Legislation.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 4.—An increase of $6,256,000 in funds for the maintenance and support of elementary and high schools of California for the coming biennium will be requested of the State Board of Control in preparing the new State budget to be presented at the next session of the legislature, Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction, announced yesterday. The budget for the schools providing for the increase will be presented at a hearing before the board next week.

Budget requirements for the elementary schools as given by Wood total $30,520,410, as compared to $26,659,410 for the last biennium, and $8,504,820 for the high schools, as compared with $6,109,470 in the last budget. This is an increase of $3,861,000 in the elementary schools and $2,395,350 in the high schools.

The increase is made necessary by the tremendous increase in enrollment in the schools, and is based on constitutional requirements under which school funds are apportioned, according to average daily attendance, Wood said.

The last budget was prepared in 1920. The estimated enrollment prepared by the department of the elementary schools in 1924 is 525,875, as compared to 429,316 in 1920. In the high schools it is estimated at 153,451 in 1924, as compared with 93,443 in 1920.

Sharp increases in the budgets of the State teachers' colleges for the coming biennium will also be necessary, owing to increased enrollment, according to A. R. Heron, deputy director of education. In the last two years enrollment in several of these institutions has more than doubled, he said.

C. of C. Names Heads For Expansion Drive

HAYWARD, Nov. 4.—Leaders in the Chamber of Commerce expansion campaign which is to start here Wednesday were named this morning by the executive committee. Two competing teams, one composed of business men and the other of residential district representatives, have been formed. Oscar Brauns will head the business men and W. S. Freeman the residential team. Eleven squad captains have been named for each team.

According to statistics made public today by E. A. Hey, president of the chamber, the chamber has so far this year spent $6486.90 on community enterprises. From this expenditure it has realized tangible assets $1320, including money advanced to the Eden Township Farm Products show which has been returned and money realized from the Hayward auto camp.

M. A. W. Lee, secretary of the chamber, has been chosen as director for the coming campaign.

Twenty Years Given For Child Stealing

MODESTO, Nov. 4. — Twenty years in prison is the sentence for George Scott, convicted in Stanislaus county of child stealing in May, 1921, according to information received from the state board of prison directors.

Scott has been transferred from San Quentin to Folsom prison. Scott, who is 44 years old, was arrested by a posse of Newman citizens about five miles from Newman, where he had taken Edward, 8, and Bernice Cornwell, 7, children of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Cornwell. Scott had sent the little boy away when the posse found them.

The defense of Scott was that he had been drinking jackass brandy.

Irvington Men Plan to Form Boys Clubs

IRVINGTON, Nov. 4. — Two boys' clubs for Irvington youths are being organized by Rev. Haight, pastor of the Community church and V. F. Hall, principal of the school. Present plans are to have a large boys and a small boys club both of which will be given instruction handling tools as well as organized supervision of games and social events.

An estimate made by Principal Hall recently placed the number of the large boys that would probably join at 16; while the other club will have about 25. As soon as the new school here is complete manuel instruction in the clubs will probably be held in the building while it is expected to use the church grounds for the socials.

Masonic Officers of Hayward at Meeting

HAYWARD, Nov. 4.—Officers of the Hayward Masonic lodge attended the lodge of instruction held at Pleasanton last night under the direction of C. D. Baker, grand lecturer for the grand lodge of California. Herman Bernett, worshipful master; R. C. Kennedy, senior warden; Max Hegan, junior warden; J. L. Wilbur, senior deacon, and Hugo Frank, junior deacon, were among those who attended from here.

THREE CONCERNS SEEK CARQUINEZ BRIDGE RIGHTS

MARTINEZ, Nov. 4. — Contra Costa and Solano counties are destined for the greatest growth in their history with the completion of the bridge across Carquinez Straits according to Dr. J. J. Hogan, chairman of the "Three Counties Bridge Committee," who has been active in arousing public opinion by forcing the bridge issue to an early conclusion.

Three different companies will make application for a franchise to construct and operate a toll bridge across Carquinez Straits before the Contra Costa county supervisors on Monday, November 6. The San Francisco Transit Company was the first applicant, the Dillon Point Development Company the second, and the Rodeo-Vallejo Ferry Company the third.

Engineers and surveyors representing all companies who are to make applicatio for the franchise have been on the ground for the last month. The supervisors have investigated both sites, but their conclusions have been kept to themselves.

Modesto High Team Wins Debate Contest

MODESTO, Nov. 4.—The debating team of the Modesto high school won from a team representing the Sacramento high school in the first contest by the Central California Debating League composed of high schools here last night. The question debated was whether or not California should support the water and power act at the coming election. The Modesto team supported the affirmative side of the question.

Men's Club to Hold Dinner and Meeting

CENTERVILLE, Nov. 4.—A meeting of the Men's club of Saint James' church is scheduled for Wednesday evening at the E. A. Nelson home. A dinner, given by J. P. Robinson, of Irvington, and Nelson, will precede, it is announced.

Over 100 attended the party given by the men's club. Dancing, cards and refreshments were on the program for the evening.

Farm Center Holds Longfellow Evening

CLAYTON, Nov. 4.—Under the title of "An Evening With the Poet Longfellow," an interesting program was presented at the "corn carnival" recently. Songs, recitations and tableaux from the works of the poet showed an appreciation of his writings. The program was followed by a large audience. Dances by June and Miriam Gregory of Oakland were given. The affair was given by Concord Center of the farm bureau at the clubhouse.

All Modesto Deputies But Two Get Salaries

MODESTO, Nov. 4.—Salaries of all deputies but two in the Stanislaus county offices were paid today on advice of District Attorney W. J. Brown after they had been held up since the first of the month as a result of the supreme court decision on the county government act.

The status of Deputy Sheriff W. L. Saxby and Miss Kitty Thompson, clerk in the justice court, is uncertain. Both of them are employed by the board of supervisors under the act of the legislature granting supervisers power to take care of emergencies. It was this act that was attacked by the supreme court decision.

C. of C. at Sunnyvale Votes Against Act

SUNNYVALE, Nov. 4.—The Sunnyvale Chamber of Commerce has voted unanimously against the proposed California water and power act which will be on the ballot at next Tuesday's election. The opposition to the act was voted at a recent meeting after a representative of he Southern Pacific Company had addressed the Chamber of Commerce members.

Hayward Auxiliary Plans for Food Sale

HAYWARD, Nov. 4.—Arrangements for a cooked food sale to be held by the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion November 7, as a means of raising funds for Christmas boxes for wounded soldiers and soldier families were made at last night's meeting of the auxiliary. The sale will be held in the new Frank electric store.

Details of the part which the auxiliary is to play in the coming Armistice day celebration were discussed. The auxiliary will participate in the parade which is to open the celebration, and will help the local American Legion in serving a free dinner.

Plans for Irvington Bazaar Progressing

IRVINGTON, Nov. 4.—Plans for a bazaar to be given by the ladies of the Irvington Community church are progressing, according to Mrs. M. Knudsen, president of the guild and in charge of the bazaar.

Donations for the fair, which is to be held December 2, are being received from all the ladies interested in the church. Fancy goods and other items suitable for Christmas gifts will be on sale, the ladies plan.

Money raised by the fair will go into the guild treasury to be used for general purposes.

Election Proposals Studied at Churches

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 4.—The constitutional amendments have been studied this week at the churches especially so as to give the people an opportunity to vote intelligently upon them Tuesday. Thursday night a meeting was called at the First Methodist church by the president of the brotherhood, C. D. Hickle, and at the Advent Christian church an attorney, Lewis Collins, adressed the people. Collins earlier in the week was the leader of a discussion at the Live Oak club.

On Wednesday night the amendments were taken up at the Congregational prayer meeting, and at all the farm bureau centers they have been discussed.

Given Two Years To Remember Child

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Louis Wallach, a butter and egg dealer of New York, is beginning a two-year sentence in jail, following child desertion. On Wallach's own admission, his income from business in New York amounted to $200 a week. During the past eight years local charitable organizations expended $3000 for the support of his deserted family. The sentence was imposed yesterday by Judge Warren Tyson.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

To the Voters of
Alameda County:

In accord with the Assessors of practically all the principal Counties of the State, I have carefully considered Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 31—known as No. 14 on the ballot—to be voted upon on November 7th, providing for taxation of FOREIGN notes, stocks, bonds and mortgages. I heartily concur in its provisions and recommend its support at the election, as its passage will result in increased revenue to this County.

Approved also by the Assessors of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Contra Costa, Fresno, Kern, Monterey, Riverside, Santa Barbara, Sacramento, San Diego and 26 other Counties.

L. J. Kennedy,
County Assessor of
Alameda County.

NEW REVOLUTION STARTS IN ISLE OF AEGEN SEA

Inhabitants of Samos Demanding Severance From Rule of Greek King.

PARIS, Nov. 4 (By the Associated Press).—An insurrection has broken out on the island of Samos, off the Smyrna coast of Asia Minor, according to advices received here, the rebels demanding an autonomous government for the island. Greek troops have been called out to suppress the outbreak.

ATHENS, Nov. 4.—Greek troops today were despatched to the island of Samos to quell a revolt. Residents of this Greek island are demanding autonomy.

SULTAN OF TURKEY REFUSES TO ABDICATE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 4.—Sultan Mohammed VI today had refused to obey the resolution adopted by the Turkish Nationalist assembly at Angora deposing him and abolishing the office entirely. It was believed generally that, in view of the hostility of the Turkish Nationalists, Mohammed VI would abdicate.

The heir-apparent, Abdul Medjid Effendi, cousin of the sultan, and other members of the imperial family conferred last night at the Dombagsche Palace. They gave particular attention to the decision of the National Assembly that hereafter the choice of the Caliph is to be that member of the imperial family who is the best instructed, the best educated, the most honest and the wisest. All of the imperial conferees decided that none of them would accept the throne if stripped of temporal power. Officials in high palace circles were particularly angry at the resolution in which the Grand National Assembly declared that the palace of the Sublime Porte had passed into history, because, "through corrupt ignoraance for several centuries it provoked numerous ills for the country."

The action at Angora split the Constantinople cabinet. The majority favors surrender because of the nationalist charge of treason against the sultan. Shortly after the news came from Angora, Tewfik Bey resigned as minister of finance in the Sultan's cabinet and Said Bey gave up his post as minister of public instruction.

The dissenting ministers were excluded from the conference in the palace, which was attended by the ministers of interior, foreign affairs, and marine, and the grand vizier.

After the conference, all the ministers kissed the hand of the sultan, the sultan drove to a mosque in the imperial coach and performed his usual devotions. A large congregation was present as a result of rumors that he would resign. His Majesty was struck by the sight of a large number of foreigners within the mosque. Photographers availed themselves of a possible last chance to see the sultan. In his facial expression there was no sign that he had relinquished his throne.

ROME, Nov. 4 (By International News Service).—Premier Mussolini has concluded an agreement with Mustapha Kemal Pasha by which Italian labor would be used in the rebuilding of Smyrna, it was announced today. Smyrna was burned just as the Turks entered the city after the wild flight of the Greek army across Anatolia.

PALERMO, Italy, Nov. 4.—Former King Constantine of Greece, who is now an exile, arrived here today.

Escaping Gas Menaces Thirty In Apartments

BERKELEY, Nov. 4.—Thirty people narrowly escaped asphyxiation in the Ridgeway Apartments, 1930 Center street, this morning when the wind blew out the flames of a furnace, leaving gas escaping throughout the [illegible].

A passerby discerned the fumes at 6 o'clock this morning, aroused sleeping occupants of the apartment building and summoned the police and fire departments.

Sergeant Frank Swain of the police department and Officer Kenneth Taylor, aided by firemen, forced their way through a window in the basement of the building and reached the furnace with considerable difficulty. They found all jets turned on and large quantities of gas escaping into the building. Had the gas continued to escape for much longer it is declared that practically all of the sleepers in the house would have been overcome.

Last Pow-Wow

Centuries ago the Indians congregated on this high knoll to have their pow-wow; there they would build a great beacon fire where all in the Bay District could see it. Next Saturday evening will mark the passing of this great tract of land, for the following morning the sun will shine on the East Bay's newest subdivision, the second and last unit of BERKELEY COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE.

As a fitting celebration there will be a huge bon-fire and three aerial bombs will be exploded announcing the opening. This marks the last great bon-fire and pow-wow ever to be held on this land. Watch for it next Saturday evening.—Advertisement.

Will These Features Appear

MURDER and mystery are features of "The Quist Mystery," George C. Henderson's serial, which begins in the Sunday TRIBUNE Magazine. The opening installment of this intriguing story introduces a cast of highly interesting characters, ranging from Queen Quist, sheltered daughter of an Eastbay millionaire family, to "Napoleon Knott," a fat, freakish but thoroughly efficient detective. An atmosphere of the body of Quist, in his isolated chateau. The unraveling of mystery is created in this first chapter through the finding of the mystery "Who Killed Quist," involves a series of adventures that hold the reader's excitement at fever pitch from start to finish.

"Linda of the Sierras" is described in an article in the Sunday TRIBUNE Magazine by Louis Allen. Among other incidents described in this article by Allen is the finding of a baby deer by a party of campers in the mountains.

Geraldine discusses "Baby Subsidies" in the Sunday TRIBUNE Magazine "What about the faculty wives and the 'baby strike' talk?" Jerry demands, and proceeds to give her version of the issue that has been stirring Eastbay district recently.

California as the New Arabia of dates is the theme of an article in the Sunday TRIBUNE Magazine. The possibility of making California a great date-growing center is discussed in an interview with W. R. Nutting, pioneer horticulturist of Fresno.

How a girl's face may become her fortune is told in Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine in an article by Sterling Heilig. Heilig's article is entitled, "What Is the Photogenic Face?" He says any girl may possess it, and cites the instance of one film star who rose to sudden fame through possession of such a face.

Crow Indian marriages are discussed in an article in Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine by J. H. Jamison Jr. Jamison says that while it is perfectly all right for a Redskin to marry several sisters at the same time, he would no doubt brand paleface marriage customs as outrageous.

The Holy Alliance is discussed in the forthcoming installment of "The History of Mankind" in Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine. The author, Hendrik van Loon, tells of the effect which that organization had upon future history by bringing about the Monroe Doctrine.

A California Wild Boar Hunt is described in an article in the Sunday TRIBUNE Magazine by Father E. Lawrence. The author tells how he struggled with a wild hog that was as ferocious as a jungle beast and how he saved his life by a lucky shot after the animal had torn his dogs to pieces.

"The Sailorman Who Cried," is the title of the story of a man who wept and made good, told in Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine. The incident was recounted by Johnny Heinold of Jack London fame, to Omar Moffatt, who recorded the story to TRIBUNE readers.

How a group of New York women are in revolt against the long skirt is told in an article in Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine. Three hundred leaders of New York club life have banded together to boycott the latest styles in Paris.

While the world's eyes are on Benito Mussolini, Italy's Fascisti premier, Andre Tardieu, France's commissioner to the United States during the war, sounds a warning that new conflicts loom for Europe over the ever-growing demands of the Kemalist Turks. He sees little hope for the Lausanne conference, because the Moslems are supplementing their claims with acts that are bound to embarrass the powers, while the entente nations still are divided on a near-east policy, and their preparations for the conclave still are vague.

The unique prediction that Premier Mussolini will be overthrown by the Fascisti themselves is voiced by William Bird, a close student of European politics. Bird asserts that Mussolini, as head of the powerful military organization, could have stayed other governments in Italy, whereas, by accepting the task of rehabilitating the nation and restoring her to her former prestige and political activity he has laid himself open to the criticism of those who put him in control.

A warning that the success of the Fascisti may encourage the German youth to attempt union with Russia and to dodge the consequences of the war is sounded by Maximilian Harden, Germany's leading publicist. Harden compares Mussolini with Albert Thyssen, the Rhineland industrial leader, who activity, though formerly he has devoted all of his time and attention to his vast enterprises.

Lloyd George's illness is called "one of convenience" by A. G. Gardiner, Britain's ablest Liberal writer and one of the former premier's most severe critics. The Welshman, according to Gardiner, knows not where to turn next in his political fight and has taken to his bed to gain time and try and figure out some plan to acquire power in the House of Commons.

Many of the American tourists who leave this country for visits to the battlefields of France confine their activities to the "bottlefields of Paris," according to Grant Gordon, special Paris correspondent of the SUNDAY TRIBUNE. His article contains an interesting comparison of the "American bar" versus the "French cafe" methods of casual drinking.

For readers of the SUNDAY TRIBUNE'S financial section three noted experts have contributed articles. Stuart P. West and Byron Seller, Wall street authorities, have written on the recovery of the stock and bond markets after the recent disastrous slumps, and Harden Colfax has supplied an optimistic message on trade revival, as revealed in reports to the various departments of the Washington government.

Election prospects have been keeping the "big wigs" of both parties awake these past few nights, says Robert T. Small, Washington political authority, in a summary of the pre-vote situation. The fight has been so "spotty" that both factions are puzzled as to the definite outcome of the ballot fight next Tuesday. The Republicans, though confident of a general victory, face several ticklish problems, particularly in Ohio, President Harding's home state, and in New Jersey. The Democrats probably will gain a few seats in the lower house, but seem likely to have their already slim senate majority reduced.

"Who should pay alimony and when and why?" will be fought out in Washington during the coming week. Two large and influential organizations, representing millions of women throughout the nation, will meet simultaneously to discuss the "blanket bill." That there will be an interesting time of it is signified by the fact that the simultaneous sessions were not coincidence, but were arranged deliberately, so propaganda could be fought with counter-propaganda. Carolyn Vance has supplied the details of the impending clash.

Betty Baxter has forwarded her weekly review of social activity in Washington and Jessie Henderson's contribution will be found under its customary caption "Seven Days in Li'l Ol' New York."

San Jose Folk Attend Berkeley Musicales

SAN JOSE, Nov. 4.—Much interest here has been aroused over the series of winter musicales to be given at the home of Mrs. Frank D. Stringham under the direction of Miss Alice Seckles in Berkeley. Many San Joseans, devotees of music, will make the Berkeley trip. The first concert takes place November 19 and others will follow on different Sunday evenings. Mona Gondre, French Chanteuse, and Elsie Lorelle, harpist, will give a joint recital of French and American folk songs. Lawrence Strauss will be soloist at another musicale.

Quite a number of dinner parties were given at the San Jose Golf and Country Club on Hallowe'en, the guests enjoying dancing after dinner. The club rooms were dedicated with jack-o'-lanterns, black cats, witches and all the other traditional symbols. Among those who presided at tables were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ghirardelli, Mr. and Mrs. Elton R. Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Huggins, Mr. Kimberlin, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Janney, Mr. and Mrs. William M Radford, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hunt, George Smith, Mrs. Charles Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard.

Mrs. F. J. Rogers, president of the San Jose League of Women Voters, returned yesterday from several days at Carmel. Mrs. Rogers has leased her pretty summer place to Mrs. G. Hodgson of New York. Mrs. Rogers was the guest of her son in Salinas for several days.

Mrs. Cora Hatch Johnson and her charming daughter, Miss Evelyn Johnson, have arrived in Paris. They sailed on October 7 on the Majestic from New York and in letters to relatives tell of their enjoyable stay in New York and a most pleasant crossing. While on shipboard they exchanged Marconigrams with Mrs. Albert Harris, who was en route to America from her European sojourn.

Word from Mr. and Mrs. Carl Scholz, who were married last Monday at the Stanford Memorial church, indicates that they are enjoying their honeymoon. They were married by Rev. D. Charles Gardner, chaplain of the church.

Returning from a motor trip through the southlands Mr. and Mrs. Adolph B. Canelo Jr. (Miss Costello) made a short visit at the home of Mrs. Canelo's parents in Reed street. Young Canelo is connected with the Bank of Italy in San Francisco, where they make their home.

[illegible] will entertain friends at a luncheon on November 9 at the San Jose Country Club.

Monkey Runs at Large in Contra Costa District

WALNUT CREEK, Nov. 4.—"Monkeys, monkeys, barrels of monkeys,

"How many monkeys have we here?" Recently a business man of Walnut Creek on his way home from Oakland, in his machine, discovered at the east end of the tunnel, perched in a tree a real, live monkey. He attempted to make friends with it and gather it in as a trophy, but failed. In relating the circumstances to friends at home he met with nothing but jeers, or pity for his condition in a temperance township. Later two ladies from Oakland, coming over the same road also saw a monkey in a tree, not at the tunnel but near the Happy Valley Road at Lafayette. Young Mr. Monkey was making his way, hand over hand, in the direction of the oil wells. Who has lost a monk?

17 CLUBS JOIN IN MOVEMENT FOR BOOSTING UNITY

Achievement Committee to Conduct Campaign During Commercial Week.

Feeling that the time had arrived when the various Oakland clubs should pull together to a greater degree, representatives of seventeen leading organizations assembled at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon and formed the Inter-club Achievement Committee. F. R. Caldwell of the Oakland Real Estate Board was named temporary chairman and F. M. Kerrick of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, temporary secretary. W. J. Moorehead was made chairman of the plan and scope committee.

This special committee will meet together again during Civic Commercial Week, November 6 to 11, and will hold itself in readiness to get behind community undertakings.

During Civic Commercial Week, so named by Governor Stephens, the committee plans to conduct a comprehensive campaign of education which has for its purpose the selling of Oakland to Oaklanders.

At yesterday's meeting a telegram was drafted which was sent to Governor Stephens, which reads as follows: "Civic Commercial Organization Week, November 6 to 11, will be observed in Oakland by all the civic and commercial organizations. A committee of one hundred under the leadership of the achievement committee, Oakland Realty Board and Oakland Chamber of Commerce, will launch a comprehensive campaign of education to fittingly celebrate the week. Proclamation has struck a responsive cord in all organizations in Oakland." The telegram was signed by David D. Oliphant, president of the Onward Oakland Club, and F. R. Caldwell, chairman, Achievement Committee, Oakland Realty Board.

The organization representatives were: The Oakland Chamber of Commerce, Oakland Real Estate Board, Business and Professional Women's Club, Leona Heights Improvement Club, Car Men's Union, Rockridge Improvement Club, Santa Fe Improvement Club, Bay View Improvement Club, Sciots, Fathers Club, Onward Oakland Club, High Twelve Club, Ad Club, Round Table, and Lions Club

Pastor and Girl of Monterey Co. Married

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 4.—There was a pleasant marriage occasion yesterday afternoon in the Congregational parsonage when Dr. Palmer officiated at the marriage of his good friend and fellow minister, Dr. Orville Coats, professor of Biblical theology at the Berkeley Bible school, and pastor of the Monterey First Baptist church. The bride was Miss Abbie T. Gould, daughter of the late George S. Gould, and a resident of Monterey county all her life. Dr. Coats was the moderator of the Baptist association that met here last summer. He and Dr. Palmer have been friends for years, being pastors a few blocks from one another in Oakland for several years, and again with neighboring pastorates on the Monterey peninsula before Dr. Palmer came to Santa Cruz. Dr. and Mrs. Coats were the guests of Mrs. Palmer at luncheon before they departed on their wedding trip.

Merchant Captures 'Gator While on Hunt

LOS GATOS, Nov. 4.—J. Walter Crider, prominent Los Gatos merchant, has just returned from a trip to Louisiana. He brings with him a small alligator that was captured by him in a hand-to-hand encounter. Crider was taken on an alligator hunt while in the south and determined to capture an alligator alive. Journeying far into the Louisiana swamp, Crider's party ran across a small alligator on the bank of a slough. Crider leaped from the boat and attacked the reptile, succeeding in capturing it alive and making his way back to the boat with his prize. Crider has the alligator on exhibition in his window as proof of his exciting yarn.

Battery "C" Turns Out for Inspection

LIVERMORE, Nov. 4.—About forty members of Battery C, Livermore's National Guard unit, were present Wednesday night for inspection by Major J. F. Huber of the First Separate Battalion. Caliber expressed himself as well pleased at the appearance of the battery, and said that Livermore presented one of the best looking organizations under his command.

The Armistice Day military ball is being looked forward to by the artillerymen, who will decorate the armory for the occasion. Several novel decorating schemes will be used. After the ball is decorated, next Wednesday night, the members will have a big feed, which is being arranged by the entertainment committee.

Santa Clara Judge Fines Four Autoists

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 4.—R. Brown, W. R. Lagenour, R. H. Goodhue, E. D. Bradbury appeared before Justice of the Peace Charles A. Thompson of Santa Clara Thursday to plead guilty to charges of speeding and reckless driving preferred by Traffic Officers McGrury and Overturf. All of the offenders drew fines from the judge ranging from $10 to $15.

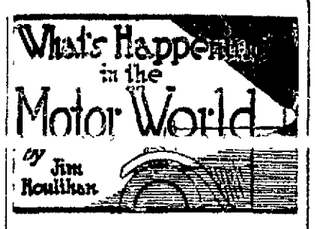
Man's Pay Will Go To Support Family

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 4.—Ward O'Fallon, who was charged with contempt of court for failure to provide for his wife and minor children, was in court this week and was released on probation.

He will go to San Jose, where he will work under his brother. All the money earned, except for bare necessities, will be sent to the wife, Mrs. Vaiske O'Fallon.

What's Happening in the Motor World

by Jim Moulthan



The enclosed motor car will reign supreme in Oakland all next week.

Closed Car Display Week opens in thirty-five individual automobile show and sales rooms today and will continue through next Sunday evening.

The object of the display of enclosed cars is to give present automobile owners, prospective purchasers and the public in general an opportunity to see the tremendous strides made by manufacturers in the production of enclosed models, and to demonstrate the general utility, economy and convenience of this type of automobile.

Since the enclosed car was placed on the market several years ago it has been growing in popularity steadily, inasmuch as it fills all of the requirements of the owner, whether he desires the automobile for business or pleasure, dealers point out.

A great number of car owners do not realize the value of the enclosed models, consequently Oakland dealers composing the motor car dealers' division of the Alameda County Auto Trade Association got together for an intensive educational campaign, featured the enclosed models.

It was decided that each dealer should hold a display in his own showrooms, in order that the public might have the opportunity to inspect all different makes of cars. Dealers have been active during the past week in preparing for the display of cars. Show rooms have been specially decorated for the week and every effort made to provide entertainment and instruction for visitors.

MERCHANTS CO-OPERATE.

Merchants along Broadway have co-operated with the auto dealers in providing additional street lighting. Window display lights will remain burning each evening, as the auto show rooms are to be open until 9:30 o'clock each evening as well as during the day. A number of the dealers have installed special lighting effects as a means of brightening up the street and better presenting their particular makes of cars.

The advantages of the enclosed car as pointed out by Oakland dealers are that it provides additional comfort both for business and pleasure, is a protection against wind and rain, allows for perfect ventilation, protects occupants against dust and other inconveniences on long tours and gives the owner more satisfaction generally.

The trend of enclosed car manufacturing, dealers state, has been toward providing greater comfort. The comforts and conveniences of a well-appointed home are suggested by broad seats and substantial and beautiful upholstering.

In climates where strong winds prevail or where the occasional sand storm occurs, the enclosed models afford an excellent protection. Many times winds are accompanied by heavy downpours of rain, the enclosed car giving ample protection in such weather. Cold, damp fog is no bar to motoring, it is pointed out, when the motorists are protected by the enclosed body.

All of the enclosed models are equipped with complete ventilating systems, which provide a circulation of air, dealers state, and accompanying comfort even in the hottest climates.

IDEAL FOR SOCIAL FUNCTIONS.

One of the great demands for enclosed cars, according to dealers, comes from those wishing to attend social functions in the evening. The protection afforded by the closed body makes unnecessary the wearing of heavy evening wraps, and the guests step from the enclosed car just as they left their dressing tables.

Salesmen and vacationists report to Oakland dealers that the enclosed car is the most satisfactory type for long tours. It affords protection against dust and heat whether on mountain roads or desert highways, they say.

Oakland dealers declare that the demand for enclosed cars is spreading so rapidly that factories are unable to meet the demand. They desire to explain the advantages of the new models so that prospective owners will have an intelligent idea of the enclosed car when they desire to buy.

Many dealers predict that 50 per cent of motor car production, accounting one line of light cars, will be enclosed models during the coming year.

CHIEF GATHERS CHOICE ARRAY OF DOOR MATS

PALO ALTO, Nov. 4.—A collection of doormats which would store green with envy is reposing in the office of Chief of Police Chester F. Noble, the mats having been found in various sections of the city by police officers on Hallowe'en. Chief Noble, although admitting that doormats belong under feet, says that they are a nuisance under foot in his office and is making every attempt to find the proper owners. Thus far none of the owners of the mats has laid claim to any of them.

Snake Invades C. of C. Office; Bites Marshal

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 4.—A live twelve-inch, gopher snake invaded the Chamber of Commerce headquarters in the town hall here and was enjoying an afternoon nap until discovered by Mrs. B. R. Sullivan, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Sullivan's alarm summoned L. A. Christian, Town Collector, and Marshal G. P. Fallon to the rescue. Fallon proceeded to remove the unwelcome reptile. While doing so the snake became irritated at being disturbed and inserted its fangs into the marshal's hand. He succeeded in removing the snake to other quarters.

LLOYD GEORGE IS UNOPPOSED FOR COMMONS

Conservatives Lead By Vast Plurality in Number of Candidates.

By LLOYD ALLEN.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—David Lloyd George was considered automatically re-elected to the house of commons this afternoon when his name, together with some seventy others, was unopposed among the 1400 nominees for the general election.

Nominations closed at noon, with the Conservatives leading by a vast plurality in the number of candidates for parliament.

Bonar Law and Lloyd George both made speeches as the nominations were closing. Although it had been reported that Lloyd George, in a last-minute switch, would fight many hitherto considered Conservative constituencies, the former premier's name was unopposed by a Unionist and he will return to parliament automatically.

By DAVID M. CHURCH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Pale from illness but with the fire of battle flashing in his eyes, former Premier David Lloyd George resumed his political fight today with a warning to the nation that "reaction is a real and imminent danger."

"The policy of tranquility is also dangerous," continued the former premier. Lloyd George claimed that his coalition government was pacific in nature, and was the first to establish "permanent peace." He pointed out that the former government was the first in Europe to abolish conscription and reduce armaments. He added:

"But despite the reduction of armaments, Great Britain was always prepared to defend herself."

The political rally was held in a theater with Lloyd George as the chief speaker. He opened by saying that he was "out of the casualty ward and once again back upon the firing line."

The ex-premier was haggard and his voice weak, but grew more vigorous as he proceeded. This was the first speech the little Welsh statesman had delivered in several days, owing to inflammation of the throat. When Lloyd George entered the theater, accompanied by Lord Birkenhead and Austen Chamberlain, he received a noisy ovation. This was nomination in the British political campaign, and the increasing number of candidates widened the fight into the most violent and spectacular in modern British politics.

LEEDS, England, Nov. 4 (By the Associated Press).—Prime Minister Bonar Law, addressing an audience of 3000 persons here today, said the view of the whole Unionist party was that the Anglo-Irish treaty be given a fair trial.

"Those who are carrying on the government in Ireland may think," he said, "that the new government and the party that supports the new government is hostile in its heart. It isn't!"

The prime minister, who was discussing home affairs when he made this assertion, prefaced it by saying that the most important and the most difficult subject of home politics was the position in Ireland.

Judges Ask for Longer Time in Photo Contest

WORK of tabulating the large number of photos entered in the recent Oakland TRIBUNE-Bowman Drug Company contest is proceeding. It is announced by the photo editor that another week, and perhaps ten days, will be required for final selection of the prize winners.

Many of the photos are necessarily being eliminated from the final judging—those that failed in any one of the conditions of the contest.

MIDNIGHT THUG FOUGHT OFF BY BERKELEY WOMAN

BERKELEY, Nov. 4.—Seized by a man who thrust a gun into her face and then dragged her into the doorway of a store at Dwight way and Dana street, Mrs. N. E. Peterson, nurse, of 2308 Derby street, escaped after a battle with her assailant last night.

Mrs. Peterson was on her way home from a nursing case shortly after 10 o'clock last night when she was seized by a man. She says she screamed and managed to break away from her assailant and ran into a nearby garage, from where she telephoned the police. A squad of men, headed by Officer William Dean, conducted a search of the neighborhood but found no trace of the assailant.

According to Mrs. Peterson's story to the police, her assailant stepped from a darkened doorway. Mrs. Peterson managed to scream, at the same time fighting off her would-be attacker. She describes her assailant at 5 feet 8 inches in height, of medium build, with a thin face, rather stooped shoulders and wearing a light colored cravanette coat. He was declared to be about 25 years old. The police are continuing their search today for the assailant.

Family Entertains At Home in Dublin

DUBLIN, Nov. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Bonde entertained Mr. and Mrs. Agerton Lydicksen of Livermore and Mr. and Mrs. George Bonde of Niles at their home Wednesday. Bonde and Lydicksen spent the afternoon hunting quail in the hills back of town.

KIWANIS CLUBS REPORT STEADY GROWTH IN STATE

Election of Officers and Selection of Next Rally Site on Program.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Election of officers for the ensuing year and the selection of next year's convention city are on the program for today's session of the annual convention of Kiwanis Clubs of the California district at the Fairmont Hotel. The convention is presided over by Allen C. Hibbard of the Oakland Kiwanis Club. The convention will adjourn tonight with a banquet at the Fairmont.

Approximately a thousand delegates were present when the session opened yesterday. The delegates met for luncheon at the Fairmont with Governor William D. Stephens as the guest of honor. The Governor spoke on the subject of the relations between the Kiwanis Club and the problems of citizenship, emphasizing the fact that personal attention on the part of the citizen to politics makes for good and efficient government.

The wives of the delegates were also entertained at luncheon, and listened to an address by Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, president of Mills College. Dr. Reinhardt spoke of "The Unprivileged Child" and stated that the children of the poor as well as of the well-to-do frequently lack proper training.

During the afternoon session Leslie B. Henry, second vice-president and governor of the California district, reported on the progress of Kiwanis Clubs during the past year.

Frederick W. Docker, lieutenant-governor of the central district, reported on the club's community work, and Dr. H. W. Riggs, third vice-president of the Kiwanis International, advocated the cause of the "under-privileged children."

The annual report of Leslie B. Henry, governor of the California district, stated that within one year the membership of he Kiwanis Club in California has increased from 1800 to 2100 members and that there are now 31 clubs instead of twelve.

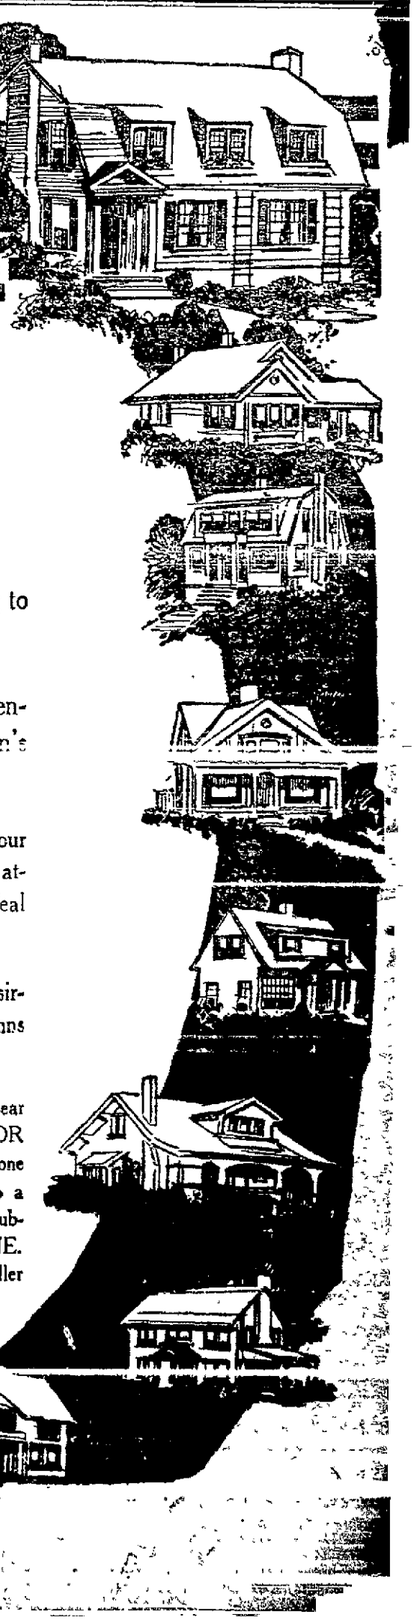
FORESTERS HOLDING BAZAAR.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 4.—Alameda county board of deputies No. 1 and Hamlet Circle No. 64, Companions of Foresters of America, are holding a bazaar this afternoon and evening in Native Sons' hall in Park street. A country store, homemade cakes and candy booth and various novel attractions have been arranged for the bazaar by the committee in charge, which is headed by Mrs. Emma Harrington. Music, dancing and refreshments will be included in the program for the evening.

EASTERN STAR ELECTS

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 4.—Idlewild Chapter Order of Eastern Star elected officers as follows: Worthy Matron, Mrs. Rosalie Stevenson; Worthy Patron, A. J. Petitidier; Associate Matron, Mrs. Katherine Wessendorf; Secretary, Mrs. Anna Downey; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Severio; Conductress, Mrs. Glen Achterberg; Assistant Conductress, Mrs. Lillian Gordon.

OWN YOUR HOME



For the Children's Sake as Well as Your Own!

A real yard to play in, a fine residence environment are important for your children's welfare.

You can find no better city in which to raise your family than Berkeley. Its fine schools, refined atmosphere, and high moral tone make it an ideal place to bring up children in.

For a beautiful Berkeley home located in a desirable neighborhood look in the Classified Columns today and Wednesday.

P. S.—Don't forget to save the home plans which appear every Wednesday at the top of Class 40—LOTS FOR SALE. Another good thing to remember is that everyone who buys a lot advertised in this paper is entitled to a complete set of plans for a beautiful home and a year's subscription to the HOME DESIGNER MAGAZINE. Both are free. All that is needed is a note from the seller of the lot.

UMPIRES ORDERED TO START ALL TRIBUNE GAMES ON TIME

PLAYERS IN TRIBUNE LEAGUE MUST LIVE UP TO ALL OF THE RULES

Several Important Changes Are Made In Schedule of Games For Tomorrow; Men in Uniform Who Smoke Will Be Barred From Games.

By EDDIE MURPHY

Two sets of games have been played in the OAKLAND TRIBUNE Midwinter League and the third is scheduled for tomorrow. As a fair warning to players and a few managers who have been reported as fracturing some of the rules of the league we mention at this time that every umpire is instructed by President George J. Hans to see that in the future nobody but those entitled to be on the playing field or players' benches be there. Also that any player or manager failing to respect the rule which prohibits players smoking while in uniform, be put off the ball field and the name of the offending player or players be turned in to the league officials. But the most important of all is that every manager have at least nine ballplayers in uniform ready to start play at the time scheduled. If a manager cannot place a full nine on the field at least five minutes after play is called, the game will be forfeited by the umpire.

Outside of a few players and managers fracturing the above mentioned rules in the first couple of games, everything in the league has run along satisfactorily as far as the league officials are concerned. If a game is advertised to start at a certain time, the managers should see that it is. There are fans who follow teams and who make arrangements to go elsewhere after the game, and if the games are not going to be over in time to permit other dates to be kept, the teams responsible will soon lose the support of the fans. President Hans, Fred L. Krumb, Lou Kennedy, "Doc" Moskiman, Jay B. Nash and other officials of the league have things moving along nicely, but they can be made a little better just by the players not smoking while in uniform, the games starting on time and the managers seeing that fans keep off the playing field and the benches.

Changes Are Made in Sunday's Schedule.

Several changes were necessary in the to-morrow's schedule of the classA, B and C Leagues due to work being done at Alberger Field, the home lot of the Coney Drug Store of the Class A and the Key System Mechanics of the Class B. The Coney Drugs will travel to Richmond and play the First National Bank team of Richmond at First and McDonald. The game will start at 12 o'clock, and there will be a second game at 2:15 between the Thomas E. Wilsons of Richmond, and the Pleasanton Merchants. The Key System Mechanics will play their game with Oakland Camp of W. O. W. at the Melrose diamond, High and Eighth streets at 10:30 a. m.

A couple of other changes in the class B and C schedules are in the starting time of games. The game scheduled between the United Dry Cleaners and College Avenue Merchants for Sather diamond at 12:30 o'clock will not start until 1 o'clock. The Souza Bros. Grocery and Rhodes Groceteria teams of the class C league will start their game at Golden Gate playground at 10 o'clock instead of 10:30.

Joe Devine Uncovers Another Great Player.

Joe Devine who has sent close to a couple of dozen young ballplayers from the local sandlots into professional ranks and who is now managing Otto Egenberger's Del Monte Cafe team in the American Division of the class A League believes that he has uncovered his greatest find in Daniel Tapson, 17-year-old infielder from San Francisco. Joe had the kid out for a workout at Bay View diamond a few Saturdays ago and after looking at him for a few minutes, decided that he was big league timber. The kid won himself a regular job at second base for the Del Montes and in the first two games of class A ball he starred. He aced the shoots of Tommy Richmond in the opening game at Hayward and got two hits, one a double, in three attempts. In the second game at Melrose last Sunday he hit three singles, scored three runs and started the fastest triple play ever seen in the local parks. In his triple play he made a great stop of Rizzo's line drive and snapped the ball to Harrington for a second out, and Harrington then threw to Kyte at first for the third out. The kid showed that he knows his stuff in the pin here player of his age. Several clubs have tried to sign him already, but Devine has the first claim on him.

Good Ball Being Played by Kids In C League

Four clubs, the Allendale Comers, Rhodes Groceteria, United Dry Cleaners No. 2, and the Wilkin's Realty teams are tide for first place in the Class C Division of the TRIBUNE Midwinter league and as all losers of last Sunday's games meet winners, tomorrow, there is likely to be quite a shakeup among them. Five games will be played tomorrow morning and afternoon by the young fellows and the kids promise to put up some lively entertainment for the fans benefit.

Following is the schedule of games for tomorrow:

Rhodo's Meat Market vs. United Dry Cleaners No. 2 at High and East Eighth streets, 10:30 a. m.

Zenith Mill Juniors vs. Wilkin's Realty Company at Coast Tire diamond, Fifty-fifth avenue and East Fourteenth, 10:30 a. m.

McDonough All Stars vs. Crisdson Paints at Lazear playground, 1:30 p. m.

THEM DAYS IS GONE FOREVER By Al. Posen

SHE'S BOUGHT HERSELF SOME SILVERWARE — IT LOOKED TO ME LIKE TIN —
THEM DAYS IS GONE FOREVER!

Good Ball Is Expected From Class B Clubs

Fifteen Games Are Billed in Junior Division of Midwinter League.

With fifteen games scheduled by the little Joe Bushers of the Class B division of the Oakland TRIBUNE league, baseball fans should witness some more good games tomorrow morning and afternoon Each division has several weak clubs, but managers are showing a lot of speed, in signing up players, and before the league is much older the fight for the bunting in all divisions should be interesting. The games booked for tomorrow are bringing together some of the leaders. A change in the place of the game between the Oakland camp W. O W. and the Key System Mechanics had to be made. The teams will meet at Melrose at 10:30.

Probably one of the best games of the day in the B league will be played at Kenny park, starting at 1 p. m., between the Rainbow Barbers and the West Berkeley Merchants. Each club won their first two games The Rainbow lads have added a lot of strength to their roster.

In the California division, the Risdon Bakery nine, another contender for the flag, expects to have an easy time with Kessler Army Goods Store Manager Harris of the Kesslers has promised a winning club before long, and has given his boys a shake-up. This game will be played at the foot of Eighteenth avenue at 1 o clock.

OTHER GOOD GAMES.

The Pacific Supply company and West Brae should give the fans a good exhibition of ball when they hook up tomorrow morning at Kenny park. The fans from San Leandro have witnessed a pair of good games since the opening two weeks ago, and tomorrow morning will get a chance to see what kind is. The Mathews-Boitano will entertain the Woodmen. Like in the first two games of the league, the fans who have been turning out at Allendale playgrounds to see a pair of B clubs in action should be well rewarded when the Mother Cookies and the Paraffine Paint nines stage their little fight. This game will be called at 11:30.

GAMES IN BERKELEY.

The fans of Berkeley are going to have a hard time picking out the best game booked out that way tomorrow. Several good games are on the bill of fare, but the one scheduled for San Pablo playgrounds at 11 a. m. between the Dwight-Shattuck Merchants and the Saint Joseph Athletic Club promises to draw the biggest crowd. These two clubs of the Eastern division won their first two starts. Another good game at San Pablo playgrounds in the morning will be between the Kream Bread and the Knights of Pythias. The United Dry Cleaners will have a chance to win their first argument when they stack up with the College Avenue Merchants at the Sather grounds in East Oakland. Forest Camp and Old Orchard Camp, W. O. W., will be out of the five hundred class no matter what club wins. They have each won a game, and are booked to meet at the Fruitvale Depot grounds starting at 11 a. m.

WESTERN LEADERS PLAY.

The Oakland Sciots and the Wedgewood Camp, W. O. W., now tied for first place in the Western Division of the Junior League, should remain knotted after tomorrow's games. The Sciots who played great ball in their first two contests will meet the Golden Gate Merchants at Golden Gate playgrounds at 1:30. The Wedgewood campers will tackle the Fitchburg Merchants at the latter home grounds at Fitchburg. The game will be called at 10:30 harp. At the Hayward Boosters' park in the morning the Druids who annexed their first game last week will battle the Hayward Woodmen. Marre Bros., West Berkeley Athletic Club, will have a chance to get out of the basement in their division when they hook up tomorrow at Kenney Park at 3 p. m. Both teams have yet to break into the win column. The Fiorio-Figoni No. 2 team and the Saint Joseph Sodality nine will battle at the Fruitvale Depot grounds at 2:15. The Hardware lads with Ray Finnemore doing the hurling have lost two hard luck games. Ray is a good hurler and should keep the Hardware boys around the top, with the proper team behind him.

"Will Not Retire," Says Bill Tilden

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—Wm. T. Tilden II, national tennis champion, declared yesterday that whatever the result of the injury to his handgrip his play, he will not retire.

"Tell the tennis players I'll be on the courts next year," he said. "Suppose my finger is crippled? I'll go out and take what's coming to me. I have beaten others; there's no reason why I shouldn't take a licking when my time comes. One thing you can bank on—I won't retire. Whoever wins the championship this year will have to dispose of me first. That is, of course, if I am able to walk on the courts."

Asked who would win if he lost, he replied:

"William M. Johnston. He played a wonderful game last season and seems to be getting better."

Alameda City League to Play Games Sunday

Triple Tie For First Place Will Be Cut With Leaders Meeting.

ALAMEDA CITY MIDWINTER LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Bay Shore	2	0	1.000
Alameda Elks	2	0	1.000
Perry All-Stars	2	0	1.000
Alameda Sciots	0	2	.000
Park St. Merchants	0	2	.000
West End Merchants	0	2	.000

With three clubs tied for first place the Alameda City Midwinter league will enter its third week of play tomorrow morning and afternoon when three games are scheduled.

That there will be one or more changes in the present standing of the clubs is a certainty as the Alameda Elks and the Bay Shores, both first division teams, are scheduled to play at Lincoln park tomorrow afternoon.

The Elks have an edge on the Bay Shores in that their opponents will be considerably weakened with the loss of Allan (Mudhen) Meuter, their star backstopper, who is out of the game with a broken wrist received in a collision with Brown, the Bay Shore third baseman last Sunday. Lane Sultis, former Oak, will throw for the Elks, it is expected. The game will start at 2:30.

The Park Street Merchants will attempt to oust the Perry All-Stars from first division in the opening morning game of the season at Lincoln park. All morning games scheduled for Washington park have been advanced an hour and moved to Lincoln to eliminate much of the congestion at the west end playground. This game will start at 11:30.

The West End Merchants and the Alameda Sciots will hold the center of the stage at Washington park, starting at 12:30.

Mendelsohn Sticks Limit With Tendler

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4. — Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight boxer last night was given the newspaper decision over Johnny Mendelsohn, Milwaukee, in a 10 round no-decision bout which went the limit. Tendler had the advantage in a majority of the rounds. Mendelsohn's best periods were the second third and ninth when he traded punches to the body and jaw in hot mixups. The referee warned the boxers early in the bout because of apparent lack of activity.

TUNNEY HITS HARD.

VOLLEY GAMES POSTPONED.

VALLEJO, Nov. 4.—The volley ball tournament has been postponed for one week by the Y. M. C. A. management. This delay will allow the married men to get in some good practice and it is expected that they will make a much better showing with the single men in the next games.

VALLEJO SENIOR FIVE WINS.

VALLEJO, Nov. 4.—In an interclass basketball game staged at the Florida street court yesterday the Seniors defeated the Freshmen by a score of 27 to 9.

Class A Teams Are Drawing Good Crowds

Many Good Ball Games Expected to Be Played Tomorrow Afternoon.

Although there are more teams than ever in the Class A division of the Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter League, the turnout of fans for the first couple of games has been better than any other season. They were out in big numbers for the opening games, and stronger for the second ones. The brand of ball dished out by the "A" boys has been first class in all but a few cases. Tomorrow the fans can look for another fine set of games when the twenty-four clubs in the three divisions will stage twelve games.

Richmond draws a pair of the "A" games tomorrow as the Coney Drug Store and First National Bank teams have switched their game to the McDonald avenue diamond for 12 o'clock. In the second game at 2:15, the Thomas E. Wilson nine will entertain the Pleasanton Merchants. Town rivalry should be keen in both games, as the Coney are the representatives of Emeryville and Wilsons hail from Richmond

The Coast League park will also be the scene of two games. At noon, the Calatone Waters will meet the Fiorio-Figoni Hardware, and at 2:15 the Crystal Laundry nine, which won its first two games, will play the Virden Packers.

San Pablo playground in Berkeley will be the battle scene for the Maxwell Hardware and Shattuck Avenue Merchants of the National division. The Shattucks won the first two games, and the Maxwells got a fifty-fifty break The above games, with the exception of the Crystals-Virden, take in the National division schedule

The Coast division also has four games scheduled. The Virden-Crystal is one of them. The Lee Bertillion Hatters will have their hands full trying to beat the Coast Tire team at Fifty-fifth avenue and East Fourteenth street. The Del Monte Packers No. 6 have not yet broke into the win column, and are likely to taste their third defeat when they meet the Zenith Millers at Lockwood school, Sixty-ninth avenue and E. Fourteenth. The Walter N. Moore team will travel to Ninety-eighth avenue to play the Fruitvale Eagles, who won their first two games.

The keen fight of the three "A" Divisions appears to be among the American Clubs. All eight teams have a good chance to win the pennant although a couple of them have yet to win their first game. The Durant Motors who won their first two will visit at Hayward to play the Hayward Boosters. The Boosters will have Soares and Crenna back in the lineup. Manager "Pinky" Leonard has signed Clarence Bertram and Leslie Anderson to Booster contracts.

The Magnavox team will make its winter debut before the San Leandro fans by meeting the C L. Best Tractors. This should be a game worth while going a good distance to see. Kaiser for the "Mags" and Austin for the Tractors will be the pitchers.

The Oakland Natives, No. 50, promise to make things tough for the Melrose Merchants who are out after their first win. The Merchants are playing good ball, but having a hard time getting over the hump. The game will be played at High and East Tenth streets.

Out at Chevrolet Park the fans will see plenty of action when the Del Monte Cafe team, two time winners in as many starts, will play the Chevrolet Motors. Larry Heller or Jimmy McNamara for the Del Montes will oppose Dick Arlett on the mound.

Washington Rests While Bruins Work

SEATTLE, Nov. 4.—With today off while the University of California is meeting Washington State College, the University of Washington football team has seven men laid up. All were expected to be rested up finally for their game with the Golden Bears here a week from today.

Ziel, Sherman, Bryan and Ingram are nursing injuries received in the battle a week ago with the Cougars. Petrie is in thhe infirmaryy with a cold.

Multnomah Looks For Hard Contest

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 4. — Multnomah Amateur Athletic club's football team was looking forward to a hard battle with the Oregon Agriculture College on Multnomah field today.

Multnomah stock soared a little at that when it was known that Ken Bartlett, former Oregon tackle, and Bill Holden, another former star at the same position, would be in the "Winged M" lineup.

Mike O'Dowd Signs to Fight Dave Rosenburg

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — Dave Rosenberg, of Brooklyn, and Mike O'Dowd, of St. Paul, Minn., will box for the middleweight championship of New York state in a 15 round contest Thanksgiving day afternoon in a Brooklyn arena, it was announced today. The match, chairman William Muldoon announced, has the sanction of the state athletic commission.

Richards Accuses Seven of Big Ten

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 4.—Seven members of the western conference were accused by Coach John Richards of the Wisconsin football squad with "hypocrisy" in keeping promises to eliminate professionalism.

Only three schools, Chicago, Purdue and Wisconsin, are keeping the spirit of the agreement, Richards declared.

B. Johnson Will Try to Abolish Baseball Pools

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Asserting that unscrupulous operators of baseball pools are robbing baseball fans of hundreds of thousands of dollars each season, Ban Johnson, president of the American league, announced today he expected to bring this form of gambling to the attention of the club owners' annual meeting in December with a recommendation that immediate action be taken.

While admitting that he did not know what could be done, President Johnson said his agents made an investigation of large baseball pools and had decided that it is incumbent on club owners to break up this practice.

President Johnson said that operators of large professional pools were the principal offenders and added that "the perils of gambling have not been removed from baseball and it is incumbent upon the club owners to force action if we are to escape another scandal."

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—Sailor Kramer and Sailor Walters fought to a draw in the first half of a double main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium last night. In the second half, George Marks, Los Angeles bantam, defeataed Teddy Silva, also of Los Angeles. Willie Hunefeld, Los Angeles lightweight, was given a decision over Charley Sullivan, also of Los Angeles.

Quail Limits Obtainable in Pinole Region

Wind Keeps Ducks Away From Favorite Hunting Spots Around Bay.

Mr Boreas got in wrong with the duck and quail hunters this week but indications point to better shooting weather over the week-end. The following reports on hunting were compiled by Dinsmore Bros., sporting goods dealers on Broadway:

Harry Magee and Kenneth Walsh have returned from a two-day quail shoot in Santa Barbara county. They both got the limit but found it very hard work. There were lots of birds but they would not flush, lying very close to the ground.

Charlie Reynolds got a dozen quail Wednesday morning over by Pinole. He was back in town at 10 o'clock. He says there are lots of quail over there and had a fine shoot, losing only two birds. With a trained dog even a fair shot can get the limit in a morning, he reports.

Johnny Johnstone has returned from his favorite hunting grounds in Placer county, near Tuburn. He was sadly disappointed, as he found the hills had been burned over and there was no cover or feed for any birds. This was the first time that he failed to get his limit on the opening for a number of years in the same place.

"Dutch" Lobel says the wind blew too hard last Sunday across Black Point. The ducks could not fly against the wind, with the result that very few birds got from the marshes into the bay.

Lou Lane bagged a limit Sunday morning on one of the little islands in the river near Antioch. All of the birds that flew over were in range but he said that he could not shoot until they were in the right place, the wind was so strong that a dead bird would be blown into the tulles and lost.

"Bill" Magee had a fair shoot on Winters Island. The Sprig tried to work into the ponds, he says, but the wind kept many fat birds away. However, he had a good Mallard shoot bagging nine fat "Green Heads" and ten hens.

Bill Blanchfield shot at Irvington on Wednesday He had a good shoot, getting nearly all Sprig. He says the shooting down there is only good up to about 8 o'clock on Wednesday because many of the clubs do not shoot and the birds are not in the air.

Eddie Diggins Loses Another to Seeman

Eddie Diggins failed to show any improvement last night at Dreamland Rink, San Francisco, and lost a decision to Solly Seeman Seeman left-handed Diggins into dizziness and crossed him with a right that did not do the former O. C. boy any good. Young Papke defeated Johnny Romain. Henry Roberts stopped Harry Simmons in the second. Harry Wallace and Jimmy Powell broke even. Young Baker stopped Jimmy Risso in the second.

Northwestern Man Lowers Swim Mark

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Ralph Brayer, a sophomore at Northwestern University, unofficially broke the national inter-collegiate and conference 100-yard free-style swimming records at the university tank during a competition between sophomore and freshmen, according to university officials His time was 55 seconds, four-fifths of a second faster than the intercollegiate record, and 1 2-5 seconds faster than the record for the conference.

Veterans Picked to Spar With Willard

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—Joe Bonds and Tom Kennedy, Los Angeles heavyweights, have been heavyweight champion, in exhibition bouts at the Hollywood American Legion stadium, November 15, for the Assistance League for Ex-Service Men.

Ames Harriers Win From Cornhuskers

AMES, Ia., Nov.—Ames defeated Nebraska university in a cross-country run here yesterday, 15 to 40. Bierbaum placed first for Ames, running the five-mile course in 17:00 4-5. Four Ames runners followed the first man across the line in close order.

BOWLING

The Hudson Motors took the odd game from the Brunswick Tires of San Francisco in the San Francisco and Suburban league on the Maryland alleys this week. Enos turned in 611 for high three game, his 235 in the second game scoring the riots.

WINGED "O" MEETS SANTA CLARA ON GRIDIRON TOMORROW

SANTA CLARA READY FOR WINGED 'O' GAME; CLUB TEAM CRIPPLED

Bradshaw, Williams and Dobson Missing From Club Team; Missionites Have an Even Chance to Win

By DOUG. MONTELL.

Santa Clara is conceded to have an even chance for victory tomorrow afternoon, when after a rest of two weeks, the Missionites meet the strong Olympic Club eleven at Ewing Field in San Francisco. Coach Buckingham has his squad in top condition for tomorrow's contest, the rest since the Arizona game having given his injured stars sufficient time to recover from injuries suffered against the Cards and Bears while the Olympians are still somewhat crippled from their tussle with the Golden Bruins two short weeks ago. According to an announcement from Olympic Club headquarters late today it was not expected that "Rabbitt" Bradshaw, Captain Al Williams and Dobson, three backfield stars who featured the California game, would be seen tomorrow.

Captain Williams is suffering from an injury sustained against Andy Smith's team while Dobson was called out of town on business and Bradshaw is to be held in reserve, slight injuries keeping him from the opening lineup. Coach Bob Evans has an eye open to the game with the Multnomah Club of Portland at Pasadena on Armistice Day and is taking no chances with the new stars who are not in the best of shape.

Santa Clara Has Stars Back Again.

Santa Clara will present an intact lineup for the first time since scrimmaging against California on September 30. Coach Buckingham has developed new stars since that time and his backfield combination, consisting of M. Noonan at quarterback, O. Schwill and Turk Bedolla at halfbacks and Halloran at fullback, represents both speed and power. Noonan is shifty and tricky while Bedolla is one of the fastest men in a broken field seen here in some time.

The Santa Clara line will remain practically unchanged. Johnny Logan, whose sensational work at end featured the California game when he scored two touchdowns from blocked punts and again in the Arizona game when he was directly responsible for winning the game, nailing McClellan behind the Arizona goal line in the last two minutes of play for a safety that put over the necessary points that meant victory, will be at one end with Captain Porter Kerchoff at the other flank.

Club Line Resumes Action Intact.

Fawke, made over into a tackle from fullback, at which he started the season, and G. Vowell, will hold down the next line positions inside ends, while Noll and Lewis will be at guards and Miller at center. Miller has made a respectable showing in his few starts and the center of the Missionite line is no longer the weak spot.

The Olympic club line will be considerably stronger than in the California game, with Pierce back at his old station at guard once more, minus the poison oak that has bothered him for the past several weeks. Curtis Majors and "Tat" Latham, former California stars, will cavort at the other guard position and center respectively. Swan and Larson will be at ends for the club with C. King, the giant tackle, formerly of the Navy eleven, at one tackle with Helser, Stanford star, at the other.

The backfield will be composed of D. King, former California Freshman quarterback of 1921, subbing for Bradshaw, Jimmy Needles, former Santa Clara star, and Hennie Weed, formerly of Redlands university and California, at the other halfback, and Patrick, Stanford star, at fullback. Considering the altered backfield the club is not given any great edge over Coach Buckingham's eleven and fans look for an even game.

Utah and Colorado Furnish Headliner

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 4.—Interest in today's games in the Rocky Mountain conference centers chiefly in th clash between the University of Utah and Colorado College at Salt Lake City. Defeat for either team will mean the virtual elimination of that eleven from the race for the conference title. Both teams have records unmarred by defeat thus far this season.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the home coming be featured by the Colorado University-Colorado Aggie game. Owing to their decisive defeat of the Utah Aggies last week, the Colorado Farmers are the favorites against State, defeated by Utah university two weeks ago.

If Wyoming university emerges successful from her game with Denver university here today, it will be her first victory in a conference game this season. None of the other teams in the conference will be in action today.

Martin Is Stopped By Griffin in Eighth

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 4.—Dandy Dick Griffin of Fort Worth, Texas, won the referee's decision over Danny Martin of Tacoma, Wash., in the eighth round of a scheduled ten round bout here last night. In the first seven rounds, Martin was leading on points but in the eighth, Griffin knocked Martin to his knees and later forced him onto the ropes, where he hung apparently helpless and the referee awarded the decision to Griffin.

Modesto High Wins From Chowchilla Hi

MODESTO, Cal., Nov. 4.—Modesto high school football team won a one-sided contest from the Chowchilla high school here yesterday afternoon by the score of 44 to 0. The Modesto team was slow in getting under way, and scored all its points in the last three-quarters. Open field running of Ellis and Plopper of the Modesto eleven featured the game.

Bill Steers Considerable Of a Punter

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 4.—An eighty-yard punt, something seldom seen in any football game, is the latest of Bill Steers' many contributions to the gridiron history of the Pacific coast.

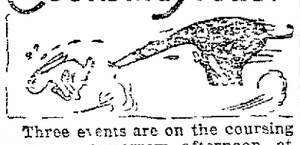
Steers was a star backfield man on the University of Oregon when it almost beat Harvard several years ago, and this year he is playing with the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club of Portland.

Multnomah played Gonzaga University of Spokane here last month and during the first quarter Steers stood behind his own goal line and booted the ball to Gonzaga's ten yard line. The ball actually sailed ninety yards through the air but, counting the distance from the club line of scrimmage, it made eighty yards net. It wasn't a bouncing punt but a spiral that soared so high that the Multnomah ends actually were down with it as soon as the Gonzaga safety man and he didn't make a yard.

During the same game Steers again sent the ball flying eighty yards on another kick but it went out of bounds and netted him only fifty yards. Some college kickers are glad to make fifty yards in straightway booting.

Other historic kicks made by Steers in the Gonzaga game were for sixty yards each. In every exchange of punts he gained from fifteen to thirty yards.

Coursing News.



Three events are on the coursing program tomorrow afternoon at San Pablo under the auspices of the Central California Coursing club, a Puppy stake, Open stake and champion stake being the feature events.

Thirty dogs are entered for the competition in these various events, the match between Villa and Kansas Bill in the Champion stake being the leading attraction of the day. Villa is rated as one of the best dogs in this section while Kansas Bill was one of the top notch contenders in the Waterloo Cup trophy at Nevada, Mo.

The entries follow:

OPEN STAKE.

Joo Know vs. Paymaster, Silevenamon vs. My Lilly, Jerry Wild Bill vs. Banshee Oge, Recognition vs. Desert Gold, Bonnie F. vs. Les Darcy, Rainbow vs. Ruth H.

PUPPY STAKE.

Oregon University Seeking a Nickname

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 4.—University of Oregon's football team wants a name and suggestions are being heard from all parts of the campus here. Someone thought the "Pioneers" would be a good name and many seem to like it.

The name "Pioneers," it is claimed would be fitting for Oregon is a pioneer state and the university is a pioneer among western institutions of higher learning.

Oregon is the only Pacific Coast conference team without a nickname. The Washington eleven answers to the name of "Huskies," Washington State has the "Cougars," the Oregon Agricultural College team calls itself the "Aggies," over at Idaho they call the team the "Vandals," Stanford has the "Cardinals," California the "Bears" and, at Southern California the football men are the "Trojans."

George Foster Quits Job at Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 4.—George Foster, manager of the local Western Association baseball club, tendered his resignation late yesterday. Foster was formerly pitcher for the Boston Red Sox and took part in a world's series.

Snapped at the Claremont Country Club Yesterday

The Claremont golf course is a scene of great activity these days with the club championship in progress. Here are four prominent members of the club. From left to right, A. E. DE ARMOUD, C. C. HILLIS, F. H. DAILEY and ROGER CHICKERING. Hillis and Dailey meet in the feature match of the tournament today and the winner is expected to be the next champion.

Mrs. G. Vesper Takes Honors In Tournament

Winner's Handicap Will Be Reduced in Future Tourneys.

By W. D. McNICOLL.

At Sequoyah yesterday Mrs. George Vesper won her match against Mrs. A. E. Lorber in the final contst for the Mrs. Norman deVaux Trophy. The winner received a three hole handicap, but was never behind during the progress of the match. Halving the first two holes, Mrs. Vesper went ahead at the 3d, and Mrs. Lorber won the 4th to even the match. The short 5th was won by Mrs. Vesper, the long 6th was halved, then the winner scored another win at the 7th which made her 5 up, the 8th was halved and another win at the 9th gave Mrs. Vesper the big margin of 6 up and 9 to go. The match was over at the 13th. Mrs Vesper's game was remarkable for a comparative beginner, her tee shots were invariably straight and her putting was beyond reproach. Mrs. Milton Bernard has already cut Mrs. Vesper's handicap to 20, but even that will not stop her winning streak if she plays in regular's form.

In the second night Mrs. F. L. Dettman defeated F. B. West and won the silver trophy presented by Mrs. Clyde Waterman. In yesterday's tournament players were matched against each other in match play at handicap holes up, the winners receiving a ball in each case.

Mrs. H. E. Hare defeated Mrs. C. A. Rotchester.

Mrs. E. A. Mendenhall defeated Mrs. A. P. Crist.

Mrs. R. E. Cotter defeated Mrs. J. H. Stineman.

Mrs. C. F. Jarvis defeated Mrs. Wyman Taylor.

At Claremont yesterday B. J. Cantillion (1) defeated J. H. Ames (0), 3-2. This concludes all of the third matches. Father Cantillion was playing very skillfully around the greens, which easily counteracted his opponent's slight advantage from the tees. In his match today against William Knowles the church representative will find an opponent who is equally accurate in approaching and putting.

Dave Trufelli, who has completely recovered from a strained back, is playing very good golf at present and great hopes are entertained at Claremont that he may carry off the principal prize at the professionals' contest to be held at Old Ingleside, San Francisco, next Monday. This contest will be over 18 holes as many of the professionals hate long distances to travel and are placed at a disadvantage when compelled to play 36 holes.

Broadway Bill's Broadcast

by Bob Shand

It may or may not have occurred to the ladies and gents that when Mickey Walker won the welterweight title from Jack Britton in the Garden Wednesday night he also captured the Prideship of Oakland. It was 'way back in 1912 when Frankie Burns was loomin' up as a championship possibility and somebody called him the "Pride of Oakland." The name stuck and even now, ten years later when Frankie decides to do a little four-roundin' the old Pride stuff is dusted off an' applied again. Burns was lickin' everybody in sight an' his old one-two punch was rockin' them to sleep with considerable regularity. Across the bay Jack Britton was doin' the best he could gettin' preliminarics to some of the 20-round fights so Mel Moffit, who was promotin' the battles at the old Piedmont pavilion gets an idea. He brings Britton over here to box Burns and Jack is a ten to three short-ender. Burns ain't forgot yet what Britton did to him that afternoon. The snake-like left hand of Frankie's might as well have been tied by his side as Britton ran just a trifle faster and beat Frankie to the left every time. Britton romped off with an easy decision and the old gang around the Mecca was weeks recuperatin' from the financial shock. It took Jack a long time to cop off the championship but it also took him a long time to let go of it.

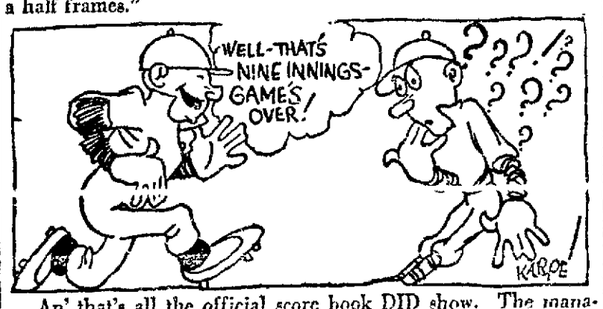
They're tellin' a good one on a local bush team that lost a close game last Sunday. The boys was bewailin' their luck and tellin' the world they would have out-gamed the other guys in another pair of innin's. The opposin' pitcher was weakenin' and about ready for the showers when the last out was made.

"Then why didn't you make 'em play the nine innin's" asked a substitute player what had been sittin' on the bench.

"We did play nine innin's" yells the manager, "What kind of a dumb-bell are you to say we didn't?"

"Well," quietly chirped the substitute, "I may be a dumb-bell an' just a substitute but when I was sittin' on the bench I was keepin' score and the book shows you only played seven an' a half frames."



An' that's all the official score book DID show. The manager of the winnin' team knew his only pitcher was weakin' and he tried something an' GOT AWAY WITH IT.

Italia Virtus And Neptunes Are Leading

Sons of St. George Meet G. G. Mchts.; Rangers vs. Foresters.

The meeting of the Italia Virtus and Neptune clubs at the Garfield school grounds in Berkeley tomorrow afternoon provides the best soccer offering of the fourth week of play in the Bay Cities Soccer Football league. These two elevens appear to be the most evenly matched of the day, and while the Neptunes, champions of last year, are unquestionably favorites in the clash, the Italia Virtus eleven has shown sufficient since entering the league on this side of the bay to be considered a formidable contender for honors.

The Rangers are given a slight edge over the Ancient Order of Foresters group of kickers, the Foresters, although strengthened since the play started four weeks ago, have yet to show enough to be rated as a first division club and the Rangers should bring home the bacon. These two teams are scheduled to clash at Washington park, Alameda.

The third game of the day in the San Pablo playgrounds in Berkeley with the Sons of St. George doped to trounce the Golden Gate Merchants at will. The Merchants, made over from the tail-end Invincibles of last year, have not kept pace with the other teams of the league to date and against the Sons appear to be outclassed.

The lineups for tomorrow's games follow:

Rangers.	Position.	Foresters.

GOLFERS PLAN TRIP.

STOCKTON, Nov. 4.—The Stockton Golf and Country club will send a team of ten players to Fresno to compete

FOOTBALL FACTS worth knowing

by SOL METZGER

Q. On kick-off kicker misses ball almost completely. It goes toward side-line and before it has gone 10 yards an opponent touches it, but ball goes out-of-bounds. Is ball to be kicked over again or is it in play with both teams eligible to recover it out-of-bounds?

A. It is in play and men of both teams are eligible to recover it out-of-bounds. Rule 13, Section 7.

Q. On a punt from scrimmage in which we have a man behind ball and onside, if this man is first to touch ball, does he put his own teammates onside?

A. No. Any man who is behind the ball when it is kicked except the kicker, may recover the ball before it has touched an opponent. Rule 18, Section 8.

Q. After ball has been kicked off and is in the air, player of team kicking off slugs opponent on opponent's' 35-yard line. Who gets ball and where?

A. Ball goes to the offended side at the spot where the slugging occurred. The offender is banished from the game. Rule 23, Section 5.

Q. On kick-off may a player of team kicking off run out-of-bounds on his way down the field and then tackle runner after he comes in? If not, what is penalty if in going out-of-bounds he does so on opponents' 40-yard line?

A. On kick-off, a player may run out of bounds to avoid an opponent and then run in on the field without drawing a penalty. The only time that a penalty is given for going out-of-bounds is when a player goes out to hide from opponents so that he may receive a pass or kick from a teammate. This is called "hiding." Otherwise, rules do not cover outside except as to man with ball. Rule 21, Section 7.

Q. Is it permissible for opposing linemen on defense to swing their arms back and forth in neutral zone, as many Yale teams used to do?

A. No. There shall be no encroaching on the neutral zone. The center is allowed to have his head and hands off-side when his team is in possession of the ball. All other forwards should be in back of the ball when it is passed. Rule 9, Section 2 and 3.

If any football rules puzzle you, write Sol Metzger care of our Sporting Editor, enclosing stamped, return envelope. He'll give you a quick and correct decision.

Stanford Starts Rugby Practice

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 4.—Rugby football practice has been started by the Stanford team which expects to go to British Columbia during the winter holidays for games. The contests will be staged under the auspices of the Vancouver, B. C., Rugby union.

Penn State Defeated by Navy Eleven

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Penn state suffered its first football defeat yesterday in three years, going down before the powerful Navy eleven. In making up a 14 to 0 score the midshipmen staged a comeback after their beating by the University of Pennsylvania last week and evened up the count following their defeat by the Nittany Lions just a year ago.

In the hot and sultry weather both teams got away to a ragged start, but after that each side displayed a dash and at times, a brilliance of play that furnished plenty of excitement for the largest and most distinguished crowd that ever attended a football game in Washington. Governor Sproul and his official staff came down from Harrisburg to lend encouragement to the Lions while official Washington was largely represented. Secretary Denby and other members of the cabinet as well as foreign diplomats, navy and army officers an dothers in official life were on hand.

Penn state twice carried a threat to the navy in the first period, once with line charges and passes and again by receiving a fumble but it lacked the punch to carry the ball over and on each occasion Palm's try at a field goal failed. After that the forward and double passing game of the Lions carried but little of a puzzle for the midshipmen until the closing minutes of play. Then it was too late.

The lineup and summary:

Navy	Position	Penn State
Carney	left guard	Hamilton
Mathews	c	Bentz (capt)
Lentz	right guard	Bedenk
Walker	right tackle	McMahon
Taylor	right end	Hufford
Conroy (c)	q. b.	Palm
McKee	l. h. b.	Wilson
Cullen	r. h. b.	Kratz
Barchet	full back	Lafferty

Score by periods:

Navy	0	7	7	0	—14

Jones' Diamond Medal Pleases Trophy Winner

Wallace Spalding, Technical high school runner, who for the second consecutive year captured the Diamond medal award to the first Alameda high school boy to finish in the Oakland TRIBUNE Lake Merritt marathon, is more than pleased with the trophy awarded this year.

The medal, designed and made by Ed Jones, well-known local designer and manufacturer of medals and badges, is an exceptional piece of work and surpasses anything of the sort ever given a winner in the past.

Ed Jones has always been an enthusiastic booster for amateur sports and as a result he has made it possible for winners of TRIBUNE Marathon prizes, particularly in the medals which he has designed, to have trophies far more attractive than is usually the case.

Tech Tramples Over Vocational Eleven

The Tech Bulldogs easily downed the Vocational High eleven yesterday at Brushrod, the final score being 40-0. Tech's scoring consisted of six touchdowns four of which were converted. Bill Cowes and Johnny Edwards starred for the Purple and Gold, while Parmon shone for the losers. The winners seem to be improving with every battle, and the Tech-Oakland game on November 21 is being looked forward to as the biggest hig school event since the revival of American football.

Syracuse Is Set For Nebraska Game

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The University of Nebraska football team arrived in Syracuse last night with every man in good condition for the game with Syracuse University eleven in Archbold stadium today. The Cornhuskers retired early, and this morning engaged in signal practice. They had a two-hour drill on a school campus at Niagara Falls yesterday afternoon.

The contest of west against the east will be played on a rain-soaked gridiron. Notwithstanding the prediction of cloudy skies, more than 15,000 persons are expected in the concrete bowl. The Cornhuskers outweight the Syracuse boys, and are the popular favorites to win. The Nebraska line averages 197 pounds to 188 for Syracuse, and the backs average 174 to 169 for Syracuse.

N. Y. Club to Hold Women's Tournament

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — The women's national golf championship event for 1923 has been awarded to the Westchester-Biltmore Country club, at Rye, N. Y., by the United States Golf association, it was announced last night.

The date for the tournament has not been set, but it will be within the first fortnight of October, 1923, according to Thomas Armour, secretary of the Westchester-Biltmore club.

This year's title play was staged at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., star, won the championship, dethroning Miss Marion Hollins, of West Brook, N. Y.

SEVEN YEARS IN RETROSPECT.

Seven years ago today the Oakland TRIBUNE passed into its present control. They have been eventful years, both to this newspaper and this community. The most optimistic well-wishers could hardly have predicted the progress that has been made by both. In the foreword this was said:

THE TRIBUNE speaks for a great and important district, which may be desiguated as Northern and Central California. More intimately it is the champion of a group of very thriving cities and communities on the continental side of San Francisco Bay. Oakland and its neighbors constitute a metropolitan district of striking individuality, destined to have vastly greater industrial and commercial importance than has generally been foreseen. . . . Its harbor, now in process of development, will rival the world's greatest ports. With improved harbor and traffic facilities it will become the country's principal trans-shipping point of both land and ocean-borne commerce on the Pacific Coast. The realization of these facts has fostered civic pride and ambitions, so that this city and its neighbors have started to prepare in other ways for the magnificent future. To foster and further this spirit is to be one of the aims of this paper.

This was not uttered as unqualified prophecy, but considering what has happened it is entitled to be placed in that category. No chart was laid down in that salutatory for the course to be followed by THE TRIBUNE, under its new management, but this was said:

To others, and to all, it may be stated that it will be the aim to continue THE TRIBUNE as a helpful and good-tempered newspaper. The great majority wants good government and right progress—the best civic results. The issues that divide good citizens, starting bitter feuds, are often trivial in the light of subsequent events. To the extent of its ability THE TRIBUNE will labor to allay that spirit of strife that is too often manifested in public affairs.

Whether that policy has been carried out can be left to the judgment of all who are conversant with the steady course of this paper under its present management. But it can at least be said that we see a community united and enthusiastic for progress and making mighty strides for a greater goal than was believed to be so near at that time.

But this is not written in glorification of journalistic achievement. It is but a slight blazing of the trail that has been traversed in seven stirring years. As to the future a further quotation can be made from the foreword of November 4, 1915:

But it is not the intention to begin with an exposition of intentions and confident anticipations of what THE TRIBUNE will accomplish. It is perfectly understood that what it does, rather than what it promises, will determine the true measure of its worth.

That rule can stand for the future, though it may be presumed that a steady policy of seven years can be accepted as indicating the quality of the future.

Kings county will celebrate Armistice Day at Visalia where "six varieties of entertainment" are promised. In that part of the state the reciprocal feeling is strong. Hanford celebrated on the Fourth and the other cities joined in. Now it is Visalia's turn and there is a good-natured rivalry to see which city can be the better host.

A PREDICTION.

"In twenty-five years Oakland will be the greatest city on the Pacific Coast. This is not an idle statement of a confirmed optimist but the sincere conviction of business men and financiers who are now preparing the grounds for great developments to come."

The above is from the convention number of the East Bay Water Company's magazine "Bubbles." It is but a part of an article which was placed into the hands of the California Section of the American Water Works Association and which has been sent to water company officials the country over. It represents the conviction of one concern of large capital. It speaks volumes and will aid in attracting more attention this way.

"We stand ready to back construction enterprise in Oakland to the extent of $10,000,000." Here is an offer from one of the greatest bond houses of the East, an offer made within the half-month and after a careful investigation of the city's resources and growth. A few months ago this same house would not finance enterprise in Oakland or any other Pacific Coast city to an amount exceeding one million. Except for Oakland that limit still holds good.

A city does not benefit by the rash statements of her own citizens but it may be pardoned for repeating the good things which others have said. Here are two of the latest significant expressions. They come from men who know.

MORE NEWS FOR PACIFIC.

The Pan-American Congress at Honolulu revealed the inadequacy of the channels of news communication on the Pacific and called the attention to the nations on either side to the need for more cables. Indeed, the question of an exchange of news between this country and Japan became the most important one before the conference.

Between the United States and Europe there are thirteen separate cables and a number of radio circuits with special rates for the transmission of despatches. Across the Pacific there is but one cable between this country and the Far East and that is said to be owned by British capital. It was brought out, as it has been many times before, the Pacific cable is frequently congested and the rates for the transmission of news is all but prohibitive.

With the introduction of the wireless there has not, as yet, come a marked improvement. One company handles messages from Honolulu to San Francisco and through an arrangement with the Japanese Government, is in communication with Japan. Under special conditions the Navy opens its stations to commercial and press messages.

It is agreed the stage of world history will be set in the Pacific. The hope on both sides of the Pacific is that the march of events shall be peaceful. If America and Japan, for instance, are to continue in friendly relations it is imperative there shall be an understanding which can only come with the free exchange of the news. The Pan-Pacific Conference has recommended co-operation among the nations to make the most of the possibilities of the radio and to secure transpacific news transmission at low rates. It asks that experimental work be carried on between established government radio stations in the United States, South America, China, Japan, Australia, and the Philippines and that Congress extend the authority already given to the Navy Department to use its wireless stations for news and commercial messages.

There is merit in these recommendations. Out of a more free exchange of news will come understanding, and in understanding there is assurance of peace.

A despatch from Tacoma tells of bears invading the camp of a light and power company in an intoxicated condition. They had come upon barrels of "mash" in the woods, whose presence in such an unusual place was due to manufacturing bootleggers. It is told that the bears acted something scandalous—just rolled around anywhere, making almost as unlovely spectacle as man does under similar influence. Also the instance illustrates the ingenuity of bootleggers—how they follow unusual devices to get stock.

A despatch states that "violent scenes marked the first session of the Angora session." A discussion as to the status of the sultan was the occasion. In certain circles in this country where the argot is more or less employed in discussing such matters it will be said that there should not have been great trouble at Angora in locating the "goat."

CALIFORNIA'S RECORD IN POWER.

Prideful Easterners should take note that in one field of industry the Pacific Coast is making us look like pikers. While we call 30,000 volts a high tension, California thinks nothing of seven times that. The Geological Survey, in its recent report upon the proposed super-power system for the industrial region between Boston and Washington, states that in 1920 the East had only 1200 miles of lines whose voltage exceeded 30,000, and of this only 37 miles reached 110,000 volts, the rest being 66,000 or less. But California, as the London Times Trade Supplement notes with astonishment, carries power tremendous distances at ever more tremendous tensions.

The chief line of the Southern California Edison Company has for some years delivered electricity 240 miles away in Los Angeles at a tension of 150,000 volts. More recently the Great Western Power Corporation has carried energy 186 miles into San Francisco at a tension of 165,000 volts. The line crosses San Francisco Bay, where its insulators are built to stand a strain of eleven tons. But a further advance is already being made, for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company has under way an installation which will transmit 220,000 volts some 200 miles. Nor will this record stand very long, for the Southern California Edison Company is contemplating the conversion of its main line to 232,000 volts.

The reason for these high tensions is simple. California has no coal of her own and knows that her oil will not last forever, so that she must depend ever more heavily upon water power. The Southern California Edison Company is going to develop a total of 1,000,000 horse power in the mountains, and the Los Angeles region will want it all. If it were to be transmitted at 150,000 volts, eight circuits or sixteen lines would be required, and as the circuits would have to be at least eighty feet apart the mere right of way would present a grave problem. High tension lines are costly—the 220,000-volt line now going up represents an expenditure of nearly $175,000 a mile—but are cheaper in the end. This California development has its lesson for the East, which ships its power in the antiquated, wasteful form of soft coal and makes imperfect use of its water-power resources.—New York Evening Post.

The fog is slipping in the gate,
Its streamers stretch afar,
A ghostly fleet, 'tis headed straight
From sun to eastern star.
How slow it rides,
How sure it hides
Electric signs—
And monkeyshines!

In billows now the fog does plunge
And all the lowland fills,
Just like the wraith of some damp sponge
It mounts the Berkeley hills.
It hides the stars
And motor cars,
It rides the breeze
And makes one sneeze!

We walk apart in cloud of gray
And feel the world is lost,
The fog has wiped it all away—
A lonely spirit tossed.
It isolates
The small and greats—
And one may be
Alone and free!

Office Gossip.

Clementina Montgomery, who has a way of confounding us with our own words, has written in to ask for remuneration on the grounds she has read verse for which we are responsible. Along with her letter she encloses certain remarks made in the Almanac.

"It is no more than right the taxpaying and long suffering public should be remunerated for the time spent reading what poets and others have written."

At first glance it would seem Clementina had a bill which may not be overlooked. A happy thought strikes us that "what is more than right" is not always, indeed seldom, carried out in custom or the statutes. We shall agree Miss Montgomery has an ethical and moral claim for whatever damages she may consider sufficient, but deny there is any way in which she can collect. Nothing short of an overwhelming vote of the Almanacians, in convention assembled, will lead us to pay Clementina for reading our verse.

We Haven't Seen 'Em.

Has anyone here seen Goldfish,
Has anyone here seen Kay—
Has anyone here seen Black Sheep,
Or did they strike for "pay?"
—Why Oakland.

In strict confidence, we have never seen any of the men named, Kay sends in his contributions penned in exceedingly neat fist and adorned with pictures which would do credit to the professional cartoonist. Everytime we receive one we regret the architectural limits of the column will not allow the introduction of an art gallery. Black Sheep's stuff comes typewritten, even to the signature, and there is no telling what sort of a sheep he is—whether he is as black as he is painted. Goldfish was ever inconstant. He flashes and disappears. Maybe some big fish has got him.

In the last few days we have turned down a large number of poems which have shouted politics. When propaganda gets into poetry we always suspect some of our press agent acquaintances of plots to put something over on us. One contrib wrote a lively song about the amendments and ended with his advice on how to vote on Proposal Number Two. There are some grewsome verses on vivisection and a few which struggle rather remarkably to find rhyme with chiropractic and osteopathy. If we were to venture to print all of these poems on political proposals an extension of six feet or more would be necessary on the top of this column.

The Shortest One.

The soldier will be filled with glee.
If you should vote for C.e and Three.

Sir: In case you have wondered why the California Bears did not run up a larger score in the U. S. C. game last Saturday, I submit this by our own Tribune expert:

"Those on the inside know that the Golden Bears' forward passing game was not put on display in the south for some reason known or unknown."

NOTES and COMMENT

Deseret News: "Belgium is a small industrial hive, but it is one of the busiest in all Europe. There is a compact force to the industrial life of Belgium and as a result she is rapidly recovering from the devastations of war. Such countries as Belgium and Denmark illustrate the advantages of co-operation in small countries. Large countries, like large commercial systems, are so often loosely bound that they afford great dangers of waste."

Chicago Tribune: "The refugees from Eastern Thrace are crowding into Greek ports. The ships which bring such as are lucky enough to get aboard have hardly any food for them and hardly any water. They are discharged at ports which have no supplies for them. The diplomats and soldiers sat at the chessboard and made moves, but the chessmen are uncomfortably alive in flesh. The powers are expert in making disasters, but are futile in dealing with the consequences of them."

But of late years few people have been bothering with them. A friendly argument has recently been going on among actors in and out of the papers as to the reason. Some hold that it is because modern theaters are smaller, and hence the magnifying glasses are unnecessary. Others think that the newer and better methods of lighting are responsible."

The Kansas City Star discusses need of another censor: "Strange to note, the literary censorship most needed in this country has never been proposed. That is a censorship that will somehow assume regulation of inane love letters that seem to be an inevitable by-product of all our modern triangle murder cases. A form letter, approved by the State, has been suggested as a relief, but that would reduce love-making to a mere chore, such as make application for electric light service, or getting a liquor prescription. However, something ought to be done, if only to make a lot of recent murders seem less justifiable."

ANTI-VIVISECTION.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

In justice to amendment No. 28 I wish to call attention to statements in recently published letters on the subject of anti-vivisection.

A doctor stated that if the anti-vivisection amendment passed no person would be allowed to use angleworms for bait or oysters for food. Such assertions to intelligent or thinking persons are too foolish and absurd for discussion, but unfortunately there are voters who are neither.

Another writer quotes "that all animals receive the same care and consideration accorded to human beings who are subjected to operations of various kinds." Every one knows that that is not true, because no human being is ever vivisected, and when "subjected to operations" is given an anesthetic and is entirely unconscious of pain.

During a session of the state legislature a few years ago some traveled, educated women of Los Angeles—at their own expense—showed, in Sacramento, the various means of torture to animals by vivisection, or in the name of "science in medical research." One was an oven where dogs or other animals were slowly roasted alive; another, where the animal was slowly strangled, and many other devices of torture; besides vivisection, such as a nurse described at that time where students—at a college where she was employed—would strap a dog helplessly to a table and after cutting out parts of its intestines, etc. (without giving an anesthetic), put the animal into a wire floored cage and if it survived the night would again be subjected to the same torture. The nurse stated that she "could not stand it and resigned."

As there is a great difference of opinion among eminent physicians [illegible] section, I would like to propose a compromise between anti and vivisection—namely, this: Have several noted, middle-aged doctors high in their profession, of undoubted ability and standing, vivisect a few animals and write the results in medical books, from which students could learn as they do about human beings and thereby save from indescribable torture thousands of dumb animals.

Inoculation is, we know, of benefit, and should be permitted, as disease is one of the human as well as animal misfortunes, but never vivisection.

About YOUR HEALTH

Why You Should Be Sure Your Shoes Are Comfortable

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A few days ago I read somewhere an interesting statement. It was in effect that in walking, when a man throws his weight on one foot, it lengthens his foot a half-inch and increases the width an equal amount.

I suppose the exact degree of increased length and width depends considerably on your weight. But the fact that there is any increase gives you warning of what to expect if your shoes are too short or too narrow.

To my mind the most disillusioning thing about the human being is the foot.

I never see a trim and attractively booted foot without wondering what the naked foot is like. I venture to state there are a hundred beautiful faces where there is one nearly perfect foot.

I am not talking about little feet, or artistically shaped feet. I refer to feet without bunions, feet with straight toes, uncalloused, smoothly nailed. They are rare, indeed.

The worst thing about "style" is that prevailing "style" is so often crystallized. Every garment seems cast in the same mould or cut according to the same pattern.

At a health exposition I saw an X-ray machine so arranged that a prospective purchaser of shoes could look through it and see his own feet and toes. Almost every one was amazed at the distortion caused by some shoes.

I believe it is possible for every man, woman and child to select a pair of shoes which will not crowd and pinch the feet, and yet which will be neat and "stylish." Good sense will lead you to buy the shoes because they fit you, and not because they have some particular numeral stamped in the inside. You should forget sizes and choose the pair of shoes best adapted to your feet.

Anything which causes pain or long-continued discomfort results in drainage of nerve energy. It requires a powerful constitution and great nerve reserve to resist the natural effects of such an assault on the health.

You have seen lots of cases of chronic headache resulting from long-continued eyestrain. Why should not the body rebel in some similar fashion against long-continued footstrain, pinching or inflamed toes, displaced toe-nails from wearing too tight shoes? Comfort is essential to health. I wouldn't think much of a man or boy who couldn't face occasional discomfort with some degree of resignation. But nobody can be well and happy who is fighting all the time against pain and misery.

Give attention to your feet. Keep them as clean and as well-groomed as you do your hands. Have them as well-fitted as your head is.

Fortunately, this last mentioned part of the anatomy is so unyielding that it refuses to take a hat so small as to dent the skull. The hat may be tight enough to cut off the circulation and cause baldness, but it is incapable of preventing the growth of the head.

Have your shoes not too large, either, but large enough to permit the natural extension and flattening of your feet when you walk.

Then having fitted your feet to the right kind of shoes, walk a lot every day. Walk vigorously, taking long strides, and swinging your whole body with the energy of your movements.

Your feet are an important part of your body. They must be well cared for if you would have good health. The better they are and the less conscious you are of them, the happier you will be.

WATERFRONT SITE TO GO AT AUCTION

165-Acre Plot in Alameda to Go to Highest Bidder On Nov. 14—Cost Government $5000 An Acre in 1914

The Liberty shipbuilding plant is to be auctioned to the highest bidder on November 14.

Announcement of the plans of the United States shipping board to dispose of the real estate acquired during war times for the purpose of conducting a shipbuilding business was made today.

The property to be auctioned consists of 165 acres of waterfront land in Alameda suitable for industrial sites or 70 residence sites, according to the shipping board officials, and cost the government approximately $5000 an acre in 1918.

At the present time the land is unimproved, as the board has sold by private sale and by auction all of the buildings erected in preparation for the inauguration of the shipbuilding business as well as the equipment and office fixtures That auction was held on August 8 of last year and $150,000 was realized in the sale of the holdings

According to Thomas Baird, now in charge of the plant site, it is particularly suitable either to a shipbuilding concern or a lumber plant

"There is a waterfront area of 2000 feet," said Baird. "and the land runs back from the waterline for 2000 feet. The site is immediately next the present plant of the Bethlenem Steel Corporation on the Alameda side of the estuary.

"For a lumber concern it would be an ideal location, as there is plenty of storage room and the site is reached by water and rail. Of course it was originally intended as a ship yards and plans were made by the government to install eight ways, which would make it one of the largest yards hereabouts."

According to the announced terms of the shipping board the auction will be held on the morning of Tuesday, November 14, and will be in charge of Gerth's auctioneers of New York. Ten per cent of the bidding price must be presented in cash or certified check at the time of the sale 20 per cent at the time of the closing sale and the balance in one, two or three years at 5 per cent.

INTERNATIONAL BALL WILL CLOSE THIS EVENING

BERKELEY, Nov. 4.—An international ball made gay by costumes of all countries will bring to a close tonight the two-day Carnival of Nations given by the Mobilized Women of Berkeley to raise funds for Americanization activities.

Finnish Hall, Tenth and Delaware streets, was bright with colorful decorations yesterday afternoon for the opening of the carnival. In the upper hall are booths where all kinds of fancy work, foodstuffs candies and other articles are on sale. Downstairs are being conducted card games. Fortune telling, vaudeville numbers and other features add to the entertainment.

Last night's program was featured by the presentation of "Niobe," a comedy by players of the Codornices Club under Mrs. Herbert Sanford Howard.

Mrs Lewis A Hicks is directing the carnival assisted by prominent club and society women from all parts of the city. Mrs. H. J. Gute, president of the Berkeley Federation of Mothers, is in charge of the serving of Italian dinners while among the other women active in the various booths are Mrs. D. E. Wiseman, Mrs. G. P. Adams Miss Katherine Birdsall, Mrs. James Plachek, Mrs W. H. Booth, Mrs. Matthew Morton Jr, Mrs. Paul Swedberg, Miss Alma Smith and Miss Violet Schlichtman.

One-Share Holder Relieved of Paying

Because he owned one share of stock in a cider and grape juice business, Attorney Joseph W. Havens was made a co-defendant in a suit for $35 instituted by H. P. Brashares, an accountant of services rendered. The other 8000 shares of stock were owned by J. W. McCann and John H. Plattner, who were also made defendants.

McCann and Plartner resisted payment on the ground the concern had failed, and there was no corporate property. When Judge Harry Pulcifer ruled that in that case Brashares could collect from the individual stockholders, they paid up, relieving Attorney Havens from his obligation of paying one eight-thousandth part of the the judgment.

Richmond Y. M. C. A. Drive Nets $4989

RICHMOND Nov. 4. — The Richmond Y. M. C. A. drive for $6000 by Thursday night failed by about a thousand of consummation, but the three-day drive was extended to close tonight The total turned in was $4989. General Secretary A. W. Mueller declared that it was physically impossible to make the canvass in the three days actually devoted to the work. Many business men on the various teams could give only an hour or two daily to the work. By extending the time limit, Mueller believes that the $6000 will be oversubscribed.

"Broadway Rose" Received With Enthusiasm at the American.

"Broadway Rose," Mae Murray's latest film production, which opened at the American theater yesterday, is being received with even more enthusiasm than her celebrated "Peacock Alley." Critics who have viewed both pictures have proclaimed "Broadway Rose" as more powerful of theme and as being more lavish in settings and costumes. In addition, Miss Murray gives another of her original dance conceptions.

"Broadway Rose" is presented at 11:30, 1:25, 3:20, 5:15, 7:10 and 9:35.—Advertisement.

John W. Baer Pays Barrows Tribute

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—"Dr. David P. Barrows has fostered the interests of higher education by making the University of California increasingly human, and therefore we of Southern California hope he will reconsider his intention of resigning the presidency," declared John W. If you knew that all of the 80,000 people living in the great funnel-shaped district East of Broadway and North of Grand found their natural turning point at Grand and Broadway, as they visited back and forth daily —

If you knew that there was one natural and logical place in Oakland where these well-to-do shoppers could most conveniently meet the merchants who wanted their trade—

If you were planning to locate your high-class specialty store in Oakland and at the point of greatest advantage to yourself—

You'd choose location near the mouth of that funnel. Wouldn't you?

TRIBUNE TO FLASH NEWS OF ELECTION

Eastbay, State, Nation to Be Covered by Special Staffs; Bulletins, Radio to Give Returns Up to Midnight

Announcement of election returns on Tuesday night, November 7, from The TRIBUNE offices in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda and through The TRIBUNE wireless service, will be on a scale unprecedented in the bay region. The most elaborate service, by regular wire as well as by special arrangement through a small army of correspondents and representatives, will see to it that the readers of The TRIBUNE have an excellent impression of the trend of events early in the evening as soon as the counting of the votes starts, while final returns will be announced immediately on completion of each count.

Returns will be announced from bulletin boards at the following points:

The TRIBUNE building. Thirteenth and Franklin streets, Oakland

The TRIBUNE office, 1401 Park street, Alameda

Bowman's Drug Store. Center street, at Shattuck, Berkeley, around the corner from the Berkeley office of The TRIBUNE.

Local returns throughout the Eastbay region and San Francisco will be gathered by TRIBUNE reporters and correspondents speeding from one polling precinct to another. A large number of taxicabs and automobiles have been reserved for this work, and reporters will telephone the status of the count to The TRIBUNE at intervals of but a few minutes.

The regular wire services, such as the Associated Press, the United Press and the International News Service, will cover the national field for The TRIBUNE.

The TRIBUNE wireless will commence announcing results at 7 p. m. and will continue this service until midnight. The wireless will operate a 405 meters wave length. The same power was used during the primary election, and found most effective. No other entertainment will be on the air Tuesday night. KLX will broadcast the results at two to five-minute intervals

---today starts at 11 a.m.

Camp Comforts Too Hot for Dreams of Hobo

Emergency Hospital Called On to Pour Oil on Burns of Nick Schlicht.

The night was raw and chilly, so Nick Schlicht and his hobo companions built a camp fire in a secluded part of the Western Pacific yards Then they sought release from the thoughts of work in sleep and dreamed of bountiful "handouts" of luscious dainties from kind housewives. And Nick was feeling warm and comfy, dreaming that he was getting such a handout while ensconced near a hot kitchen stove. In fact the heat got so intense that he felt uncomfortable and he squirmed.

Then the still night air was pierced with a sudden howl and the hobos awoke suddenly from their slumber. The howl had come from Nick who came to sudden consciousness to find that the bonfire had crept under him and had burned through both shirts into his back. His companion put out the fire and Nick hastened to the Emergency hospital where he was treated for first degree burns on the back.

ALASKA LURE DRAWS WIFE FROM HOME

Milo C. Caughream Granted Divorce When He Proves Spouse Prefers Frozen North to Residence Here

Those who think of Alaska as a wild land, piled with hardships and lacking in entertainment must revise their opinion if the word of the wife of Milo C. Caughream, 1631 Twenty-ninth avenue, illuminating engineer, is to be taken.

Caughream was granted a divorce today from Elizabeth Caughream, of Ketchikan, Alaska, on the grounds of desertion. He told the court that he was married in Ketchikan, May 27 1915, and shortly thereafter brought his wife to this city to reside. After living here for a few months she returned to Alaska. He again persuaded her to return here and after a short residence in this city she again went back to Alaska.

Then she wrote him a letter in which she said that she did not like California, as there was no entertainment there, and one can't have a good time like you can here." The letter also contained the plaint that "I can't even go to town and get a spool of thread when I am there. I sure don't like that pent-up feeling. It's Alaska for mine."

An Important Industry in Danger

The Burnett Bill, passed at the last session of the legislature, and known as the State Housing Act, is up for referendum in the November election.

The bill has been accurately described as a "wood-pile wrapped around a Nigger." If it becomes law, it will be illegal for you or anybody else to build a home with a shingle roof on it—bungalow, shack or mansion—in any city, town, or incorporated community in California. The anti-shingle joker would benefit hugely the manufacturers of substitute roofings, at the expense of the average taxpayer and prospective home builder of moderate means.

And it would practically destroy an industry in which millions of Californian capital are invested and which gives employment, directly and indirectly, to many thousands of people.

California is the fourth largest producer and the third largest user of shingles in the United States. Situated from the Oregon line to Santa Cruz county there are twenty-six mills devoted wholly, or in part, to the manufacture of shingles.

The State Housing Act is destructive to an important industry of California, and patently against the public interest.

The State Immigration and Housing Commission, under whose jurisdiction the State Housing Act is administered, has publicly repudiated the bill. In addition, thirty-two Chambers of Commerce and many other representative organizations of California have gone on record as opposing the State Housing Act, including the following:

California State Federation of Labor
Sacramento Valley Development Association
California Development Association
Los Angeles Harbor Chamber of Commerce
North of Bay Counties Association
Northern California Building & Loan Association
Civic League of San Francisco

But it will become a law and you will have to obey it, no matter how much it costs you in money and comfort, unless you and your friends go to the polls November 7th and

CARNEGIE FUND PROVIDES FOR 600 PENSIONERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—On the tombstone of the iron master Andrew Carnegie, in Sleepy Hollow cemetery, is the epitaph he wrote:

Documents made public yesterday, and filed in the appelate division of the supreme court in support of an appeal asking that a $4,500,000 pension fund created by Carnegie's will be declared untaxable, sounded a practical overtone to the keynote of the epitaph.

The document showed that 600 men and women, most of them more than 68, and many more than 80 years old, were on the pension list of the Scotch iron-master who died in 1919. Some of the beneficiaries receive $10 a month; others get incomes that approximate $5,000 yearly. Some of them are workmen grown too old for their trades; some of them have been downed by sudden misfortune. One of them is a Viscount of London; another is the widow of a railroad engineer.

But most of them are "men who enlisted in the service of Andrew Carnegie."

HELEN KELLER ON LIST

To Miss Helen Keller, the famous girl who is deaf, dumb and blind, the Carnegie pension fund grants an annuity of $2500. Viscount John Morley of Wimbledon Park, London, is provided with £1000 a year after reaching the age of 80, according to the pension provisions. Hundreds of others whose names are unfamiliar on news pages but which were once written on the payrolls of steel mills and plants in Pennsylvania, receive incomes of varying sizes from the fund.

Several letters from Mr. Carnegie in regard to the care of obscure friends were made public today by Robert A. Franks, who for many years directed the disposal of the pension fund. One says, of an old man and his wife:

"They are old, no longer able to work, and on the verge of losing their minds. The arrangement I suggest, I hope, will make them comfortable to the end."

Another letter concerns an engineer, who, close to death, asked Carnegie's aid for his family, one of whom was a crippled daughter. The engineer, in his feeble days, had been pensioned, and the letter directs the continuation of aid to his family, saying:

"If more is needed to keep the widow and her daughter, it is to be given them, sure."

REPAID OLD-TIME LOAN.

One letter, directing the enrollment of the name of a woman on the list of pensioned, tells directly of a "man enlisted in the services" of Carnegie. It says:

"Please say her father loaned me $217.50, in order to make my first payment on sleeping car stock. Say that he took my note without security, saying, 'Yes, I'll lend it to you, and you're all right.'

"So his daughter need have no hesitation in coming under my wing now, as it were."

The appeal for the ruling dispensing with taxation of the fund—which was granted—was partly based upon proofs offered to show that the pension fund was but a small part of the philanthropies of the ironmaster, who gave away, the accounting shows, $350,000,000 and died worth $23,000,000.

Andrew Carnegie retired from business in 1901, the court was told, and from then until his death, at Shadowbrook, Lenox, Mass., on August 11, 1919, was most interested in the disposition of large portions of his fortune.

"JANS YRRAB" AND DR. SAMOHT TALK WATER ACT

Billed as "Professor Yrrab" of Rotterdam, Holland, and "Dr. Moses Samoht" of Nashville, Tenn., and touted as authorities on hydro-electric power, two well known optimists took part in a warm debate over the proposed Water and Power Act at the luncheon of the Oakland Optimist Club in Hotel Oakland yesterday.

The Dutch professor turned out to be William H. Berry and his dissertation opposing adoption of the act invoked much laughter while it presented strong arguments.

When "Dr. Moses Samoht" put away his negro mask it revealed W. E. Thomas, who apologized for his lack of negro dialect by declaring that Barry's Dutch accent had driven it out of his [illegible] les of public ownership of water supply in various municipalities as proof that it would be equally successful in California.

Jack Martin of San Francisco, international president of the Optimists Clubs, was present and gave a talk on organization. David C. Dutton, local president, presided.

CAMEL-WALK DANCE HIT.

LONDON.—The "camel-walk," an American variation of the fox-trot, after being adopted in Paris, has now become the favorite dance of London.

Michigan Will Honor Carleton

HILLSDALE, Mich., Nov. 4.—Further steps to make imperishable the memory of [illegible] Carleton, Michigan's beloved poet, were taken here at the annual business meeting of the Will Carleton Memorial Association. It was decided to place next year, during fitting ceremonies, a boulder on the site of "the old poorhouse," located near Mr. Carleton's home, a short distance from Hudson, and which the poet described in his "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse."

A similar boulder was placed a year ago on the old homestead where the poet was born. The boulder marking the spot was one upon which Carleton often had played as a boy.

Efforts to make the life and works of the poet better known to Michigan school children in the future also will be made. "Will Carleton Day" annually is celebrated in Michigan schools by legislative enactment, October 21 being set apart because it is the anniversary of the poet's birth. The memorial association has several hundred members residing in Michigan and other Middle Western and Eastern states.

SHOT DESTROYS LUNCH.

BELFAST.—As Patrick Gorman was raising a sandwich to take his first bite a shot fired through a window destroyed the sandwich.

Damage by Rodents Equal to Coyotes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Damage by smaller predatory rodents [illegible] so spectacular as that by wolves, mountain lions and coyotes, is very considerable, and in some cases more than equals that of the predatory animals, according to Dr. A. K. Fisher, of the United States Biological Survey. There should be closer cooperation, particularly in the matter of appropriations, between the federal and state governments, so that the largest amount available from both sources may be obtained, he says.

The department of agriculture declares that if the prairie dog alone were exterminated over its entire range, which is economically possible, 4,000,000 more cattle and 4,000,000 more sheep could be raised on that area, because of the increase in the amount of forage.

Records of the Biological Survey, a branch of the Department, show that in Texas its hunters, co-operating with the state agencies, have killed about 20,000 predatory animals, aggregating a saving of more than $2,700,000. Of the total of 17,800 wolves and coyotes captured, more than half had records as killers.

FOLLOWS WIFE TO GRAVE.

DENVER, Colo.—After attending the burial of his wife, Charles P. Oates returned to his home and dropped dead as he entered.

DO AUTOS CAUSE FLU?

BERLIN.—German scientists are now making tests to determine whether gas fumes from automobiles cause influenza.

Shop Crafts Will Discuss Their Strike

A mass meeting will be held tonight by the Federated Railway [illegible] E. C. hall at Seventh and Henry streets, at which the shop workers' strike will be discussed by various speakers. James Lord, organizer in California for the American Federation of Labor, will be the principal speaker, and Alex MacKenzie, president of the Boilermakers' Union, who has charge of the strike situation in the Eastbay district, will preside. A musical program will also be rendered, including vocal selections by Mrs. Abrogast.

Directions for November Award

Twenty of the advertisements appearing in the Directory contain words in which one letter is missing.

Contestants for the prizes are required to send in the list of 20 missing letters, stating in which advertisement each missing letter is found.

Inasmuch as no great difficulty will be had in finding the missing letters the prizes will be awarded on the basis of Correctness and Originality of answers. For instance, a correct answer furnished in an original manner will be given preference over a correct answer showing no originality.

Solutions should be addressed to Directory Contest Editor, Oakland TRIBUNE, and must be delivered to The Oakland TRIBUNE office or bear a postmark not later than Monday, December 4th. Prize winners will be announced Saturday, December 9th.

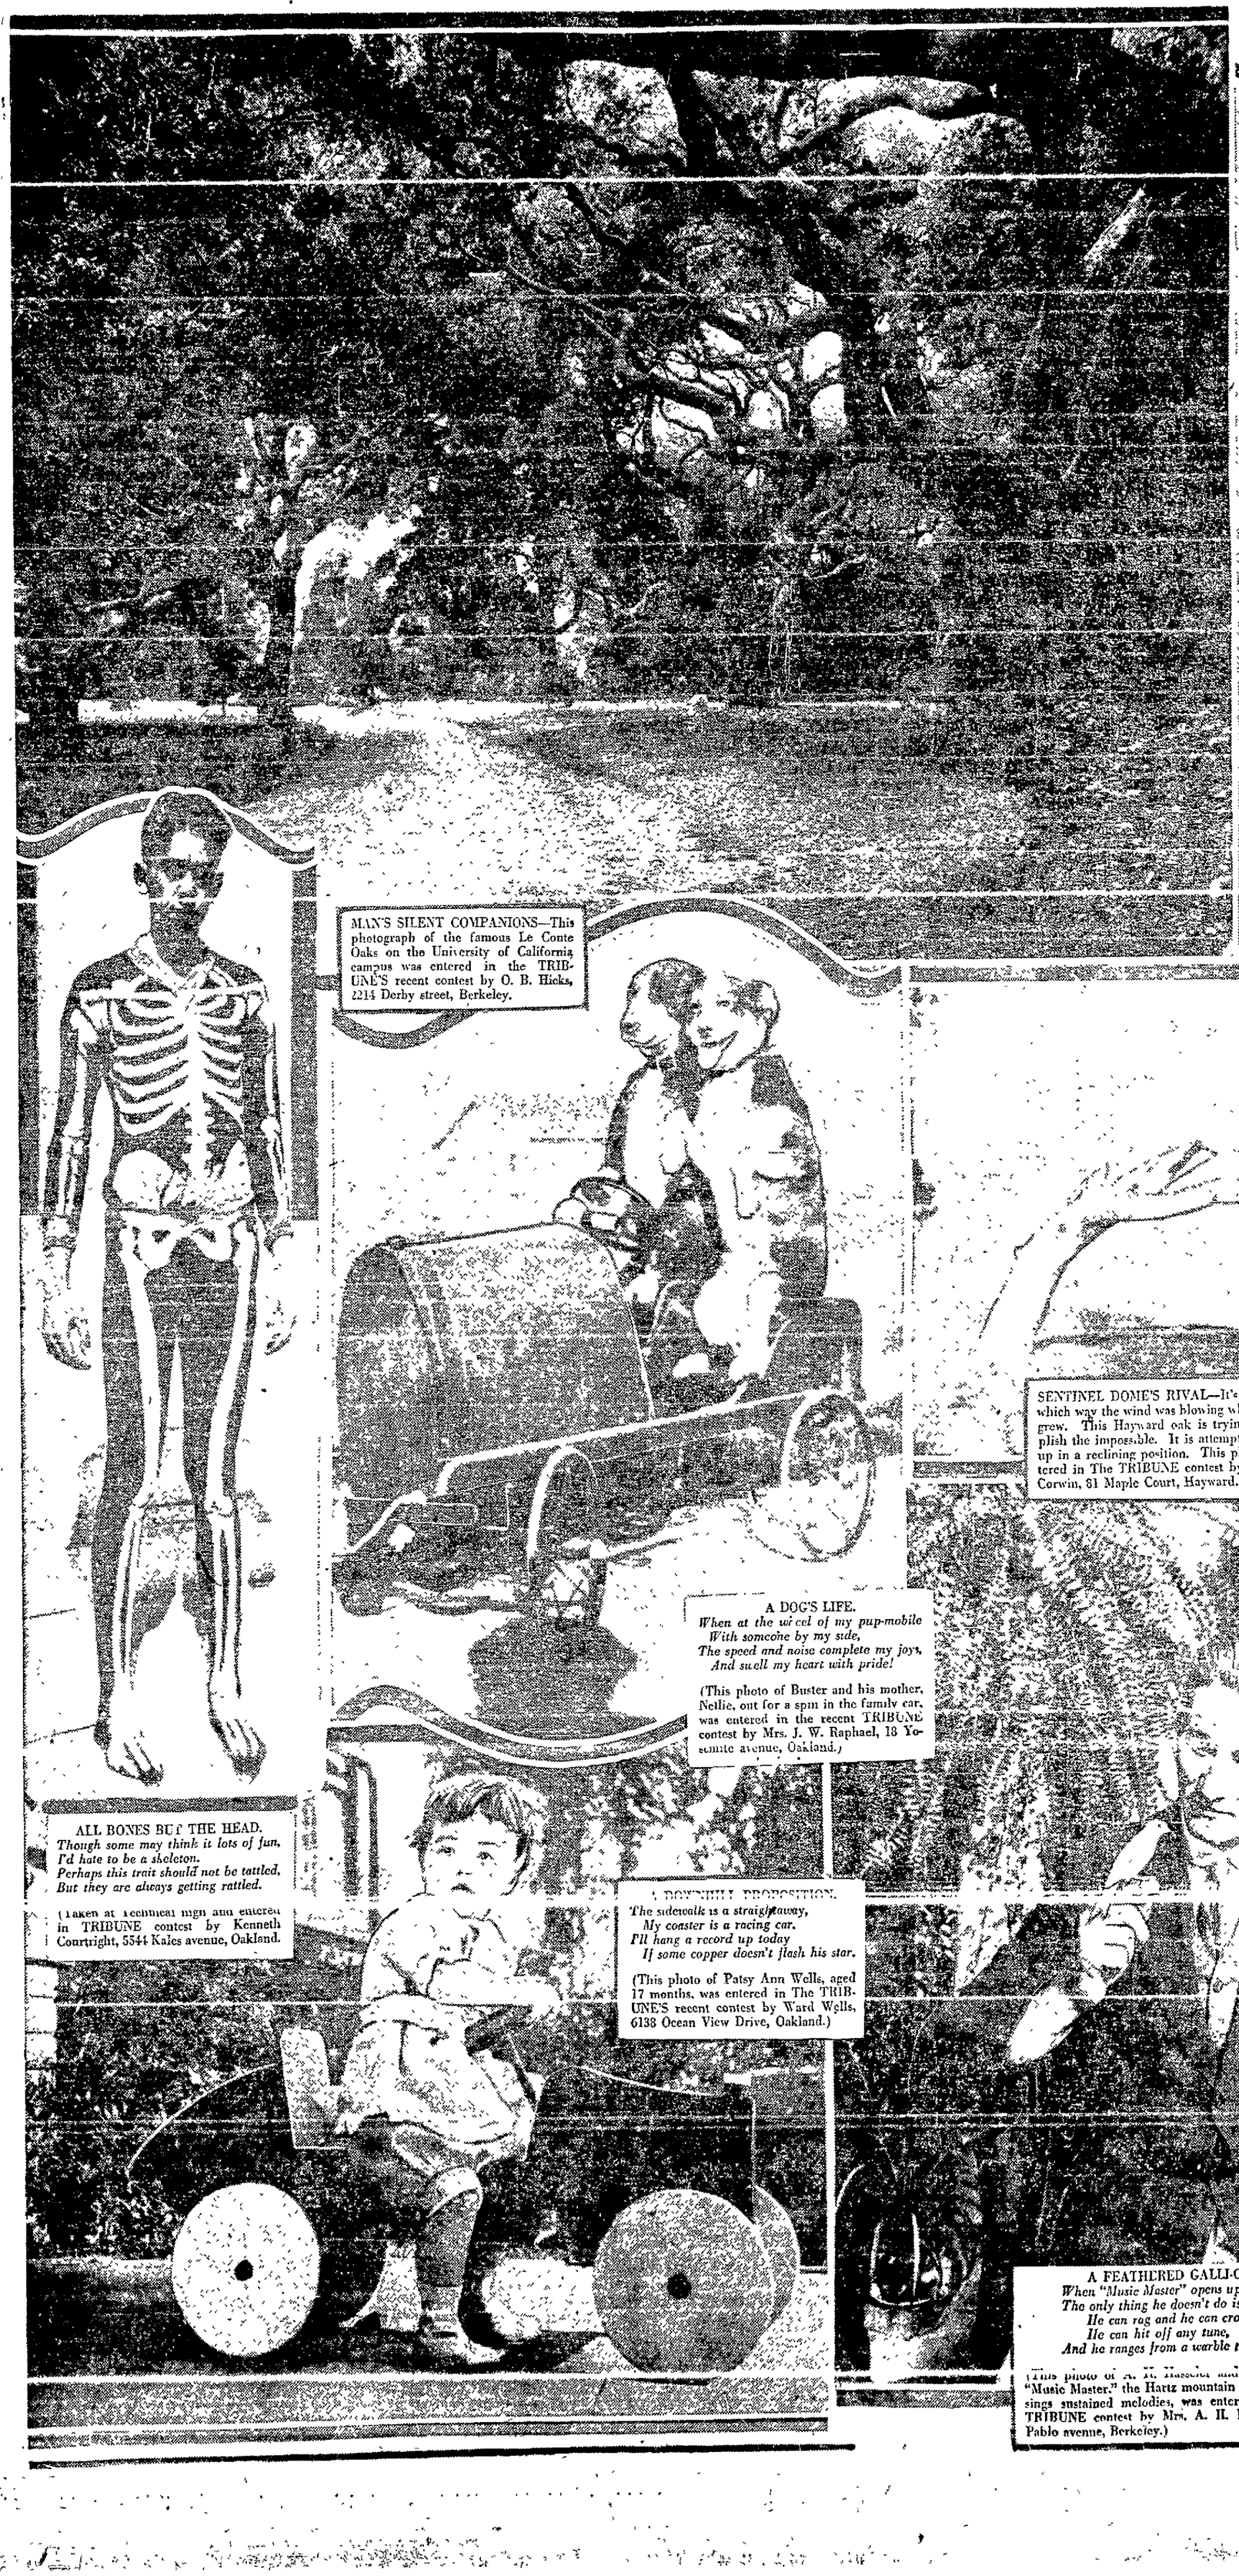
DAILY MAGAZINE

Eastbay and the World in Pictures—Comics by Famous Artists
Irvin Cobb, Geraldine, Clarice Patterns.



MAROONED IN THE SKY AND NOT AN AIRPLANE IN SIGHT!—This photo was taken "on the top of Oakland," that is to say, at the summit of Redwood Peak. It shows Arthur F. Kinsel and his son Charles. It was entered in the recent TRIBUNE contest by Arthur F. Kinsel, 733 Haddon Road, Oakland.

MAN'S SILENT COMPANIONS—This photograph of the famous Le Conte Oaks on the University of California campus was entered in the TRIBUNE'S recent contest by O. B. Hicks, 2214 Derby street, Berkeley.

SENTINEL DOME'S RIVAL—It's easy to tell which way the wind was blowing when this tree grew. This Hayward oak is trying to accomplish the impossible. It is attempting to stand up in a reclining position. This photo was entered in The TRIBUNE contest by Mrs. E. A. Corwin, 81 Maple Court, Hayward.

ALL BONES BUT THE HEAD.

Though some may think it lots of fun,
I'd hate to be a skeleton.
Perhaps this trait should not be tattled,
But they are always getting rattled.

A DOG'S LIFE.

When at the wheel of my pup-mobile
With someone by my side,
The speed and noise complete my joys,
And swell my heart with pride!

A BOYISHLY PROPOSITION.

The sidewalk is a straightaway,
My coaster is a racing car.
I'll hang a record up today
If some copper doesn't flash his star.

(This photo of Patsy Ann Wells, aged 17 months, was entered in The TRIBUNE'S recent contest by Ward Wells, 6138 Ocean View Drive, Oakland.)

A FEATHERED GALLI-CURCI.

When "Music Master" opens up his beak
The only thing he doesn't do is speak.
He can rag and he can croon,
He can hit off any tune,
And he ranges from a warble to a squeak.

MORE WORK FOR THE OYSTERS—It will be a busy season for the shell fish, for pearls are more in demand than ever. In the above picture a triple strand of them was chosen because of the sharp contrast they create against the jet black evening gown.

Winifred Black Writes FOLKS AND about THINGS

A VERY REAL HERO.

There isn't a thing romantic about him—not a thing. He isn't handsome, he isn't even good looking. I don't think he is even tall, and I know he isn't in the least athletic.

Intelligent? Oh, yes, very intelligent!

Successful, too—in a small way. He has his own little business and makes a comfortable living out of it. He plays golf twice week, belongs to a boating club d has the prettiest, neatest little ome in the world and the dearest, weetest woman you ever saw for wife.

WAS HE ASHAMED?

You would never think of choos- him for the hero in any sort of ay or any sort of story, and yet -do you know—I think he is a ero, anyhow. A real hero! And wish somebody would write a ook about him and his kind.

For one thing, he has an invalid rother, younger than himself, and ometimes when I see this hero's at just a little shabby, I know at he has sent an extra check to s invalid brother—and then his ife has some cousins she is trying help.

Not particularly interesting peo- , these cousins, but they are od, well-meaning girls and two ro of mine helps them, too. He ys at home sometimes when he uld have a vacation and send em away where they can get a tle change and see something o world.

His son is away at college—yes, 's a bit of a bore about that son his, and if you aren't careful, 'll take Son's picture out of his side pocket and show it to you d expect you to say how hand- me he is. Son really is hand- me, too—that's the worst of it. I'm afraid he knows it—and metimes I hear that he is a lit- extravagant and once they tell when his father went to see him a surprise, Son didn't seem par- ularly pleased.

I wonder if he was a little shamed of his father, because ather wasn't dressed quite in the test fashion, and then Father has ch a funny way of trying to look ung and pretending he's "one of e boys," when anyone can tell st by looking at him that he is as aid and settled as if he were sixty.

SOME DAY THEY'LL KNOW.

Never quite getting things exact- right. Forgetting the name of little girl in pink who was such scream in "Zee-Zee" or "Kee- ee" something and humming the test jazz, wrong every time.

Always moralizing too, and trying give advice. It isn't so bad when y come out with it up and down, when they hint around and ink you won't see it—funny old ugs, dads, sometimes. Always etting about you and your friends your plans and your chances in , and if you can't do better than or old Dad by the time you are age, why—

I don't suppose Son has the faint- idea that Dad is a real hero. I nder if he will realize when Dad and he has to worry about eping up the home place, and eeting all the obligations at the ce, and looking after the in- id brother, and either helping little cousins or telling them right that they can't expect any re.

I wish somebody would recognize as a hero right now and not until he is dead to send him wreath of laurel.

SMILES

"Daughter, did I not see you ting on that young man's lap en I passed the parlor door last ening?" "Yes, and it was very barrassing. I wish you had not me to." "Good heavens! I ver told you to do anything that if he attempted to get dimental I must sit on him."

Habit

Old habits—
Are such stubborn things—
All too persistent—
It's hard to shake them if you would—
They're like some "busted" cousin—
Who comes to stay a week or so—
Then satisfied—he stays for good—
Which minds me of the time that I—
And Dick and Tom and Al and Joe—
Went to a lecture—
And heard a man with bulging form—
Stand up and tell us how to live—
A hundred years or more—
He also told us what he ate—
But never told us how he got it—
But we had our suspicions—
For soon he passed his derby hat—
To pay for lights—and other things not mentioned—
But as I thought he'd told me things—
That I should know—
I dropped a buck within his hat—
And so did Dick and Tom and Al and Joe—
And as we all were over-stout—
And too round shouldered—
And as our wind was getting short—
The big guy said it came from smoking—
We then and there resolved to cut it out—
All—all of the habits bad we had—
We'd send unto the cleaners—
And take cold baths—and deep long breaths—
And roll an hour upon the floor—
Each chilly morning—
And go to work quite breakfastless—
And for our lunch we'd eat a prune—
And just one whole meat cracker—
And if at night we'd hungry be—
We'd take more exercise and drink a quart of water—
And in a hundred years from now—
We'd rise and praise this great man's name.

A week passed by before I met—
The gang down at the pool room—
And then I asked them how their joints were working—
For I resolved to let them try it first—
And Tom then up and swore a streak—
And said that he was off for life such bloomin' nonsense.
He roared—"I'll tell a sad-faced world—
I'm goin' to have my coffee"—
And Dick had rolled upon the floor—
Until his bones were bent and sore—and he disgusted—
And Al said that he'd starved by noon—
Upon a cracker and a prune—
And had gone back to army rations—
And Joe said he would like to choke—
That measly slant-eyed swindling bloke—
For all Joe's past was braced by smoke—
Likewise would be his future—
Old habits are such stubborn things—
And quite persistent.

The Deceased Had Been Forehanded

In the spring of 1919—a few months after the Eighteenth Amendment went into effect—a Texan passed from this life.

While the funeral services were in progress at the late home of deceased, two of the men mourners stood on the front porch of the house lamenting the passing of their friend and praising his virtues. Said one of them:

"There wasn't no finer feller anywhere than what Bill was, but the main trouble with him was he wasn't forehanded. He had a wife and a whole passel of children and he should a-been more saving than what he was. He might a-knowed he couldn't live on forever. But no, he lived up to everything he made. And here now, right in the very prime of life, with a family on his hands, he hauls off and dies without leaving no estate as I knows of."

"The hell he didn't leave no estate!" exclaimed the other. "He left mighty nigh a gallon!"

Perhaps the most celebrated family heirloom in the world is the Lee penny, which has been in possession of the Lockharts of Lee, in Lanarkshire, Eng., since the crusades. It is a silver coin, and formed part of the ransom paid for a Saracen chief. Its value mainly depends on the fact that it is supposed to be capable of curing an ailment, and for this purpose it was hired in 1665 by a plague-stricken town in exchange for securities of £25,000.

Winter Homes in Cellars

HOW would you like to live in the cellar? I'm certain you wouldn't like it for long. The Germans had cellars under their huts, and many families spent part of their time during the winter months under ground!

German houses were not very well built. The chill winds of winter came through the logs of woven twigs. That is why the family went into the large holes dug beneath the huts.

There were no window-panes to let light in the cellars. The Germans probably got most of their light from torches. No doubt there were a few small holes which let in fresh air.

Fires were built in this lowly home. The women spent their time spinning thread, weaving cloth or sewing. Sometimes they cooked.

The men lay beside the fire sleeping a great deal of the time. While awake, they talked to one another, drank beer, and gambled.

Ah, yes, they gambled! It seems no men were ever more fond of gambling than those rough Germans. They gambled away their cattle and sheep their spears and shields. It is said they even risked their wives and children on the way dice fell! In some cases, it appears, they let themselves go into slavery because they had lost a game.

German men did not like common work. We can be sure the women and children had to do the chores. We can picture in our minds boys creeping out of the hot cellar on bitter cold days to feed the horses, cows and chickens. Now and then men went outside to hunt.

On mild winter days, the family must have moved to the hut above. It was no great fun to stay down in that ugly cellar. What joy must have been in the hearts of all when spring came back to earth! The free life of the outdoors could then be lived once more.

When the Germans moved into Italy, France and England, they built better homes. The warmer climate of the southland meant that they did not need to live in cellars any more. The Franks sometimes lived in groups of houses with a very high house at the center. Such a group is pictured.

Listen, World!

LET'S hope for the worst, it's such a pretty habit. Let's hope that today is going to be worse than yesterday.

Let's hope that little Willie's snuffles indicate that he's almost going to die of pneumonia instead of meaning nothing but a childish cold.

Let's hope that the boss has a dirty deal up his sleeve when he asks us to take on young Montgomery as an assistant in our department.

Let's hope that our mother-in-law is going to try to break up our home when she comes for that week-end visit.

Let's hope that old Mr. Edwards is really a crook at heart in spite of all his interest in religion.

Let's hope that the little Robbins girl really went wrong when she stayed out all night on that party instead of being merely delayed by tire trouble as she said.

Let's hope that the President is playing rotten politics and is going to sell out to the capitalists.

Let's hope that all the foreign nations are composed of scoundrels whose one aim is to bleed us to death.

Let's hope that our husband is falling in love with his stenog. and begin to nag him so that he'll love her all the harder.

Let's hope that our wife just married us for money and would go off with that old flame of hers if he had the price.

Let's hope that the young people of today lack the slightest element of decency and honor.

Let's hope that God is a silly myth and Human Kindness a vile pretense.

Let's hope that everyone is spying and scheming, lying and cheating, with the one object of doing us harm.

tragedies that come in my mail from the wrecks of YOUTHFUL wedlock. Wrecks? They're whole naval disasters.

One of the Gang is almost too good to be true. Believe me, Gang, no angel He-Man is going to hang his B. V. D's. on my bathroom floor. If I want any on the floor—I'll leave my own.

"My dear Jerry:

"Please, oh please pardon pencil and paper. Such unfortunate circumstance. I'm out (decent paper I mean).

"Anyway, Jerry, 'tis this: Marriage and common sense as prompted by your 'Listen World,' (August 30). Only, let me say this—marriage, common sense and sportsmanship. And sportsmanship one needs and lots of it to keep the marriage game a going and going strong.

"Sure this marriage game is all in a lifetime, at least for the majority of us, so why not get the most out of the relationship. Why not accept the ups and downs of the marriage comradeship as a part of the day's work? Furthermore it takes two to make an argument, (personally I rather fancy the excitement of an occasional bit of peppery conversation). Still furthermore, 'tis far better to dwell upon the creditable side of married life than the contrary.

"And say, Jerry! A solution for financial arguments and the free use of the bathroom floor as a clothes hanger for male attire? That's easy! To the former—list said expenditures in black and white (namely pen and ink). It sure can register a finis at the commencing point. (I know I noticed it.) A solution for the latter? Say, what's the use? 'Tis easier, saves a lot of time and energy for friend wife to relieve the bathroom floor of said article (a lot easier, I'll say). Furthermore quit this trying to 'Raise a Hubby.' He's perfectly capable of raising himself. Wife ditto. (Merely added or convenience sake). Nuf said.

"So say I, overlook, laugh and make merry. 'Tis worth it, I'll tell the world!

"Love(Ain't it just like a woman) goodluck and my hat off to you Jerry (Only I have to first remove hat pins, if my head's a-wearing one).

Sincerely,
"ONE OF THE GANG."

The following dramatic retort to "Society" comes from one who adds in a postscript that she is only 15. Perhaps the letter is mere bravado—perhaps it is tragic truth. I cannot tell. But this I know, it truthfully represents the attitude of many a young girl who goes wrong. For that reason I am giving it publicity:

"Dear Jerry:

"The dreaded has happened. I am no longer pure. Down in my heart I can no longer say to myself, 'I do not care what gossiping hens say about me, just as long as I know I am pure!' But, Jerry, what was the use? An opportunity offered and here I am now slinging ink (I go to night school 'n' everything, nice clothes, eats and excitement).

"See what a few of these 'good women' do for a girl?

"Jerry, it hurts down deep, deep, deep, BUT they drove me to it.

"A HARD ONE."

If you read this column consistently you will know that my sympathies are with the under dog and that I offer every possible help to the one who has slipped, but sometimes the greatest help of all is a bit of truth and that's what you're going to get today. You say "they drove you to it." They did no such thing, and you're adding cowardice to misdemeanor by [illegible] world can drive you to impurity. I have great pity for the girl who makes a mess of things through too great a love for some undeserving scamp, but I have none at all for the sniveling little hypocrite who does as she wishes and then tries to graft on the social sympathy. You did something unworthy of yourself. If you have a particle of regard for your own welfare you will now stand up like a regular person and say "I have made a fool of myself. It is entirely my own fault. I am sorry, and I am going to make my future life healthier and braver because of this sorrow."

If anyone wrecks your life, my dear, you are doing it yourself, and the greater injury won't be due to the natural impulses which got the better of you, but through your own contemptible cowardice.

"Dear Jerry:

"I wrote to you once before, and was in a seventh heaven of delight and embarrassment when it was published. But I saw your call for help in Saturday's TRIBUNE, so here goes. You asked for opinions from boys and girls in regard to a girl who said she was a good pal, but the boys never asked her to go out with them. I've never been 'boy struck,' or 'boy crazy,' but I've always played with them, and instead of being home playing with dolls, which I never, never did, I was always playing with some boys, so perhaps I may know a little about them.

"If the girl has really been a pal, there is no reason why they shouldn't ask her to go out with them unless they think she doesn't want to. Personally I have never been to a dance, and I've never liked such things, preferring my horse or baby dog. Maybe the girl is sort of quiet, and reserved, and doesn't dance, or the boys have never danced with her. They may think she doesn't like such things, because she has only been with them on picnics and hikes. Or they maybe a little ashamed of asking their outdoor pal to go with them to a dance.

"As I read this over it doesn't sound very sensible, so don't have any scruples about throwing it away, Jerry, for I won't care. I really don't know much about it.

"Lots of Love, Jerry,
"BETTY."

"P. S. To look at my name you'd think I was a regular molly-coddle of a girl, but I'm not. I'm tall, and strong, and dark, and shy, and I hate any clothes but my riding breeches.

I like this letter:

"Dearest Geraldine:

"In your column of July 13 you said you were against early marriages. That was in answer to Serious Sam. Did you happen to read an article in the TRIBUNE of June 29 about Judge Joseph Sabath? He has heard over 6500 divorce cases and stated the best cure for divorces was early marriages, giving the young a chance to grow up together, and if not already acquainted to each other's ways, to become so. He said marriages between the ages of 18 and 21 were most successful.

"Jerry, would you consider that an early marriage would prove a failure in this case. Two persons of about the same age went pals, both knowing each other's good and bad traits, each other's dislikes and likes and always happy and pleased while together, lonesome for each other when not together and neither the kind that took a liking for every other person that came along. Both are nearly of the same age. Would you consider twenty too young in this day and time or would marriage be a failure in your mind?

"Jerry, I do hope you will answer my question. Print this, or destroy as you choose.

"GOING 18."

I won't quarrel with the judge—he's entitled to his opinion, but I can't see how he can find a cure-all for divorce in "youth" just because he's granted several thousand separations. Early marriages may, at one time, have been a success, but that was in a different economic age. There are not many boys nowadays earning enough, at twenty, to support a wife and PROBABLE family. I don't think that a boy at twenty is able to stand the emotional, physical and mental strain of marriage. Under a different industrial condition, where a boy and girl grew into prepared work that gave them their living, there was more chance for success.

We do a lot of talking about an early marriage robbing a girl of her youth and her playtime, but what of the boy who jumps headlong into matrimony. He drains his emotional nature and is tired mentally and physically from the struggle to EARN A LIVING. Fair! It's almost impossible, and I'd like to let the judge read some of the

BEAUTY TALKS by Lucrezia Bori

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HANDS WHITER AND MORE BEAUTIFUL.

LUCREZIA BORI.

After the summer is over, many women look at their sun-burned skins with an air of regret. Even if they have enjoyed to the fullest their summer outings, they begin to wish there could have been some more effective way to avoid the hot rays of the sun.

Your hands, if badly sunburned or freckled, are likely to give you more constant annoyance than your face or neck. For often blemishes are slower to leave the hands, and then your hands are before you as a constant reminder. An application of foundation cream, and a light dusting of powder on your face help to lighten the coat of tan while it is wearing off. But this cannot be applied so easily to the hands.

There are many bleaches for the hands, and I will give you some which are helpful in quickly restoring the vanished beauty of your skin.

Of course, there is always the lemon bleach. I have recommended this use of the lemon so highly that I feel sure those who regularly follow my advice always manage to have a bit of lemon near-by. It is one of the quickest beauty aids and certainly one of the cheapest. And it is a comforting thought that things which are easy to obtain are often more effective than complicated creams and lotions!

The dainty woman who keeps a lemon within easy reach of her dressing table will find it one of the best means of restoring her hands to their former fine texture and whiteness. Simply rub the lemon thoroughly into your hands at night before going to bed. It bleaches them and helps to make your skin fine and soft.

Here is another way to use lemon in a beautifying lotion for your hands:

Lemon Juice.....1 ounce
Honey .....1 ounce
Eau de cologne.....1 ounce

Bottle this mixture and rub it into your hands after washing them, and always before going to bed.

The way you dry your hands has much to do with their good condition and appearance. Carelessly-dried hands always appear half-chapped.

You should wash your hands carefully so as to remove every particle of dirt, rinse them thoroughly, and dry them just as thoroughly. Rub carefully with a soft towel about your knuckles and down the length of your fingers. When drying your finger-tips be careful to push the cuticle back from your fingernails. If you observe this rule whenever you dry your hands, you will have to do little pushing back of your cuticle with an orange stick. Immediately after your hands have been washed the cuticle is soft and easily pushed into place, hence it grows in this position, allowing the delicate half-moon of your fingernail to reveal itself.

If you are trying to keep your hands in as perfect condition as possible, never attempt to clean your nails with the end of a steel file. This is ruinous to them. You should always use an orange stick for the purpose.

When the orange stick does not leave your nail as snowy white as you wish it, dip the dampened end of your stick in a bit of powered pumice stone. This treatment leaves the outer rim of your nail beautifully clean and white.

Danish scientists cruising in the Atlantic and the Caribbean sea have made discoveries relating to the climate of Great Britain. Adele Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

Why Lillian Telegraphed Katherine Bickert.

Lillian extended her hand for Katherine Bickett's letter, reconsidered and let her hand drop to her side again.

"Please read it to me," she said. "I have a beastly headache."

She gestured to a low chair, and sank back into her own as she spoke. I looked keenly at her, noticing the lines etched deeply at the side of her mouth—sure sign of nervous strain with Lillian—and then I realized that the question of providing proper espionage for the wounded man in the hospital was worrying her more than she had betrayed to me.

"Of course," I answered, settled comfortably into the low chair and began to read:

"Dearest Madge," the letter began, "I can imagine you turning to the signature of this and murmuring, 'Katherine Sonnot Bickett—where have I heard that name?' And I cannot blame you, for I have been the worst correspondent ever in these last few months. Even now, I have not the time to write you the long letter which is your due, and which I long to pen. But I must tell you our news.

"You know, of course, how long it has taken Jack to recover his health, shattered in the war. I do not think he is fully recovered yet, but perhaps I am too femininely fearful, as he puts it. At any rate, he has a wonderful chance in South America, but it is on a job where he cannot possibly take me. Of course, his idea is for me to stay safely here in our home until he comes back, months, perhaps a year from now. But you know that is something I could not possibly do. I should go stark mad with inaction.

LILLIAN HAS AN IDEA.

"So, when Jack has gone, I am going to take up my old profession again in a neighboring city, near enough for me to see to our little home. But I am saying nothing to him about it for perhaps you remember his attitude toward wives working for an income. So please do not mention my decision when you write, although unless you reply to this the day you receive it, your letter will not reach me until after Jack has gone, for he leaves within the week.

"I suppose I am a very bad wife to deceive Jack thus, but I have carefully submitted to his strictures upon earning money while he was with me, though sometimes it has been hard to refrain from rebelling under the circumstances. But I simply cannot obey this last demand. And there is such need for nurses, I am sure I shall do splendidly. I have managed not to get rusty by helping the local aid societies whenever there has been illness among the poor people of the town.

"I will send you my new address when I know it. How I wish I were nearer you! I get positively homesick for you sometimes. Love to all the dear ones. Affectionately yours, KATHERINE SONNOT BICKETT."

Lillian was sitting bolt upright long before I had finished. As the last words came from my lips she drew a sibilant breath.

"Was ever anything more directly an intervention of Providence?" she asked. "The next thing is to get Katherine here as quickly as possible. When is that letter dated?"

I turned quickly to the heading. "Three days ago."

Lillian mused an instant.

"WILL THAT DO?"

"She said Jack was going within the week.' That leaves four days at the longest. Too long! Katherine must know that we want her, and be preparing to come on, so she can start as soon as he does. There's no other way, Madge. You've got to 'go into a decline.' Isn't that what our grandmothers called it? Then Jack, dear, will have his scruples appeased."

There was the faintest tinge in remarked in the days before Jack and Katherine were married—an almost contemptuous disapproval of my brother-cousin, which she generally succeeded in concealing from me. But whenever her secret aversion did betray itself, I always ignored it carefully.

"I'll agree to contract anything from T. B. to heart failure," I said lightly. "But you'll have to give me the details."

"Easy," she declared succinctly, the light of creation in her eyes. "Just hand me that portfolio beside you, will you please?"

I gave her the worn leather case which holds Lillian's most important papers, and she drew from it a package of telegraph blanks, improvised a desk from a thick magazine, and set to work upon the message she wished to send.

As I watched her I whimsically reflected upon the elaborate writing case which an admiring friend had once presented to her, and which she had conscientiously tried to use for a week. Then she had read the riot act, and had gone back to her magazines.

"There!" she said at last, handing me the result of her concentration. "Will that do?"

"Madge in serious nervous condition," I read. "Needs loving yet professional care. In view of your husband's absence could you come to her for awhile? Imperative we know your decision immediately. If you decide affirmative please plan start day of husband's departure if possible. Madge most anxious to see you. (Signed)

"LILLIAN UNDERWOOD."

I smiled at her with rueful indulgence. "I think that ought to turn the trick," I said.

Long Skirts for Formal Occasion, Short Skirts for Street Wear, Newest Fashion Ukase

There has been more argument and pondering on the question of long skirts vs the short skirts than ever before and the question is not yet thoroughly settled. The average woman, however, has decided the thing for herself by the simple expedient of wearing long skirts for formal afternoon and evening wear and the more comfortable short for street and sport wear.

At the extreme left is a charming afternoon gown of gold embroidered brown silk crepe, with the ever popular monkey fur at neck and cuffs and edging the girdle. The skirt drops to the feet and an uneven hemline gives a distinctive touch. The broad brimmed brown velvet hat with bronze silk flowers completes a lovely toilette.

Every well dressed woman knows that good appearance not only depends on outer wear but that one must be as well dressed beneath the exterior, or that well groomed feeling which is a big factor in making one distinctive in appearance is lack. In the center picture is a lovely chemise of pale pink crepe de chine with insets of dainty lace and two-toned ribbon used for shoulder straps and rosettes which would delight the heart of any woman who loves dainty frilly underthings—and all women do.

The woman who "doesn't like a sweater because they are so common" would surely change her mind if she were the owner of the fibre silk jacket shown in the fourth picture. It is particularly suitable for golf, for its close fitting sleeves allow a freedom of the arms for driving. The complete outfit is in tones of brown and tan. Brown felt hat, tan silk sweater with brown figured front, brown crepe knit and brown Oxfords. The entire costume is exceedingly smart and practical.

And finally—when Jack Frost comes blowing and puffing from the north to nip at fingers and nose, one would delve great pleasure in fooling that imp of cold weather, by wrapping oneself in this lovely coat of dark blue marvella with its high choker collar and frill puffed sleeves of squirrel and the belt line marked by a metal girdle of cut steel. A small narrow brimmed hat of blue, trimmed with a wide band or silver ribbon and a pom-pom of burnt peacock is quite smart when worn with such a coat.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY

THERE was no one in Minden who knew the story behind the grief of Annie Myers. She was a slender woman, nearing 40, and she lived alone in a cottage covered with flowers. When there was illness or trouble anywhere in town Annie was sent for. It was agreed she was capable and efficient. There were some who wondered why she she never took part in the social life of the town. In time it was accepted Annie was sorrowful and some said it was a pose. Minden continued to call upon her in time of need and to allow her the privilege of tears.

Next door to Annie Myers lived Curly Adams. He was loudly joyful, a man who laughed with the manner of one who would convince himself he was happy. Annie and Curly never spoke. Minden said they had been in love once and Annie had jilted him. It seemed strange they should be living side by side this way with never a smile or a word.

It was 15 years before this when Curly paid court to Annie Myers, the prettiest girl in the town. They were a romantic pair, making the most of golden hours. Many a time they planned to elope with all the accompaniments of rope ladder and moonlight escape. They read poetry under the apple tree and builded dreams. Perhaps it was the dramatic appeal of a lovers' quarrel which caused one, for there was a disagreement which sent Curly home one evening bowed with a delightful grief and kept a starry-eyed girl gazing long into the night. He would come over next day, she thought, and and apologize and they would be all the happier.

Curly did not come over next day. Instead he composed a letter filled with magnanimous self-reproach. "It has been my fault," he wrote, with the tears coursing his fat cheek, "and it has taught me I am unworthy. I cannot expect to be forgiven and yet I ask it. If you can forget wear one of the roses which climb by your window in your hair. I will be watching."

It was midnight when he slipped the note under her door. That was the end of the romance, for Annie did not wear the rose. Curly was crushed and defiant and they practiced ignoring each other until it became a habit. Now it was going to stop. Annie made up her mind she would have to have a word with Curly.

"Mr. Adams," she said, walking to the edge of her lot, "there is something I must speak of. Your dog has been bothering me again. It was only this morning he entered my woodshed and dragged therefrom all manner of things. I cannot be expected to clean up my yard every time your animal takes the notion to—"

Curly interrupted. It was good to hear her talk, even in this formal and accusing manner. "Of course not," he agreed. "I'll shoot the dog, or give it away. He has no right to interfere with personal property. Bad dog. No good."

The subject of the conversation rounded the house at full speed. It was dragging a round mat rug which was badly frayed and worn. Before the angry woman and the distressed man the dog deposited the rug as a glorious trophy. He barked and wagged his tail.

"There," said Annie, "what did I tell you! That rug has been in my shed for years and no one has disturbed it until now."

Before the accusation in Annie's eyes Curly stooped humbly to pick up the rug. "I'll take it back," he said, "and keep the blamed dog locked up."

The bottom of the rug caught Annie's eyes and Curly's glance followed hers. There was an envelope there, stuck between the straws. He started to pull it out, but Annie was first. "No doubt," she said coolly, "this belongs to me."

While Curly watched Annie read the letter. Her face did not change. "Humph!" she said, and walked away.

Early next morning when Curly left his home for work Annie was standing on her porch. In her hair she wore one of the flowers from the vine which grew over her window. The milkman of Minden was the only one who saw the youthful romance resumed.

Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women

By Mark Stuyvesant

How Arria Taught Paetus Death Is Better Than Dishonor.

ARRIA was the wife of Caecinna Paetus, who was a consul in Rome in the year 41. She was born in Rome, and always had the best interests of its people at heart. Arria was one of the most courageous women of her time, as her life reveals.

Paetus joined the army of Scribonius against the cruel Claudius of Illyria, and soon after was taken by sea to Rome a prisoner. Arria, who had been refused permission to accompany him on the perilous journey to his place of imprisonment, hired a small boat and followed him secretly in the night.

In the meantime Scribonius had been killed, and Arria was sick at heart to think that the cause of her husband had failed. Now that Scribonius was dead and Paetus in prison the army had no leader. Arria realized that there was little she could do for the cause, so she followed her husband to see how she could serve him.

If there was nothing much that she could do, she could at least urge her people on to victory by her brave example. She would stand by her husband unto death if necessary.

In some way she must reach Paetus after her arrival in Rome and assure him of her love and willingness to give up everything for his sake. When Arria reached Rome she was startled to hear that Paetus was condemned to die if he did not comply with certain requests made by Claudius.

Death or honor—which would her husband choose? Arria resolved that Paetus must choose [illegible] permission to go to his place of confinement a short time before he was to be executed.

The scene of the meeting of Paetus and Arria was a sad one because their separation had been long and bitter. Arria learned from Paetus that he was wavering between a decision to take his own life so his honor might be saved, or permit Claudius to kill him. For a Roman soldier to permit an enemy to take his life was the greatest dishonor.

Arria told Paetus that there was only one course to choose—death by his own hand. Life to Paetus was a sweet thing. He loved his wife so dearly that the thought of leaving her was almost more than he could bear. Realizing that it was his love for her that was holding Paetus back, Arria told him that separation was not necessary.

Seizing a dagger which she had concealed in her dress, Arria plunged it into her breast. Then holding out her arms to Paetus she smiled:

"It is not painful, Paetus. See, I am going, too—and—I—am—smiling."

Arria spoke the words haltingly, and then she smiled and dropped at his feet.

Paetus then seized the dagger and—fell beside his brave wife. Thus the honor of the leader of a great army was saved by his wife.

Those who have been caught in a great storm at sea usually describe the waves as "mountain high." Extensive and careful observations show that storm waves do sometimes attain a vertical height of 40 feet, and "tidal" waves a height of from 60 to 80 feet. The smashing force of such stupendous waves can be judged from the fact that seas only 20 feet high exert a pressure of 2000 pounds on every square foot opposed to them.

Elsie saw her sister make a face, and that made her think of this story:

THE CROOKED MOUTHED FAMILIES.

Once there was a family with crooked mouthed people. The mother, father and son. One day son went around selling kettles and pans. Soon he came near a house and he cried "Kettles and Pans, who will buy my kettles and pans?"

Pretty soon a young girl came to the door to buy something of him. She too had a crooked mouth. When she noticed his mouth she said, "You stop mocking me!" The boy said "I am not mocking you!"

Then girl then called her mother—who also had a crooked mouth. She said, "Make this boy stop mocking me."

The mother said. "Stop mocking me."

The boy said, "I am not."

So the father, who had a crooked mouth, too, came to the door and the same arguing went on. Soon these families became the best of friends, and about five years later we see the son and the girl getting married.

After the ceremony was over the minister asked the girl to blow the candle out. She blew and blew but as she had a crooked mouth she could not blow it out. So the girl asked the son. So he tried but he couldn't. So he asked the father, and he blew and blew but he couldn't. So he asked the mother, and she had no better luck. So they asked the minister did.

AT MY GRANDFATHER'S FARM.

Once while walking on an alfalfa patch on my grandfather's farm I saw a big spider about as big as a man's fist. I got awfully afraid, but I took a spade and hit it, but I did not kill it. All at once I saw it run after me and then I was afraid.

I ran toward the chicken yards and it followed me. Then I picked up a small plank and tried to hit it but I missed it. Then along came a tiny baby chick, only about three days old, and he picked the spiders eyes out and killed him.

A SAD STORY.

One day I had a chicken—I don't mean one day, but a whole year. I named her Laddie. She yoused to pick at black shoes because she didn't like them. I trained her to jump over my hands. This is a true story, and my Laddie got eaten up. Because she didn't lay any eggs. That's why.

And I had a goldfish, which was very pretty. Then I bought another Goldfish, then they both died. The first one's name was Goldie and the second's was Blacktail. You know why I have been spelling the words wrong is because we have been giggling so much that we can't write decent.

MARY'S ESCAPE FROM THE WITCHES.

Little Mary Hood,
Was ever, ever so good,
Until there came a day
When she did run away
And was caught by the witches,
With their brooms and switches,
They took her to their cave,
Where she became a slave.

Then came another day
When all the witches were away
She went into another room,
And jumped upon a witches' broom.

—3—

Away from that awful room,
Up into the air it sped,
And landed by Mary's bed.
In her cozy room,
Then back went the broom,
To the home of the witches,

WHAT HAPPENED TO PEG LEG M'GREW.

Once upon a time there was a pirate named Peg Leg McGrew. This pirate was planning to capture a witch whose name was Witch Helen. Witch Helen was a mind reader, but nobody knew it except herself, so of course she knew that Peg Leg McGrew was planning to capture her.

So that night she got all her big buckets full of water and boiled it [illegible] burn your finger off if you touched it.

Pretty soon she heard footsteps outside. All of a sudden the door burst open. There was Peg Leg McGrew. He was just about to kill her with his sword when the Witch threw all her boiling water over the Pirate and killed him.

Three Minute Journeys

WHERE A BRIDE WEEPS FOR EIGHT DAYS AFTER HER WEDDING.

There is not a doubt that the Bahuma tribesmen in Uganda, Central Africa—literally in the very heart of Africa—are the wildest and most uncivilized people of the world.

Travelers, or we should say adventurers, who have been in this wilderness have come out with amazing tales and accounts of unusually peculiar customs.

Perhaps the most interesting of these extraordinary customs is the manner in which a bride is supposed to conduct herself after her marriage.

To begin with, a bride is literally dragged away from her home by her husband. Her family tie a rope around her leg and hold fast to her. Then the bridegroom pulls as hard as he can. If he cannot succeed in overpowering the strength of the bride's family they weaken their hold on the fetter and make it appear that the husband has won this tug-of-war.

All of the young girls with whom the bride has spent her girlhood follow to keep her from being lonely, because her husband leaves her as soon as he deposits her safely in his house.

But, this is not a gay, gossiping lot of chattering girls. It is a serious conclave. In fact, it is the correct thing to do at one of these affairs to act as if it were a funeral instead of a wedding party.

These girls may be said to correspond to the bridesmaids of our weddings. But what a difference! Who could be more joyful than our brides, surrounded by the lifelong friends they choose to attend them on their wedding day?

In Africa such a meeting is a mournful occasion. The "bridesmaids" weep and wail. Bedlam is turned loose in the new mother-in-law's house.

The most passionate weeping is done by the bride. She cries for eight days without stopping. Then she returns to her mother's home.

But this visit is cut short by her husband, who comes for her and takes her back. But before he does this she has wept steadily for a week—if she does the thing correctly.

A crude oil refinery has been constructed that moves on wheels from one field to another. The portable refinery is designed to meet the needs of new oil fields, where pipe line facilities are lacking. The units are built on specially constructed steel flat cars, 65 feet long, which will carry 110,000 pounds each.

"Tain't Right

By Jack Burroughs

TAKE Aesop, for example. He got away with a whole book full of fables, while if I try to tell a single one people wink and say, "Don't try to put any of that bunk over on me."

Of course Aesop was born a slave and he had a hard time getting recognition, and now they are taking away the credit for his fables from him and saying they came out many years after the period in which he lived, and some even doubt his existence.

But just the same, whether he existed or not, he made the world accept his fables, while if I tell one my listeners always tack on a moral to the effect that I should try telling the truth for a change.

Tain't right.

Uncle Wiggily Stories — by HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE THORN BUSH

"Let me alone!" squealed the piggie chap.

"WAIT a minute, Uncle Wiggily! Wait a minute!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as the bunny rabbit gentleman hopped down the steps of his hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Eh? What's that? Some one at the telephone?" asked Uncle Wiggily, turning his ear toward his muskrat lady housekeeper and with the other listening for the telephone bell.

Nurse Jane said:

"It isn't the telephone, Uncle Wiggily. I just wanted you to wait a moment before you go adventuring. I want to ask you to bring me back a pound of sugar."

"I'll do that!" promised the bunny rabbit and then with a twinkle of his pink nose, for he was feeling very jolly that morning, away he hopped over the fields and through the woods.

Uncle Wiggily had not gone very far before he heard some childish voices calling:

"Pull him this way!"

"No, pull him out the other way!"

"Don't pull him! Push him is what we ought to do!"

"Don't push and don't pull! You're tearing me to pieces! Stop!"

This last cry was louder than any of the others.

"Goodness me, sakes alive and some apple butter ice cream!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Those are some of the animal boys and girls, I'm sure. But whatever has happened?"

Uncle Wiggily hopped nearer to some bushes, from behind which the excited cries seemed to come, and there the bunny saw a strange sight.

Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, and Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, were pulling at Floppy Twistytail, the little pig. Floppy was half hidden beneath a bush, and he was making as much noise as two little pigs caught under a gate.

"Pull him out!" barked Jackie Bow Wow.

"Push him out!" chattered Johnnie the squirrel.

"Let me alone!" squealed the piggie chap. "You're filling me full of stickers. Ouchie- wouchie!"

"Here! Here! What's the matter?" cried Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped toward the bush.

"Floppy crawled under the thorn bush to get the ball that rolled there when we were having a catch," explained Jackie.

"We're trying to pull him out," said Johnnie.

"And I think maybe we'd better push him instead of pulling," said Billie, the other squirrel boy.

"Don't do anything!" squealed Floppy. "This is a thorn bush and the thorns are sticking in me from all sides. If you pull me or push me there'll [illegible] all the worse. Help me out, Uncle Wiggily!" begged the piggie boy.

Uncle Wiggily put on his glasses and looked at the thorn bush. It was a bush with long, sharp, stickey thorns, pointing in two ways. So that when some one was under the bush they could neither be pulled or pushed out, backward or forward, without being caught on the thorns.

"There is only one way to get Floppy out," said Uncle Wiggily. "We must lift him straight up out of the middle of the bush. Then the thorns won't stick him. Straight up will do the trick."

They got a long pole, held it over the middle of the thorn bush and Floppy caught hold of it in his front paws. Then, all holding together, they lifted the piggie boy out of the thorn bush without scratching him.

"Run along now," advised Uncle Wiggily, "and don't crawl under any more thorn bushes."

The animal boys thanked the bunny and went off to play ball again. Uncle Wiggily hopped to the store and got the pound of sugar in a bag.

As Uncle Wiggily was hopping home, near the thorn bush, all of a sudden out at him jumped the Woozie Wolf.

"This time I'll have your ears!" howled the Wolf.

"Oh, just a pound of sugar," answered Uncle Wiggily, careless like. "It was only a pound of sweet sugar."

"Only a pound of sugar," howled the Wolf. "The idea. Don't you know I just love sugar with nibbled ears? Now I've got to crawl under the bush and get that sugar. After that I'll nibble your ears."

Not knowing the bush had thorns on it, the Wolf crawled under. This he could easily do from that side, as all the thorns pointed in. He picked up the bag of sugar, but when he tried to crawl out again to nibble the bunny's ears, the thorns, now pointing out, caught in the shaggy fur of the Wolf and held him fast.

"Help you out to nibble my ears? Not much!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "You are welcome to the sugar—I can get more, but I can't get any new ears. Good-bye!"

And away hopped the bunny, but the Wolf remained caught fast in the thorn bush until his wife came in the night and dug a hole under the bush so he could crawl out.

Once again the rabbit gentleman fooled the Wolf. And if the straw hat doesn't come down out of the attic to hide in the pocket of the fur overcoat to get warm, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's coaster.

News of Oakland Water Front

WOODEN FLEET OF 300 U. S. VESSELS BEING WRECKED

Vessels Sold By U. S. Being Wrecked in North and Sold For What They Bring.

The fleet of 300 wooden ships recently sold by the United States Shipping Board are now in the process of being wiped off the maritime records of the United States. Costing in the millions, and sold in the hundreds of dollars, the engines, metal parts and much of the wood will go into other forms of industry.

J. N. Bardie, general manager of the Portland Company which purchased the wooden fleet recently, made public some of the items which the scrapping of the ships will produce.

Twelve miles of 6-foot smokestack; 150,000 to 200,000 tons of scrap iron and steel; 5,000 tons of brass and copper; 12,000,000 feet of wire sable; 2,500 miles of piping; 162 Ferris type 1400-horse-power engines; 64 turbine engines; 226 brass condensers; 452 water tube boilers; 2200 steam pumps; 9000 tons of water tanks; 5,000 drill presses, anvils, vises, etc.; 1,800 steam winches, 600 tons of rope; 12,000 steam and air guages, and 5,500 tons of anchor chain.

Barde said the hulls would be sold for use as barges. He declared it would cost $150,000 to build these hulls today. Much of the superstructure, however, will have to be cut away and the sides recaiked. The hulls will be sold for from $2,500 to $5,000.

"Much of the material, I feel sure, will go to Europe. Americans don't take advantage of bargains when they see them nearly as quickly as the Europeans."

Several of the boilers have just been purchased by the Union Oil Company to use in the Coalinga Oil fields.

NAWASCO LINE TO INSTALL WIESELS

The North Atlantic and Western Steamship Company, known as the Nawasco line, is preparing to convert six shipping board steamers of 10,000 to 12,000 tons to Diesel-drive. According to M. J. MacDonald, vice-president, his company believes that in such conversions Diesel engines can efficiently burn oil such as is used in oil-burning steamers.

Mr. MacDonald recently returned from an extensive trip through Europe, in which he particularly investigated Diesel engines and motorships, talking with several leading ship owners and Diesel engine manufacturers in various European countries.

CANADIAN SHIP FIGHTS ICE FLOES

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 4.—The slaying of two mounted policemen and the worst ice in the memory of inhabitants of the Far North are reported by the Hudson Bay Company's steamer Lady Kindersley, just back from a tour of the company's stations on the Arctic Ocean.

The motor schooner Herman of San Francisco was spoken by the Lady Kindersley September 19. The Herman had then been twice forced upon ice pedestals, her crew being compelled to leave her each time. Captain Gus Foellmer, commander of the Lady Kindersley, heard nothing of the Herman after that.

Four Eskimos, three men and a woman, are held on Herschel Island for trial on a charge of murdering the two mounted policemen north of there last summer.

Panama Canal Shows Big Traffic Gains

A total of 240 ocean-going commercial vessels passed through the canal during September. Tolls on these vesel aggregated $1,020,604.55, a compared with $1,955,396.76 on 257 vessels in the preceding month, and $892,001.54 for 221 vessels in the month of September, 1921.

For the first time in the history of the canal tolls have exceeded the million dollar mark for three consecutive months. Likewise, it is the first time that cargo tonnage through the canal has exceeded 1,000,000 tons for three consecutive months.

IRON SHIPMENTS SET NEW RECORD

Two of the largest shipments of steel, cast iron and cast iron products that have ever been shipped to the Pacific coast are on their way to San Francisco bay from Mobile, according to word received today. Each shipment amounts to 7000 tons and consists mainly of pipe and iron wire. A part of this cargo will be put ashore in Oakland, the rest being distributed in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland.

A third vessel loaded with steel rails and track supplies of iron and steel, is on its way from Mobile to Japan. Fairly good cargo rates are being secured by all ships carrying this metal. In return they take aboard lumber and fruit shipments, also at high rates.

Mauretania Placed In Italian Service

Italian travelers will soon have a chance to sail direct to Italy on the fastest steamship in the world and one of the largest ships which ever sailed to the Mediterranean. The giant Cunard liner Mauretania will sail from New York for Naples on February 10, 1923. This big ship, with the four great funnels, is 790 feet long and registers 30,704 gross tons. The promenade deck of third class extends along both sides of the steamer just as the first class promenades do on other ships. The staterooms are unusually attractive, being fitted to comfortablye accommodate two, four and six persons, privacy being thus assured. Italian meals, including free wine, will be features of this special trip of the world's fastest ship to Italy.

English Oil Company Builds Five Tankers

Tankers, Ltd. of London recently built four motorships and five steamers aggregating 88,375 tons, all oil carriers, and paid £3,861,826 ($16,412,750.50 at current exchange rates of $4.25 to the pound), or about $190 per ton for the nine ships.

Helps Set a Coal Freight Record

The United States Shipping Board freighter VINITA, slipped into the discharging berth at the King Coal Company bunkers yesterday morning and commenced the discharge of 6,000 tons of Australian coal. This cargo brought the week's total up to 19,500 tons, a week's record for Oakland.

Protest Against U. S. Shipping Board Due

The status of the protest of the American Steamship Owners' Association against the Shipping Board continuing its vessels in the intercoastal trade is as yet undetermined, Chairman Lasker is reported as having informed Edgar F. Luckenbach of this week.

Returning from a two weeks' vacation trip Mr. Luckenbach stopped off at Washington. While there he said yesterday he asked Mr. Lasker regarding the report which had appeared in the press to the effect that the allocation of the board's ships to the Nawsco Line would be continued. Replying to a question if the board had determined its attitude as to the owners' protest, the chairman, Mr. Luckenbach said, replied that no decision had been reached and that the matter was still in the hands of Commissioner Chamberlain.

The announced continuation of the Nawsco Line's allocations was taken by many of the steamship men here to indicate that the board intended to continue their ships in the trade, declared by the owners in their protest to be unwarranted competition with private lines.

New Steamer Service Started on the Sound

Providing a new Puget Sound local freight service, the steamship Morning Star will be placed in operation Wednesday in the run from Seattle to Port Angeles by the Star Navigation company. The Morning Star was purchased from Frank Waterhouse by the Star corporation last summer and since then has undergone extensive improvements and overhaul.

J. R. Smith is manager of the Star Navigation company and Capt. J. D. Gilmore will act as master of the vessel. They formed the company early in the summer. Pier 7, the Schwabacher Dock, has been selected as the Seattle terminus.

The Dog Watch

Edited by FRANK CLIFF.

Santa Claus is going to Guam and the Philippine Islands aboard the United States army transport Vega. Announcement to this effect was made by Uncle Sam yesterday. In addition to carrying Christmas cheer to isolated Guam and its marine, naval and cable inhabitants, the Vega will also call in at Pearl Harbor and Cavite. All mail for these places must be in the San Francisco post office not later than November 20, according to the postal authorities.

As far as Guam is concerned, the Vega will give the only chance of getting the Christmas cheer letters and presents to the inhabitants. The island is off the usual run of steamers and transports, and is only called at about every three months except by trading schooners which are doing the lower islands in search of copra. There is a fairly large marine and naval guard, as well as provincial authorities, cable and wireless operators, teachers and traders, in addition to the native population. The island is under marine control.

CAPTAIN NELSON DIES.

Captain Francis Nelson, well known among the old-time skippers who made the San Francisco bay region their home port, died at his home in Petaluma last night. The body will be brought to San Francisco today or tomorrow for burial.

Captain Nelson was 77 years of age, and a native of Denmark. He started to sea when only a boy, shipping on windjammers. He gradually worked his way up to officer's rank, and when the Pacific Coast Steamship Company was formed joined that organization. He was in this service up to his retirement a few years ago, and had served as captain of a number of the company's vessels. During his many years of service in both foreign and coastwise sailing, Captain Nelson made many friends.

MOORE BIDS LOW.

The Moore Shipbuilding Company of Oakland was the low bidder on alterations and installations aboard the U. S. Shipping Board steamer President Wilson. The board asked for bids for installing accommodations for 240 steerage passengers. The Moore company bid $19,835 for the job, while the Bethlehem company, also local, bid $21,260. For the installation of steam and exhaust lines to the winches and for changes in the fire mains, the Moore company was again low bidder, offering to do the work for $3172. The Bethlehem company bid $3401. C. W. Smith company offered $4835, and Edward O'Donnell company bid $4184.

The repairs and changes will be made upon the return of the President Wilson from the Orient.

MORE LUMBER ARRIVES.

Among the arrivals at this port during the past twenty-four hours were the steamers Nome City, Saginaw and the barge Charles Nelson, with a total of 1,675,000 feet of lumber for the Sunset Lumber Company. The steamers West Notus, Howick Hall and the Lyons Maru, brought in 7000 tons of general cargo to be unloaded here, while the steam schooner Wellesley came in ballast from Redondo and went direct to the Moore Shipyard for a general overhauling.

BARKENTINE BACK IN SERVICE.

The barkentine James Tuft has been chartered by W. L. Comyn and Company to load 1,400,000 feet of lumber at a British Columbia port for Callao. She will leave this port in a few days. The James Tuft has been laid up here since June 27, 1921, when she arrived from Levuka with a cargo of copra. She is owned by the Charles Nelson Company.

LONGSHOREMEN GO BACK.

The longshoremen at Anacortes, who have been out on a strike since April, held a meeting last night and declared the strike off. District president D. Wilson, of Everett, who has been at Anacortes for several days, advised the members to call the strike off. The members of the union state that they will maintain their organization.

LIZZIE VANCE LATE.

The schooner Lizzie Vance, which sailed from Sydney, Australia, on September 1 for Tarawa to load copra for this port, has not been heard from since leaving Australia. It is thought that she has run into calms which is delaying her in making port. The Vance was purchased by Henry Posterheis, who is master of the vessel, and left this port for Coos Bay, where she loaded lumber for Australia. She was also long overdue on the voyage south.

CHANGE OF MASTERS.

Captain Daniel McDonald, schooner Alert.
Captain O. Phillipen, steamer Lansing.

Coast and Geodetic Survey Wants Help

The Coast and Geographic Survey wants the cooperation of mariners in building up accurate, comprehensive tidal current tables for the Pacific Coast. Results of using the tables issued by the survey, failures of the tables or inaccuracies and the general result of their working is wanted.

An accurate knowledge of all currents prevailing along the coast is also wanted. During the last year two more cargoes of codfish were wrecked because of lack of knowledge of the costal currents. According to the survey this knowledge would have prevented the greater part of these.

The costal currents are of two kinds, tidal currents, which are periodical and non-tidal ones, which are the product of the wind. It is the latter which are the greater menace to shipping.

Activity in River Steamer Building

There are at present under construction for private owners, 75 river and harbor steel boats in this country. While this by no means compares with the extremely busy conditions of a few years ago it is a good showing and indicates considerable activity in the small boat line.

Automobile Dealers File Incorporation

Articles of incorporation were today filed with the county clerk by the Woodard-Loomis Motor Car Company. The concern is capitalized at $20,000 with shares at $1 each and the directors are Oliver P. Woodward, J. J. Loomis and E. A. Woodward, all of Berkeley.

The M. and H. Piston Ring Company, incorporated in Nevada, today filed papers here. The concern has a capitalization of $100,000, shares at $1 each. The directors are John M. Chartz, A. McCharles, R. C. Savage, all of Carson City, Nevada.

Alaska Salmon Pack Shows Increase

The Alaska Salmon Pack for the season of 1922 is now all in port and totals 1,202,778 cases and 7580 barrels. Of this amount 4150 barrels of the salmon and 140,377 cases were unloaded in the warehouses at Oakland. This pack is larger than last year.

The pack put up by the Columbia rivers packers and Puget Sound packers who operate canneries in Alaska amounted to 1,017,695 cases.

The Alaska codfish pack of this season, which is not yet finished, is now 1,272,000 fish. Before the end of the year two more cargoes of codfish will be brought from the stations at Southwestern Alaska.

Government Has Four Transports for Sale

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—New bids for sale of the army transports Sheridan, Sherman, Buford and Crook will be asked by the war department soon, it was announced today. All offers received when the vessels were first offered for sale have been rejected as insufficient. It was said the transport Dix also will be sold by the shipping board.

Retail Trade Is Growing Brisker

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4. — Easier money and a more plentiful supply of it are giving tone to trade throughout this section.

After a long period of strict economy and close buying, people are now making purchases they have long had in mind. There is a brisk demand for clothing, household equipment and decorations.

The demand for motors, especially those of medium price, exceeds the supply in the hands of dealers.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

FOREIGN COAL CARGOES FILLING OAKLAND BUNKERS

Importations From Australia and Wales Break Record For That Freight Type.

Coal enough to represent the year's work of a fair-sized coal mine has been unloaded at the bunkers of the King Coal Company at the foot of Market street this past week. The work of piling the stone fuel ashore is still continuing as the United States Shipping Board steamer Vinita is alongside the pier discharging 6000 tons of coal. The Vinita arrived in port from Newcastle, New South Wales, several days ago, but owing to the fact that the British steamer Indian City was occupying the pier and discharging Cardiff coal from Wales, she had to lay by until the pier was clear. This happened yesterday and the Indian City was hardly out of the way before the American steamer had slipped into the berth.

All records for one week's coal importations by Oakland were broken during this past week. In addition to several small sailing vessels, three big freighters, the Canadian Skirmisher, the Indian City and the Vinita all arrived carrying coal cargoes. Their total cargoes amounted to 19,500 tons.

The greater part of this fuel is from Australia, although the largest cargo, that of 7000 tons, was brought in by the Indian City from Wales.

Notice to Mariners

Information has been received from the commandant of the Eleventh naval district at San Diego that a log, eighteen inches in diameter, floating vertically, almost submerged, has been reported close northward of San Diego bell buoy, at 9:35 a. m., Nov. 2.

S. P. Announces Cuts in Rates

Wide List of Articles Embraced in Schedule to Go into Effect Sunday.

Material reductions in transcontinental freight rates, ranging as high as 40 per cent and applying to shipments of various commodities from California, are announced by the Southern Pacific Company to become effective Sunday.

The new rates will apply to reed baskets, lawn mowers, grass catchers, mop handles, junk, lawn sprinklers, scrap paper, wrapping paper, straw, orange or grapefruit peel, cooked and uncooked cereal food preparations.

The reductions are as follows:

On reed baskets the new carload rates will be $2.55 to Cincinnati, $2.48 to Chicago and $2.40 to St. Louis.

Carload rates on lawn mowers and grass catchers from California will be reduced from $3.73½ to $1.95½ to New York; $3.58½ to $1.73 to Cincinnati; $3.45½ to $1.65 to Chicago; $3.05½ to $1.38 to Kansas City.

Less than carload rates on lawn sprinklers will be $2.18 to Cincinnati, $2.85 to Chicago and $2.63 to Kansas City and points west. At present the rates on lawn sprinklers is based on a class rate.

A reduced rate of 75c per 100 pounds will go into effect on shipments of scrap paper from California to Chicago and points west and $1.16 to Kansas City and points west.

On cooked cereal food preparations the new rates will range from $1.12 to Cincinnati to 92c to Colorado points. The rates on uncooked cereal food preparations will range from $1.05 to Cincinnati to 80c to Colorado points.

Berkeley Building Permits Are Heavy

BERKELEY, Nov. 3—According to the Weekly Business Summary issued by the Mercantile Trust Company of California, First Berkeley Branch, the outstanding features in the report from the building department are permits issued for the erection of flats on Virginia street, totaling more than $40,000. Total amount of building for the week, $113,999, alterations and repairs.

Bank clearings for the week ending November 4, 1922 were $3,404,955. The total for the corresponding week a year ago was $3,149,886.62 showing an increase of 7 per cent.

Realty men report business brisk. The sale of lots is greater this week than last. Inquiries for homes around $8,000 are numerous and sales have increased.

Lumber men report business very satisfactory.

Trade is active in all lines of manufacturing. Collections are normal.

Retail trade is holding up well. Since the beginning of the year, business has steadily increased. Many of the merchants have expanded and improved their stores, and all have striven to give the best possible service. As a result all lines report conditions far ahead of last year at this time. The future is reported to look bright.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—The cotton market had the most active opening in weeks today and advanced 1 to 35 points on first sales, new high records for the season being established. While there was a lack of new buying and trade purchasing there also was heavy selling by local operators and the south. The market absorbed offerings well and maintained its strength at the end of the first fifteen minutes.

Dividend No. 9 of $1.75 per share on the prior preferred stock and dividend No. 32 of $1.50 per share on the preferred stock of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation has been declared. The dividends are payable December 15, on stock of record November 30.

Standard Oil of New York has declared its regular quarterly dividend of $4 a share on its present stock of $100 par value. This will be paid on December 15, to stockholders of record November 24. The stock dividend, recently declared, will not be distributed in time to participate in this distribution.

Pittsburgh Steel—Declared regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock.

White Motors—Regular quarterly dividend of $1.

Union Natural Gas of Pittsburg has declared a 75 per cent stock dividend.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

ket was irregular with some of the leading stocks off subsequently, sales in the early trading were on the upside today. Steel common was off a fraction at 107⅛; while Studebaker's opening of 128½ was 1⅜ down. In a few trades Studebaker rallied above 129.

News developments continued favorable with weekly reviews on trade conditions reporting big movements of merchandise from manufacturing points. Strength of copper shares which have been lagging behind the rest of the list was one of the features, gain of 1 to 2½ points being recorded by Anaconda, Utah, Kennecot and Federal Mining and Smelting. Merchandising shares also were in good demand, associated dry goods breaking through to a new high record for the year and May department stores and Gimbel brothers making gains. Some improvement was noted in Standard Oil issues but Mexican petroleum was but slightly changed. Independent Steels were heavy. Crucible dropped 1½ points.

A sharp advance in copper company liens and renewed strength and activity of U. S. government issues was the outstanding developments in today's early bond dealings. Chile Copper 6s rose 2 points and the 7s 2¾, while Cerro De Pasco 8s improved 1½.

Liberties 4¼s advanced 20 cents on $100 and the gains in the 4¼ series ranged from 4 to 30 cents. The foreign bonds showed slight improvement.

In the main the tendency was upward during the afternoon, with industrials again coming into favor when buying of the railroads slackened. Standard Oil of New Jersey was quite feverish, dropping from 214¾ to 210, and then rebounding to its early high price.

Studebaker shook off its previous heaviness and moved up to 128¾. Improvements of 1 to 4¾ points were registered by Mexican Petroleum, Tidewater Oil, People's Gas, American Tobacco, Pierce Oil preferred, Mathison, American Car, American Sugar and Cuba Cane Sugar preferred. Intervals of heaviness was shown by Baldwin and American Locomotives, National Lead, Consolidated Gas, American Can, U. S. Alcohol, Texas, Gulf Sulphur, Pullman and Postum Cereals.

The New York curb market today was influenced by a disposition by important interests to assume a waiting policy until after election day, but there was no indication of weakness in any group, and the few important changes were materially higher prices. New Jersey zinc sold at 165. Standard Oil issues showed strength in the early trading, but became irregular later when some were under pressure, and their early gains were either reduced or lost. Imperial Oil of Canada moved up three points to 122, and then reacted to 118½, and Standard Oil of Indiana, after advancing 5s to 123½, reacted to 119. Standard Oil of New York held strong, making a gain of 7 points to 350, and Vacuum Oil was in demand during the afternoon, advancing from 670 to 686. The $25 par value issues were generally steady, Vacuum Oil moving up from 41½ to 42 while New York ranged from 48 ⅞ to 48, and New Jersey from 42⅝ to 43¼.

Independent oil stocks receded after the opening. Mammoth Oil selling down to 49½, and Gulf Oil, after advancing to 53⅞, reacted to 53. Seaboard Oil and Gas was fairly strong at around the high range. Recently established Southern States Oil was steady with sales at 17⅝ and 17⅞.

NEW TRUCK LINE FOR THIS SECTION.

A. C. and E. H. Foss, co-partners were authorized by the Railroad Commission to establish an automobile truck line for the transportation of milk and cream only between ranches located in the vicinity of San Leandro and San Lorenzo and creameries in Oakland and Berkeley.

PERMISSION FOR SPUR TRACKS GRANTED.

Pacific Electric Railway Company was granted permission by the Railroad Commission to construct a spur track at grade across Rialto avenue and "F" street in the city of San Bernardino. The Southern Pacific was authorized to construct a spur at grade across Santa Clara and Elder streets in the city of San Buenaventura.

INVESTMENT AUTHORITY GRANTED.

Authority to invest $1,165,240, proceeds from the sale of bonds, in the United States Government Treasury Certificates was granted the Southern California Edison Company in a supplemental order issued by the Railroad Commission today.

FARE SCHEDULE APPROVAL IS ASKED.

O. D. Hadley who claims to have been engaged in the transportation of persons and property prior to May 1, 1917, the effective date of the Auto Transportation Act, has asked the Railroad Commission to approve certain schedules of fares and rates and time tables he offers in connection with his operations. He wants to operate under the name of United Stages. Hadley says he has not been operating since 1918.

TRANSFER OF STAGE OPERATIVE RIGHT SOUGHT.

Harry M. Hunt, who is operating an auto stage service between Santa Paula and Ventura, asked the authority of the Railroad Commission to transfer his operative right to Packard Stages N. D. Inc.

PRISCO LIKES ORDER NEW EQUIPMENT.

An $8,000,000 purchase of freight and passenger engines and 50-ton all-steel coupler-bottom coal cars, has been contracted for by the St. Louis-San Francisco railway, the Frisco lines, according to Charles A. Forrest, general agent of the Pacific coast. The equipment contracted for includes 35 of the large mikado freight engines, 15 mountain type passenger engines, 1000 of the coal cars and 14 steel passenger coaches and chair cars. The company will shortly have completed nearly 100 miles of new double tracking.

Bids have also been asked for 1500 55-ton all-steel gondola coal cars, 1200 heavy steel underframe automobile box cars and 300 heavy steel underframe stock cars. Delivery of the locomotives will begin in November and the freight equipment will follow rapidly.

MEX PETE BONDS NOT TO BE CALLED.

In view of the probable liquidation of Mexican Petroleum it is thority that the company's 8 per cent sinking fund convertible bonds, of which $7,642,500 are outstanding, and which are redeemable at 107½, will not be called. The bonds are convertible into Pan-American B stock at $100 a share. The indenture provides for a reduction in the conversion price when there is an American stock. The exact price to which the conversion will be reduced is not ascertainable, because it is not known how much Mexican Petroleum common and preferred will be offered to exchange into Pan-American, but it is thought the price will be around $90 on the new Pan-American stock.

EARL FRUIT BONDS CALLED FOR REDEMPTION.

It is announced that the Earl Fruit Company will redeem on December 1 six of its outstanding first mortgage and collateral trust 7½ per cent serial gold bonds due December 1, 1924, at a price of 102½ and accrued interest. The following are the numbers of the bonds that have been called: 2, 4, 12, 31, 35 and 50.

The issue of $300,000 Multnomah county (Oregon) school district No. 1 bonds, with interest optional with the bidder, was awarded to a syndicate composed of Ladd & Tilton Bank of Portland, Ames Emerich & Co and Merchants' Loan and Trust Company for its bid of 100.04 per bond for the 4½s.

FEDERAL TELEGRAPH TO INCREASE STOCK.

The Federal Telegraph Company has asked the Railroad Commission for authority to issue 50,000 additional shares of capital stock, par value $10 a share.

The company proposes to issue the new stock to its present stockholders at the rate of $7.50 a share, on the basis of one share of the new for each five shares now held. The company proposes to increase its capital stock from 250,000 to 250,000 shares. The present issue represents half the proposed increase. The remaining half will be held in the company's treasury.

In case the stock is not entirely subscribed for by the stockholders, it will be underwritten by asyndicate, prepared to take any or all of the 50,000 shares at the rate of $7.50 a share.

Proceeds from the sale of the stock are to be used for the discharge of certain obligations totaling $205,000, resulting from the construction and completion of its facilities, for the discharge of outstanding accounts, payable and to the reimbursement of sums expended from income for capital purposes.

IRRIGATION BONDS GO TO MASON COMPANY.

J. R. Mason & Co. of San Francisco were successful bidders for the issue of $25,000 Naglee Burke irrigation district general obligation 6 per cent bonds, due 1938 and 1955. The award was made on a bid of $25,570 plus accrued interest. The Securities State Bank of San Jose with $25,517 was second bidder and the Bank of Italy thru with $25,470.

EAST LOOKING TO WEST FOR INDUSTRIAL FUTURE

The East is looking West for its industrial future. This is the opinion of L. M. MacDonald, Vice President of the Bank of Italy, who has just returned from a tour of Eastern trade centers including New York, Cleveland, Chicago and Detroit.

"Never before have I been so impressed with what lies ahead of us here on the Pacific oCast," said MacDonald in discussing the outstanding features of his trip. "Manufacturers of every sort are looking for industrial sites in California and already we have seen the advance guard of what promises to be a tremendous industrial expansion. The establishment in California of factories by such institutions as the General Electric Company, Durant and Star Motors Company and the Palm Olive Company are but an indication of what we may look forward to.

"I find that the large automobile manufacturers tire companies as well as packers and preservers of food products feel that the location of assembly plants and factories on the Pacific Coast is essential to their active participation in western business. One of the nation's largest tire manufacturers told me that they all appreciate the potential possibilities of California and are interested in obtaining their share of the business obtainable here when factories have once been started.

"People have been so accustomed to thinking of California as an agricultural state that it is with difficulty they appreciate the great industrial future now in the making. The last year however has tended to bring out this fact in the East although the full realization of its importance has not yet become current in many of our own communities."

ALAMEDA FARMS TO SUBDIVIDE LANDS

The Alameda Farms Company, controlled through stock ownership by the Alameda Sugar Company has been authorized by the State Realty Department to subdivide its 10.379 acre tract in Sutter county into 30 and 40 acre parcels."

EAST INTERESTED IN CALIFORNIA ELECTION.

How eastern capital is looking toward California during the next few days is expressed in a telegram from Cyrus Peirce, of Cyrus Peirce & Company, sent from the tion. The telegram reads as follows:

"In discussing the financial situation in California with many Chicago and New York banking houses, I have found everyone absolutely unwilling to consider further investment in California state or municipal bonds of any nature until after Tuesday's election.

"It is the unanimous opinion here that passage of the California Water and Power Act will immediately stop any further investments in California.

"All syndicates now being formed to purchase State of California bonds offered for sale on November 25, have prepared special withdrawal clauses providing that if the Power Bill passes, their bid is withdrawn.

Calumet Company Stock Expansion

CHICAGO, Nov. 4—The Calumet Baking Powder Company announced an expansion by which $6,000,000 in preferred stock and 250,000 shares of common stock of a par value of $10 each will be issued.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 4.—Textile manufacturers here are operating actively today but the costs of labor and of raw materials are advancing. Carpet mills have more orders on their books than they can fill and a price increase is predicted.

GRAPE GROWERS WILL LOSE OVER 7000 CARLOADS

Stanislaus Section Declares Railways Favor Fresno District.

Following charges that the northern San Joaquin valley is suffering from discrimination in distribution of refrigerator cars in favor of Fresno county, a special meeting of the Stanislaus County Board of Trade was held in Modesto last night at which resolutions condemning the alleged partiality were adopted and forwarded to the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads and to every civic organization in Stanislaus, San Joaquin, Merced and Madera counties.

During the last fourteen days, it was charged at the meeting, the Fresno district has received 1372 refrigerator cars from the Santa Fe Railroad, while 253 cars came to the Modesto district. During the same period, the Southern Pacific distributed 120 cars between Merced and Manteca, including Livingstone, Atwater, Turlock, Ripon Salida Manteca, Ceres, Keyes and Modesto.

It is estimated by viticultural experts that 7000 carloads of grapes in the San Joaquin valley will never reach market because of the car shortage.

The canned raisin, latest pack to be marketed by the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers in 8 ounce and 12 ounce air-tight sealed tins, is meeting with favor throughout the United States, according to the returns made to the association Only a limited tonnage will be marketed this year to determine how it will be accepted by the trade

For the first eight months of 1922 exports of raisins have amounted to four times as much as the entire year of 1921, they amounted to $4,500,000. The Sun-Maid Raisin Growers have established district offices in London, Birmingham, Manchester Glasgow, Amsterdam and Copenhagen.

Apples and cranberries ingredients of the fall festival and Thanksgiving seasonal menus have found a slightly better market according to the weekly fruit and vegetable review of the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics in Chicago today. Apple shipments declined for the week nearly half the total of the preceding week. New York and Michigan baldwins appearing in some markets at $3@3.50 a barrel, advancing 75 cents at shipping points Massachusetts and New Jersey, cranberries were quoted in leading markets at $5.50@6.50 a half barrel and barrels in Boston increased $3 to $11@12.

Irish potatoes were 20 to 30 cents higher a hundred pounds in Eastern consuming centers due to car shortage, while in Mid-western markets, round whites at Michigan Minnesota, and Wisconsin points were 5 to 10 cents lower.

Sweet potatoes were plentiful and markets weakened

Angele Johnson,

THIRTY YEARS OF MISERY

October 20, 1922.

Thirty Years of Misery From Blood Disorders.

During this long period I suffered untold agonies from painful eruptions due to impurities of the blood. I went from one doctor to another and spent my entire earnings year after year, and got no relief.

Finally I went to the Fong Wan Herb Co. and drank their herb tea. I began to improve immediately, and now, after only three months of the herb treatment, my system is thoroughly cleansed and my sores all gone. Out of gratitude for this marvelous relief after thirty years of despair, I am giving the Fong Wan Herb Specialist my photo and testimonial.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with serious maladys.

I also desire to be the means of guiding any one who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable herb specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurance experienced by a member of my family, I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation unless Dr Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete cure he will under no circumstances accept the case.

Very truly yours,

BUILDING WORK TO BE EXPEDITED BY NEW PLANS

Liason of Departments Proposed to Permit Instant Numbering of Houses.

Starting a movement for an inter-department liason, which is intended to mean quicker service to building and construction men Commissioner Frank Colbourn today asked the city treasurer to authorize the building department to collect fees and asked the street department to allow the instant numbering of new houses as soon as the permits are issued.

At present a man with an application for a building permit goes to the building department on the fifth floor of the city hall and makes his formal request. He is then told to go to the city treasurer's office, on the ninth floor, and pay the fees. The building department is open shortly after 8 a. m. The treasurer's office opens at 9 a. m.

Many a contractor, according to Colbourn, has been compelled to wait an hour or so in the city hall before he has been able to pay the fee.

"It's all wrong," says Colbourn. "A busy man wants quicker service. Now, if the building department is authorized to take the fee and give a stub receipt, this waste of time can be eliminated. In these days of fast building construction the saving of time would amount to a great deal."

Colbourn asked the opinion of City Treasurer H. J. Anderson for an opinion of the plan. Meantime Colbourn asked the street department for authority to give numbers instantly to all new buildings.

"The present description of a building," says Colbourn, "specifies something like 'Grove street, 100 feet north of Twentieth.' If the building were instantly numbered 2010, much confusion would be done away with."

Husband Jealous Of Violin, Charge

Because she was absent teaching the violin or playing the instrument in Sunday school, her husband would intimate that she was associating with other men and evidenced unreasoning jealousy, alleges Mrs. Gladys Guider, 522 Thirty-fifth street, in a divorce suit filed against Stephen Guider. On another occasion he declared she was a "menace to the family" because she had attended a "movie" show with a woman friend, she says. Guider states she was married on August 12, 1913, and separated March 1, 1921, and asks legal custody of two sons, Louis aged 5, and Robert, aged 3.

Last Ceremony Held For Dr. E. M. Keys

ALAMEDA, Nov. 4.—Funeral services were held this afternoon from the chapel of the California crematory for Dr. Ernest Melford Keys, one of the leading physicians of this city, who died suddenly at his home, 1725 San Jose avenue, late Thursday night.

Dr. Keys was prominent in fraternal as well as civic organizations in Alameda, and at one time served as a member of both the board of health and board of education. For the last twenty years he has been connected with the medical staff of the Southern Pacific railroad. He was a native of Iowa, 67 years of age.

Surviving him is a widow, Mrs. Jennie Keys, a daughter, Miss Frances Keys, and a son, Harold Keys now residing in Manila. A brother, Merton Keys, of New York City, also survives.

Police Scout Idea That Quist Slain by Fat Man

Chief August Vollmer, Berkeley.

Did you ever know a fat murderer?

Who killed Quist?

Was it a fat man?

The finger of suspicion points to a corpulent person. The accusation has raised a storm of protest among crime experts in the Eastbay cities.

District Attorney Ezra Decoto.

Perhaps "nobody loves a fat man." Maybe he is handicapped in hundred yard dashes and in the race of life. It is possible that he has to forego those delicacies that please his palate most. He has no place on the dance floor or under the steering wheel of a flivver.

But no crime expert in Alameda county can point to a single fat man or woman who has been convicted of murder. If you are built low to the ground with an underslung body and only two speeds ahead, you may reconcile yourself with the philosophy that you were constructed for endurance rather than for velocity.

District Attorney Decoto says:

"In my sixteen years of criminal prosecuting, I've never knon of a fat man being convicted of murder.

"There seems to be queer psychology about fat men. Take, for instance, a group of men at a restaurant where the check is to be made in one. The waiter, not knowing who is to pay, invariably will give it to the fattest man in the group for two reasons. One is that good nature lies with heft and heavy men generally have money.

Chief William Wahmuth of Alameda says:

"During my twenty-four years connection with the police department I cannot recall one instance of a man weighing more than 160 pounds who committed a murder.

"Not only murder, but crime of all description, is done by men of average weight. Murder is a crime of passion- anger. Fat men are not prone to indulge in this human vagary. Maybe it's a case of 'too fat to fight' or perhaps 'too fat to run' that constitutes peacemakers of the weighty."

Chief August Vollmer of Berkeley, past president of the international association of Chief's of Police and noted criminologist, says:

"In the consideration of 900 cases of murder, I find only 10 fat men. Th's would indicate that the percentage of fat murderers is very low indeed.

Chief James Drew, Oakland.

"The predominant type of murderer in the cases considered may be described as a person of medium weight, brown hair, blue eyes and between 5 feet 6 inches and 5 feet 9 inches tall. My figures how that 50 per cent of the 900 slayers boast blue eyes. Of course this would vary with the locality. Very likely black eyes would predominate among killers on the Mexican border, for instance. But in the Eastbay region the blue eyed assassin is in the majority."

Sheriff Barnett said:

"In all my career I have known of only one fat murderer. This fellow weighed over 200 pounds. But when I come to consider, that he was 6 feet 3 inches tall, of course it's evident that he could not have been very fat after all in proportion to his height.

"No, fat men do not commit murders. This is so nearly axiomatic that exceptions only prove the rule."

Chief James Drew, Oakland.

"I've never known of a fat murderer," said Chief James Drew of the Oakland department. "In all my police ice I can't recall a single slayer of excess tonnage.

"If you are fat and hanker for a career of crime—and a term in jail—why go to work as a 'con' man. Fat men make good swindlers. They are jovial, impress you with their stability, make you like 'em and then beat your game."

The Quist mystery begins tomorrow in the Sunday Tribune magazine.

Open Gas Cock Registers Death

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Suffocated by the fumes of illuminating gas, Mrs. Bridgett McCollum of 735 Thirty-sixth avenue, was killed today and her husband, James McCollum, a gardener in Golden Gate Park, was rendered unconscious and may not recover.

The couple were found by their son, Francis, a mail clerk. The younger McCollum works at night. When he opened the front door morning, he detected gas fumes. Hurrying to the bedroom of his parents, he found both unconscious From a bathroom adjoining the gas was escaping. The stop cock on a gas heater was partly turned on. A hasty investigation indicated that accident was responsible.

The aged couple were hurried to the park emergency hospital, where it was found that Mrs. McCollum was dead and her husband in a serious state.

S. P. APPLICATION TO RETAIN C. P. CONTROL FOUGHT

Counsel Union Pacific Asks Commission to Dismiss Application.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(By Associated Press.)—The application of the Southern Pacific railway to retain control of the Central Pacific notwithstanding the dissolution order by the Supreme Court, was opposed in arguments made before the Interstate Commerce Commission today by representatives of the Union Pacific system.

The commission's general hearings on the Southern Pacific proposals are to begin November 21, and today's argument was of a preliminary character, and was precipitated by a protest by the Union Pacific that the whole matter be dismissed without further action.

"You are asked in this application to exercise an extraordinary power," H.A. Scandrett, counsel for the Union Pacific, told the commission, "a power which in effect is that of nullifying decisions of the Supreme Court. You must be able to find this power conferred squarely upon your commission and find it located within the four corners of the interstate commerce act before you can attempt to use it."

"It is your position that the commission has not the power, and may not award temporary control of the Central Pacific to the Southern Pacific?" asked Commissioner Potter.

"I think you do not have the power," Scandrett replied. "But it is not necessary that you so decide in order to grant our request and dismiss the Southern Pacific's application."

Intemperance Is Charged by Wife

Claiming that her husband has been habitually intemperate for the last year and would come home and constantly quarrel with her, Mrs. Jewel M. Porter has filed divorce proceedings against Ernest W. Porter, proprietor of a cigar store and soft drink parlor at 486 Thirteenth street. The wife asks for a division of the community property consisting of the business, $1000 in bank, an automobile and household goods at 669 Fifty-eighth street. She also asks custody of a son, Ernest, aged 4, and $250 a month alimony, claiming her husband has an income of $500 a month.

Wife Unfit to Keep Girl, Says Franks

Bringing suit for divorce against Mrs. Henrietta Franks on statutory grounds and naming Chris Wright as co-respondent, Louis Franks today asks the court to grant him legal custody of two minor children, Otelia, aged 1, and Elouise, aged 2, alleging that the mother is not a fit and proper person to have the children. Franks gives October 22 and 26 as dates upon which he charges his wife accompanied Chris Wright to the American hotel Seventh and Pine streets.

Police 'Lizzies' To Court Fate At Auction Sale

Chief Arranges to Display Discarded Cars For Would-Be Purchasers.

Six powerful automobiles, beautiful thoroughbreds of the road, with smooth engines purring at high efficiency and plenty of space and convenience for happy owners, will be auctioned off to the highest bidder November 8 at the city hall garage.

The scene of the auction for those aristocrats has been shifted from the corporation yard to the police garage so that the populace can have the pleasure of looking 'em over and admiring their graceful lines, sleek appearance, glistening paint and splendid road qualities.

The cars include the 1913 and 1914 models discarded by the police department, as well as three machines known to fame as "lizzies."

Chief of Police James T. Drew has asked that notices of the sale be couched in language respectful to the aforesaid automobiles, as the money for the sale goes into the police department treasury and the treasury needs the money.

"They're good cars," says the chief, boosting for the auction-sale. "That is, they are fairly good. A man with a liking for mechanics could get a good deal of pleasure out of those cars. He could fix 'em up pretty well. One of those cars, a 1920 model, ought to be a pretty good buy at that. We expect to get quite a few dollars out of the sale."

Chief Drew requested that the people be notified of the coming event in language which will boost the value of the cars.

For Sale—At police garage, city hall, November 8: One stately 1913 touring car, one sublime 1914 touring car, one noble Bib Six touring car, one glorious "lizzie" roadster, and two superb "lizzie" touring cars. Machinery, paint, tires, springs and axles guaranteed to be in A-1 condition, more or less, and the blessing of the police department go with each purchase.

Children's Neglect Cause for Divorce

Charging that his wife, Anna E. Boerner, neglected their four children to such an extent, while he was in the hospital, that the Juvenile Court authorities took charge of the children and they are still wards of the court, Alfred J. Boerner, 617 Nineteenth street, was granted a divorce yesterday by Superior Judge Quinn.

Boerner charged that his wife called to see him but three times in the seven weeks he was in the hospital and that, upon his return to his home, he had to "throw her men friends out of the house."

The couple were married in San Francisco July 30, 1907, and separated April 15, 1918.

ARGONAUT FUND TO AID FAMILIES GROWS SLOWLY

Wives and Children of Victims of Mine Still Need Food, Clothing.

The committee in charge of the Oakland fund for the families of the Argonaut mine disaster victims announces that $2074.25 has been forwarded to date to the Red Cross at Jackson. "A Servant Girl" donated $2 to the fund today.

Harold Katschinsky is chairman of the committee. The money is used to buy food, warm clothing for the winter, and other necessities for the wives and children of the men who died in the burning and gas-filled mine.

Richmond Players Stage Old Play

RICHMOND, Nov. 4.—Members of Club Mendelssohn staged a one-act seventeenth century drama entitled "Ashes of Roses" at the meeting held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. C. Campbell, 213 West Richmond avenue. The little drama was well staged. Mrs. H. H. Turley directed the play, and Mrs. Paul Dunlap made the necessary explanation as a prelude. The cast of characters included: Kitty Olive, Mrs. W. R. Huston: Phyllis, Mrs. E. L. Schofield; Roxaine, Mrs. Ernest Parker; Horace Walpole, Mrs. M. Slosilo.

300 Students Hold Football Rally

RICHMOND, Nov. 4.—Richmond high held a big rally last night in Nicholl field preliminary to the game with Hitchcock Military academy this afternoon. More than 300 students and their friends clustered about the enormous bonfire in the middle of the field, singing songs and giving their yells. Last year Richmond's eleven suffered only one defeat during the season when Hitchcock Military academy turned the trick.

Policeman Takes Hint and Resigns

Thomas P. Carroll, member of the police department for about one year, tendered his resignation to Commissioner Frank Colbourn last night, effective immediately.

The resignation followed a chat with Colbourn, who had cited Carroll into his office as the result of charges that Carroll had been found intoxicated on duty. Colbourn says he advised Carroll to resign, and says that Carroll took the hint.

Rain Predicted Tonight Through Center of State

Weather conditions today were favorable for rain tonight and tomorrow from Central California northward, according to a forecast issued by the United States Weather Bureau. The forecast for Oakland and vicinity was: Tonight and Sunday, cloudy with showers, warmer tonight; gentle southerly winds.

Storm warnings were ordered displayed on the Washington and Oregon coasts, where rain, accompanied by strong southeasterly gales, were forecast.

Fair weather, with light westerly winds, was predicted for Southern California.

According to the weather bureau, a storm is moving southeastward from the North Pacific ocean and already has caused rain over the western portions of Washington and Oregon.

Conditions at sea were reported to consist of an overcast sky, warmer weather, a rougher sea and other conditions which are said to presage stormy weather.

SUIT FOR RING REVEALS BREAK IN ROMANCE

There is a broken romance and the alleged dishonesty of a lover behind a suit filed today by Miss La Rita Collins, a school teacher of Ogden, Utah, seeking recovery from Edward Herd of Oakland of a diamond ring valued at $700. Miss Collins declares she pawned the ring on July 26, last, so as to loan Herd $100. Then Miss Collins returned to her teaching in Ogden

Then the engagement between the two was broken, according to Attorney Preston Higgins who filed the suit, and Herd wrote to Miss Collins for the pledge card, promising to redeem the ring. The suit claims Herd redeemed the ring all right, but that he has refused to return it to Miss Collins, according to the suit. The ring is set with a diamond of 1.04 karats and is a family heirloom, it is claimed.

Arrest Nullifies Change of Venue

Although Herman Gerdes, of Fresno, was granted a change of venue to that city for the trial of a divorce suit brought against him by his wife, Christine Gerdes, yesterday afternoon, he did not leave for Fresno at the conclusion of the hearing. Instead, an Oakland police officer stepped up to him as he left Judge Koford's court, placed him under arrest and took him to the city prison on charges of failure to provide. Gerdes appeared in court in support of his motion for a transferal of the case to Fresno. The motion was granted over the protest of Attorney Joseph Fainer, representing Mrs. Gerdes.

GIRLS AS BANKERS HANDLE $16,000 OF SCHOOL FUNDS

Oakland High Financiers Carry All Accounts For Student Activities.

The Oakland high school bank, an active concern operated by the girl students, handled $16,000 during the last semester and carried all the accounts for school activities, according to the annual report of E. G. Gridley, the student body treasurer.

The high school bank is affiliated with a downtown bank, and the money is taken from the school daily and deposited in the vaults of the larger institution.

The Oakland high school bank is an old concern and two boys trained there are now occupying good positions in the city's banking circles. At present the institution is operated entirely by girls, including Fannie Rotke, cashier; Verna Medlin, auditor; Florence Stinson and Alice Champion, bookkeepers; Ruth Kulda, head of the savings department; Claire Kelly, Cafeteria accounts; Dorothy Des Marais, lockers, and Virginia Leather, accountant.

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 4. — The annual meeting of the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce for members and officials, will be held at the city hall Saturday night, November 9, it was announced today by Farley Granger, secretary. The meeting is called to complete the last fiscal year's business and outline work for the future. In addition, officers will be re-elected. Judge W. J. Gannon and Granger hold the offices of president and secretary respectively.

A special meeting at which it was intended to prepare plans for the coming year's activities and discuss a proposed membership drive, to have been held here this week, was postponed.

City Defendant in Injunction Suit

Stopped by the city from continuing the remodeling of a building at 2012 San Pablo avenue on the ground that they misrepresented it to be the construction of a the permit. Thomas J. Mathews the permit, Thomas J. Mathews and William J. Boyd have filed with the superior court a petition for an injunction to restrain further interference by the building department. The plaintiffs claim they obtained the building permit on September 25 and the work was seven-eighths completed when a squad of police stopped further operations on October 25.

"Were You Like That, Dear?"

This is what wives ask their husbands as the roots of maturity's traits; in Little Benny's Note Book." Somehow, the very human little documents seem to throw a new light on their men-folks' characteristics.

For, in the embryonic man can be found the roots of maturity's traits; in Little Benny's portrayal of the universal red-blooded boy can be found the explanation of many a man's tastes and idiosyncrasies.

That is why women love to read "Little Benny's Note Book" — their naturally maternal side delights in discovering, through the boy-pictures, those traits which their men-folks have never overgrown.

If you would better understand husband——father—brother—son—read "Little Benny's Note Book," which starts Monday in The OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

Gone Out of Business

THERE is an old Latin adage which says, "Caveat Emptor." Translated, it means, "Let the buyers beware."

It put the burden of seeing that one got his money's worth on the purchaser. It warned him to enter a shop with his eyes wide open, to have faith in no one, to keep his fingers crossed and then trust to Providence that he didn't lose his eye teeth in the bargain.

Advertising has put "Caveat Emptor" out of business.

Today, merchants and manufacturers can't afford to risk the disappointment and disapproval of a dissatisfied customer. It is too easy for the customer to pick up a paper and find plenty of other places where real dollar value is given and where they practice the modern slogan, "We strive to please."

The good will of the buying public is the goal of the modern seller. Without it, his business cannot succeed.

Every time he advertises he puts his good name in your hands. His products must make good. They must be as advertised.

It's a good business policy
